JACK RUBY'S BODY CLOSELY GUARDED

JACK RUBY'S BODY was being carefully guarded at a Chicago funeral home today after a funeral director revealed that he received an anonymous call from Dallas warning that there might be "trouble."

Rumors have been circulating that the Ruby family might attempt to bury him in secrecy to avoid sensation and publicity. But Earl Ruby said that, as previously announced, services would be held Friday, with burial in a family plot in Westlawn Cemetery.

JUSTICE DEPT. DROPS RED BAN FIGHT

THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT has conceded that the anti-Communist provision of the Medicare law is unconstitutional.

In a memorandum filed in the Supreme Court, Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall said the government would not appeal a Nov. 14 decision by a special three-judge federal court in Los Angeles barring enforcement of the provision and a requirement that applicants sign communist disclaimers.

TO TRAPPED CLIMBERS SAFE

TEN MOUNTAINEERS who tried but failed to ring in the New Year atop a 13,766-foot tower of granite in Wyoming's stormy Grand Tetons, then got trapped in a blizzard whipped by 50-mile-an-hour winds, have been found safe.

Two rangers found the men after radio contact as the climbers descended the mighty peak. The expedition which planned to celebrate New Year's at the summit of the mountain had not been heard from for eight days and were two days late in returning.

POWELL PLANS VIGOROUS FIGHT

REP. ADAM CLAYTON POWELL intends to make a vigorous fight against any efforts next week by fellow house Democrats to clip his wings.

The New York Congressman, accused by a House committee of questionable travel at public expense and of padding his congressional staffs, has let it be known that he would be on hand for Monday's caucus of House Democrats.

CAMDEN, N.J., TEACHERS OUT 'SICK'

TEACHER ATTENDANCE at Camden, N.J., schools was closely watched today as hundreds of teachers involved in a salary dispute with the board of education called in "sick" yesterday. Their absence forced a shutdown of four schools and a sharp curtailment in activities in 27 others.

School Superintendent Anthony R. Catrambone said 446 of the system's 834 teachers failed to report for classes. A total of 6,000 of the school system's 20,500 pupils were sent home for the day.

ROMNEY NAMES AIDE NOMINATION WORKER

GOV. GEORGE ROMNEY announced his top administrative aide and chief political adviser is resigning to work full time at Romney's "long, hard look" at running for the Presidency.

Romney said Walter D. DeVries, 37, would leave his $20,000-a-year job at the end of next week to join a staff which is adding up the pros and cons of a possible Romney campaign for the GOP Presidential nomination.

STOCK MARKET IN GOOD GAIN

THE STOCK MARKET Wednesday did an about-face in the final hour of trading and chalked up its second consecutive advance in moderate trading.

There was little in the way of fresh news developments and the list opened mixed, only to drift lower along a broad front. In the afternoon several blue chips began to meet scattered demand and during the final hour the tide turned. The Dow Jones Industrial Average closed up 4.73 at 791.14, the second gain in the two sessions of the new year.

VOLPE MULLS NEW JOB FOR MCCARTHY

GOVERNOR VOLPE was considering today announcement of the new job in state service that John J. McCarthy will fill. McCarthy resigned yesterday as Administration Commissioner.

Volpe said he had accepted McCarthy's resignation "with the deepest regret."

McCarthy was expected to be succeeded by Anthony DeFalco, one of Volpe's top assistants.

NEW TRIAL SOUGHT IN 'BUGGING' CASE

A MEMORANDUM opposing the Justice Department's request for a court examination of electronic "bugging" in the tax evasion conviction of a Warwick man has been filed in Circuit Court in Boston.

John A. Varone, counsel for Louis Tagliani, 64, opposed the government's motion and demanded "an unconditional new trial." Varone claims the conviction of his client cannot be preserved because the "forbidden fruit of its illegal 'bugging'" failed "to produce a sweet taste" for the government.

PRIEST PROTESTS WOBURN LAYOFFS

A JESUIT PRIEST has called on Massachusetts labor unions to boycott city jobs that will go to private contractors when more than 50 city laborers are fired.

Rev. Thomas M. Curran of Gloucester, a legal resident of Woburn, suggested that men called to take the place of the city workers meditate long and prayerfully before they "interfere with another man's life."

Mayor Edward F. Gill responded that a pay raise amounting to about $1,000 a year for each city worker was responsible for some of the layoffs.

RED CHINA DISSOLVES LABOR UNION

RED CHINA'S bitter Communist party struggle worsened Wednesday as pro-Mao Tse-tung officials dissolved a 20-million member labor union accused of anti-Mao policies.

The Peoples China Trade Union Federation was dissolved for allegedly opposing party chairman Mao for 17 years.

UNDERWORLD AIDS RECOVERY OF STOLEN ART

THE LONDON UNDERWORLD was being credited today with helping Scotland Yard and local police in the recovery of the Rembrandt, Rubens, Dou and Elsheimer paintings stolen New Year's Eve from the Dulwich College gallery.

The eight paintings worth $8.2 million were intact, although two were slightly damaged. The search intensified today for a thin man, possibly a woman in disguise, and a bearded beatnik, and police confirmed a number of suspects are being questioned.

SOVIETS TO STEP UP AID TO HANOI

THE SOVIET UNION will step up the flow of MIG2 jet fighters and surface-to-air missiles SAMs to Communists North Vietnam as part of its increased military assistance according to diplomatic reports.

More military and economic aid to the Hanoi regime during the coming year also has been pledged by Russia's East European allies, the reports said.

VATICAN PAPER RAPS CRITICISM OF CARDINAL

THE VATICAN CITY magazine Observatore Della Domenica said churchmen who attacked Cardinal Spelmann's stand on Vietnam served the cause of Hanoi rather than the cause of peace.

The magazine refrained from comment on the merits of the New York cardinal's Christmas sermons in Vietnam, in which he said "less than victory is conceivable." But it sharply rebuked Roman Catholic churchmen who took a public stand against the cardinal, touching off what the magazine said were "humiliating polemics."

1st Baby Has Daddy Bound For Vietnam

It's a Baby Queen for Newton for 1967, pert and pretty as a button.

Completely unaware of the significance of her timing, Baby Martha Mixson, six pounds, 13 3/4 ounces, arrived at Newton-Wellesley Hospital at 4:47 p.m. on Monday, January 2.

She thus became Newton's "First Baby for 1967" and winner of the annual contest sponsored by the Newton Graphic.

Her delighted parents are Lt. and Mrs. Peter Mixson of 62 Prince St., West Newton. The proud daddy will enjoy his new daughter, and first child, but briefly.

He is an artillery officer, a career Army man, and has sailing orders for Vietnam within the next 10 days.

In fact, he will have a short week-end pass from Fort Riley, Kansas, to enable him to be at the hospital to share parental joy with his wife, the former Joan Chase of West Newton, in their first born. The little family will be together for such a short time; the demands of war are harsh and unrelenting, even in the face of a new baby's tender appeal.

School Board Striving To Hold Budget Costs

Members of the Newton School Committee have been working quietly behind closed doors in an attempt to avert a tremendous increase in the operating school budget for this year.

They are hopeful that the budget will not rise more than $1.5 million over last year's figure of $13,573,174.

Such a boost would have an impact of nearly $5 on the city's tax rate, but the School Board members are confronted with a monumental task in preventing their budget from going well above the $15 million mark.

Built in increases in the school budget, which the School Committee cannot pare down, amount to almost $900,000.

That figure includes $690,000 which must be provided in that budget to cover salary increases which became effective last Sept. 1 and must be paid for a full 12 months this year as compared to only four months in 1966.

In addition, the cost of bus transportation this year as far as the budget is concerned will be nearly $200,000 greater than in 1966.

That actually does not represent a $200,000 increase in expense for the city since the pupils using the busses are paying higher fares. However, that income goes directly into the city treasury and is not reflected in the school budget.

If the School Board mem-

MARGARET M. HECKLER

Mrs. Heckler Sets Goal In New Congress

Congresswoman-elect Margaret M. Heckler, whose district includes Newton, will receive her oath and begin her congressional duties on Washington's Capitol Hill next Tuesday.

Mrs. Heckler, who today concludes four years of service as Governor's Councilor, is now winding up her legal affairs preliminary to starting for Washington and embarking on a new career.

She will give up her law practice to devote herself to being a full-time Congresswoman.

Congresswoman-elect Heckler yesterday reiterated her intention of providing modern and streamlined service for the residents of her congressional district.

She said she also plans to make regular reports to the people of her district on her

bers are to hold the rise in the operating school budget to $1.5 million, it will be necessary for them to trim about $1 million from the requests of department heads whose recommendations — if approved — would cause a $2.5 million increase in the budget.

Because of the built-in budget increase of almost $900,000 for this year, the School Board must limit new budget boosts for 1967 to only slightly more than $600,000 in order to achieve their objective.

This is the main reason the School Committee rejected a request by Newton school teachers for a $750-a-year across-the-board pay raise and countered by offering a $500 pay hike.

While representatives of the teachers have not accepted the $500 offer and have made it plain that they are not happy about it, the School Board members have shown no disposition so far to go above that figure.

Non-salaried items in the school budget, which Mayor Monte G. Basbas had requested be kept as low as possible, have been cut substantially below what was sought by school department heads.

A request for a pay raise by the school custodians was made at a close-door conference with the School Committee Tuesday night. The custodians are the only group of school employees engaged in collective bargaining.

Members of the School Committee probably will devote two more sessions to the 1967 operating school budget.

At their regular meeting next Monday night the School Board members are expected to review the entire budget, including requests for salary increases, creation of new positions and other proposed new expenditures, and reach a tentative decision on the various items at that time.

The budget in final form should be ready for adoption at a special session a week from next Monday night, Jan. 16.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

Bellotti Case Most Unusual To Develop From a Campaign

The highly publicized and controversial case involving Francis X. Bellotti's association with an Ohio-based insurance company represents perhaps the strangest incident ever to develop from the clash and combat of an election campaign.

State Police Lieutenant Detective Edward J. Schofield of West Roxbury, top investigator in the Attorney General's department, has been assigned to probe the case, with State troopers working under him.

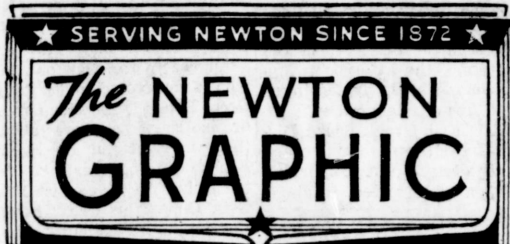

The case seemingly is headed for a Grand Jury hearing which from all indications will not be held until after Elliot L. Richardson, the man who defeated Bellotti in the November election, has assumed the office of Attorney General.

What is most unusual about this case is the series of events which brought it to its present stage.

Six days before the November election, Richardson raised an issue as to what services Bellotti had performed in return for $12,000 in insurance company fees he had received while he was Lieutenant Governor.

Richardson quoted from a sworn statement the insurance company had filed with the State Insurance Department. If the statement as to Bellotti's services were correct, it posed a question of a possible conflict of interest.

Sargent Is Speaker For Lincoln Dinner

Stimulated by recent election successes local Republicans are promoting the forthcoming Lincoln Day Dinner with increased enthusiasm.

The event takes place Wednesday evening, Feb. 15 at the Sidney Hill Country Club, Newton with a number of new faces joining the ranks of veteran Republican workers to make the dinner an outstanding one.

Republicans from neighboring communities of Brookline, Dedham, Wellesley, and Weston have again been invited to participate and are expected to attend in even greater numbers than heretofore.

A major political event of the area, the Annual Lincoln Day Dinner attracts considerable public attention and each year its program produces some political surprises of significance.

Its principal sponsors are the Newton Republican Club, the Newton Republican City Committee, Newton Women's Republican Club, and the Newton Young Republicans.

Rep. Theodore D. Mann, general chairman of this year's Dinner announced that Francis W. Sargent, newly elected Lieutenant Governor of the State, will be the main speaker and guest.

Thieves Swap Case Of Beer For $717 Cash

Three slick thieves took $717 cash from a Newton package store last Friday night, it was reported to police by Clerk John B. Curtis, of Arlington.

Curtis told police he was busy with customers at the Newton Highland Wine Shop, 16 Lincoln st., about 8 p.m. when three men entered.

One of the men went to a beer chest in another section of the store and came out with a case under his arm. Curtis said the man put the beer on a counter and before he could wait on him, the man and his two companions left, leaving the case behind.

Later, Curtis went to the chest and discovered why the trio didn't make the purchase. He found $717 missing from an unlocked file cabinet.

Meanwhile, police over the weekend arrested two men in breaking and entering cases. Albert Maloof, 50, of no known address, was arrested at Langley Food Shop on Langley rd., Newton Centre. He was arraigned in Newton district court Tuesday and held in $15,000 bail.

He was charged with illegal possession of a firearm, possession of burglary tools, and breaking and entering in the nighttime. His case was continued until Jan. 9.

Remedial Reading Program Entering Second Year Here

The Newton school department is about to enter its second year of a remedial reading program run with funds obtained under Title I of the 1965 Federal Education Act. Next summer, children will again be able to participate in special classes in subjects such as art and music as well as reading and arithmetic.

The remedial reading program under the federal grants began in January of last year at the Lincoln-Eliot and Emerson Schools under the direction of Donald T. Welch, Coordinator of Elementary Education for Newton schools.

Some 320 children received special attention in reading, as well as any guidance from social workers and psychologists necessary to overcome the emotional blocks that frequently are at the root of reading problems.

Between 40 and 50 parochial school children also benefited from the program, going to the Emerson and Lincoln-Eliot Schools near the end of their school day.

The 320-figure enrollment was maintained through the six-week summer course in 1966. The number of children involved in the special program was halved in 1966-67 when it became necessary to spread the $147,200 allotment over a full year.

During the school year the program has again been limited to remedial reading. A full-time librarian, whose salary comes largely from the federal grant, has been employed at the Lincoln-Eliot School to increase reading opportunities.

The Title I-sponsored program is conducted at present under the direction of William G. Blount, projects coordinator for the Newton school system.

The new rates, if approved by the committee and the full Board, would become effective on Mayor Basbas' signing the amendment to the ordinance. They would be as follows:

Fifty cents for the first 3/6 of a mile or less, and 10 cents for each added 1/6 of a mile or fraction thereof.

There will be no charge for the first 10 minutes of waiting time. After 10 minutes, there will be a charge of seven cents for each minute of waiting time, but the total charge shall not exceed $4 per hour.

In considering the recommendations, the Board recalled that the taxi business here has special problems, in that most trips made are one-way—a situation that is not met in other communities comparable to Newton. Also, it was stated that the cab owners are finding it more and more difficult to operate with profit, due in part to the increased insurance costs and the spiraling living costs.

McLaughlin In All-Star League For Basketball

William McLaughlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin T. McLaughlin, 225 Tremont St., Newton, a student at Newton Junior College, has been named to the Greater Boston All-Star League, which comprises nine colleges.

The 6 ft. 3 1/2 in., 185-pound forward, has averaged 28.7 points per game for Newton Junior College this season. He has a .469 field goal percentage and .567 at the free-throw line, and has scored 13 rebounds per game.

McLaughlin is the league's leading scorer. He and the other all-star players will compete with Quincy Junior College Jan. 13 before the Celtics - Chicago Bulls game at Boston Garden. He is a 1965 graduate of Our Lady's High School, where he lettered in basketball and baseball. He was twice elected to the Catholic Team for Baseball.

The all-star league members, in addition to Newton Junior College, are Quincy Junior College, New Hampshire College of Accounting and Commerce, Cambridge School, Bryant & Stratton, Calvin Coolidge, Cape Cod Community College, Emerson College and Burdett College.

Glass Fibers Harm Clothing

If you use a washing machine, keep fiberglass articles separate from other laundry such as clothing, towels and bedlinens, the Greater New York Safety Council suggests. Then, rinse the tub thoroughly afterward. The reason: tiny glass fibers may break off, cling to other fabrics, and then be transferred to the skin. Similarly, when sewing glass fabrics, or handling fiberglass insulation, protect the hands and arms and keep your hands away from face and eyes.

Brotherhood Breakfast To Honor Denmark

A tribute will be paid to Denmark by the Temple Reyim Brotherhood, Newton, at an Award Breakfast, Sunday, Jan. 15. The country is to be honored because of its courageous action during World War II on behalf of its Jewish population.

Ninety per cent of Danish Jewry was saved from Nazi persecution and none died of starvation in Nazi concentration camps. The attitude of the people was best expressed by Pastor Ivar Lange of Copenhagen in 1943 when he said, "I would rather die with a Jew than live with a Nazi."

The Danes did their best to protect the Jews and make their life a little easier. The sacred Torahs of the Copenhagen Synagogue were hidden in the steeple of a Lutheran Church and a Protestant Minister affixed a Mezuzah on the door post of his church in protest. Even King Christian and his family took an active part in the protest by wearing Star of David arm-bands as if they themselves were Jews.

The program will include talks by Nathan Seltzer, co-chairman and Brotherhood corresponding secretary, and Gilbert Salk, co-chairman and Brotherhood treasurer. H. deFine Nyboe, president of the Danish - American Society of Massachusetts and a native born Dane as well as vice president and general manager of the Sheraton-Plaza Hotel, will also speak. A choral group, the Mayflower Chorus, B'nai B'rith, and a dramatic narration will be followed by the presentation of the commemorative plaque. Boston's Danish Consul Norman von Rosenvinge will accept the plaque on behalf of the Danish Government.

work in Washington and her service there.

As one of only a handful of women members of Congress, the hard-working, attractive Mrs. Heckler will attract some nation-wide attention from the time she arrives at the capital.

She also will be known as the congresswoman who unseated the famed Joseph W. Martin.

William F. McDermott of Cohasset, who has served as Governor Volpe's executive aide for the past two years, will go to Washington to serve as chief administrative aide to Mrs. Heckler.

Qualifies As Clerk

A Newton resident has passed a civil service examination, qualifying for promotion to the post of senior clerk interviewer in the division of employment security. She is Faith M. Merritt of 42 Winchester St., Newton Highlands.

New Schedule At Lord Fox

Jim Nolan of the Lord Fox announces a new schedule for 1967. The Fox will be opened for luncheons and dinners on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, featuring the famous Lord Fox buffet and piano bar in the evening.

On Thursday, the fashion show will be held from 12 to 2 p.m., and there will be dancing every Saturday night. Brunch from 10 a.m. until noon is still a popular Sunday feature.

Due to the demand, Monday and Tuesday will be set aside for private functions; sales meetings, conventions, etc. The Lord Fox can handle up to 500 people on all occasions.

Award -

The ceremony will take place at the Temple, 45 Puddingstone Lane, Newton Centre, at 7:30 p.m. on the 22nd. The public is invited to attend.

Dr. Stone has established a distinguished record as director of the Center. Its importance to the community and its accomplishments and service are being recognized by the Temple Sisterhood and Brotherhood in making the award.

In September of 1965, the Newton Mental Health Center opened its doors and with this distinguished doctor at its head, became a most important unit of our community.

The Center evolved from the action for Mental Health for children in Newton, a unit of the Newton Mental Health Association, which is today headed by Dr. John S. Fielden, president of its board. Dr. Fielden is Dean of the Business School at Boston University.

Since its inception, over 300 children and their parents have passed through the Newton Mental Health Center, located at 398 Walnut St., Newtonville.

Its rapid growth indicates its vast importance and need. The Brotherhood and Sisterhood of Temple Beth Avodah recognize this and proudly presents the award.

Those co-ordinating the event are Rabbi Bernard L. Bloomstone; Melvin Fisher, president of Temple Beth Avodah; Arthur Hersh, Brotherhood president; Mrs. Herbert Goodman, Sisterhood president; Jason Tonkonogy, Brotherhood vice president in charge of programming; Mrs. Tonkonogy, Sisterhood vice president in charge of programming; Mrs. Geri Hackel, Sisterhood program co-chairman; Mrs. Alan Fain, Sisterhood program co-chairman, and Dr. Stanley Rosenzweig, Brotherhood program chairman.

Dr. Stone has been an instructor of psychiatry at Harvard University for the past seven years. He also is vice president of the New England Council of Child Psychiatry.

At Children's Hospital in Brookline, Dr. Stone is chief of the Children's Consultation Service. He received his training in child psychiatry at the Douglas A. Thoms Clinic for Children, in Boston, and now serves as a member of its staff.

William D. Bridge, 9 Stetson way, Waban, completed a successful season on the Dartmouth varsity cross-country squad. A 5 ft. 10 in. junior, he helped his teammates compile, with the freshman squad as well, an overall summary of 3-9-1. At Newton South High School, he captained the cross-county and indoor track teams.

Letters To Editor

Report Available

Thanks to The Newton Graphic's Dec. 22 article on "Parents, Teachers Split on Single Session" we learned of an interim report by the Special Study Committee under Dr. Knowles which gave pros and cons of the single session suggestion for elementary schools in Newton.

A progress report was to have been made to the School Board, but it was cancelled in favor of this written report as Dr. Knowles had to be out of town at the time of the expected meeting. These written reports were made public, yet we didn't know where to find one, and only recently learned that they may be had for the asking at the Stearns School, 265 Watertown St., Nonantum. Perhaps other citizens would be interested if this address were made known (it is not in the phone book). The School Board meets at this same Stearns School.

The apathy of parents has often been mentioned, but we agree with the recent letter to the editor from Mrs. L. Swanlund that more of us would have responded to the recent poll of parents if the price-tag of $300,000 on the single session program had been more realistic. After all, the children are not being half days added?

Critical Of Committee

Russell Briggs, in his letter of Dec. 15, hits the nail on the head. It is beginning to register on Newton citizens that the real source of power in the city is the School Committee not the Board of Aldermen or even the Mayor. It is this small but powerful group which exerts the major influence on our spiraling tax rate.

Mr. Briggs raises questions which the School Committee and all interested citizens would do well to ponder before handing a blank check to the educational hierarchy which seems more interested in personal advancement than providing solid educational content for all students. Does the controversial "continuous learning" experiment in one of our better junior high schools really produce results commensurate with its cost or is it actually "continuous loafing" as it is termed by its student participants?

The building program as well as the curriculum could stand some cool analytical investigation. For example, why can other school systems construct buildings more economically. (Let's see some comparative figures with other cities and towns as well as private schools.) Is it always necessary to tear down buildings 40 or 50 years old, or can they be remodeled and repaired as Harvard has been doing to some of its buildings which have stood nearly 200 years?

Definitely, we are in a period of rising costs and quality in education cannot be bought cheaply. These conditions should encourage more citizens like Mr. Briggs to take an active interest in the deliberations of the School Committee.

UNICEF Help By Press

Editor of The Graphic:

With our best wishes for 1967, it is a pleasure to report that 1966 has been a red letter year for support of the world's needy children by the American press.

By the time clippings about UNICEF passed the 30,000 mark we lost track of the grand total. Many more flowed into our offices during the end of December.

Thanking the publishers, editors, editorialists, staff writers, photographers and all other members of the vast journalistic family who contributed their time and talent to promoting a better understanding of the Nobel Peace Prize-winning United Nations Children's Fund has become a physical impossibility.

May the satisfaction of having earned the gratitude of millions of children and mothers be their well deserved reward.

Glad Hospital Christmas Thanks To Volunteers

Newton-Wellesley Hospital and the patients who remained there on Christmas Day were very much in the plans of numerous area families. Hospital Director William S. Brines of Wellesley reported today.

Over a dozen residents of Newton and Wellesley devoted a portion of their holiday to staffing various important services at the 250-bed hospital.

Adult volunteers delivered newspapers to patients, manned the reception desk, assisted in the Admitting office and served in the Emergency unit. Teen-aged volunteers helped on patient floors, delivering flowers, messages and nourishment to patients.

Bright and early on Christmas morning, Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus paid a visit to each of nearly 150 adult patients and a half-dozen children who were hospitalized.

Santa was a Wayland physician. Mrs. Santa was an anesthesiologist, who abruptly was called away to the operating room. A children's department nurse quickly donned the red suit and substituted for the absent doctor.

A turkey dinner, plus a red rose on each tray compliments of the hospital's trustees, were a midday highlight.

Mr. Brines commended personnel of the hospital, too. Despite a Christmas eve snowstorm and hazardous roads, the staff of nurses and assisting personnel reported as scheduled. A full complement of personnel was on hand to

Opaque Glass Is Subject Of Lecture To Club

Dr. Robert J. Charleston, distinguished keeper of Ceramic and Glass at the Victoria and Albert Museum, London, lectured on "English Opaque White Glass of the 18th Century" for the National Early American Glass Club at Park Street Church, yesterday, Wednesday, January 5th.

Dorothy - Lee of Wellesley Hills, formerly of Newton Centre, introduced the speaker.

She is president of the organization which has 49 chapters throughout the country. She recently visited the London museum.

Dr. Charleston is president of the Glass Circle in London, and is a committee member of the English Ceramic Circle. He is the author of numerous articles on pottery, porcelain and glass.

It was announced that beginning January 9th, Miss Jones will inaugurate a series of ten lectures, "American Glass — Twenty decades," at the Cambridge Center of Adult Education.

3000th Key Club Is Chartered

Each of Newton's public high schools, Newton High and Newton South High, has a Key Club, service organizations that perform the same function on campus as does Kiwanis in the adult community, and both the local clubs are sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Newton.

Robert M. Tennant, president of Newton Kiwanis, announces that the 3000th Key Club in the country was recently chartered at Bishop Kelly High School, Boise, Idaho.

Lee Loumos Says:

It seems quite clear that sports are the backbone of TV. In the early days of black and white TV, it was the lights, with an assist from Milton Beale, that gave the big impetus to TV sales. Today, our new channel 58, with its coverage of the Celtics' and Bruins' games, is the catalyst for sales of UHF TV sets and converters. Many of you may not realize that with the addition of a good UHF converter your old set can receive all the new channels. The conversion is so simple that anyone who can use a screwdriver can do it. We will be glad to advise you on the best converter and how to hook it up, and if you are all thumbs, we will be glad to do the hook-up for you.

Library Offers Information On Tax Matters

"In this world nothing is certain but death and taxes" is a time-worn phrase we have all heard repeatedly since Benjamin Franklin uttered it in 1789. Today taxes seem more certain than ever—a good reason why people should be wise about them.

The Newton Free Library has announced a new and valuable service it has to offer in the "Tax Coordinator." The Research Institute of America, through a staff of tax experts and CPA's, is responsible for the organization and analysis of the entire living tax law in the "Tax Coordinator," which it advertises as a "dynamic time-saving and profit-making tool."

Library patrons may take advantage of this invaluable reference source, available in the Reference Department of the Main Library at 414 Centre street. It contains five volumes, organized into 24 business-subject categories, providing the answers to many vexing tax problems.

In addition to the five volumes on all tax questions, there is another volume—"Tax Reports," which is designed to keep tax payers abreast of new tax developments.

Newton National Appoints Brown Asst. Cashier

A graduate of Watertown High School, Brown furthered his education by participating in evening classes at the American Institute of Banking.

His service career was with the U. S. Navy, where he was attached to the Naval Security Group, for two years in Germany and one year in Iceland. Following his discharge in 1961, he joined the Newton National Bank staff. He served as chairman of the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce special Service-men's Send-off Committee.

Mr. Brown is married to the former Gayle Huberman of Newton.

Beauty Salon Mu Mu Wrap

Customers who get their hair dyed and spend hours in the beauty salon soon will have a smarter than ordinary outfit to wear while getting the treatment. Instead of the conventional baggy, wrap-around smock many beauty shops are planning to wrap milady in style, according to one manufacturer of uniforms. The firm Work Wear, has just designed a mu-mu wrap for ILA's beauty salon in New York. The wrap has full and easy sleeves, a rounded neckline, and a hem that stops above the knees.

Massachusetts ranks third among the states in the production of apparel for women. The Bay State has more than 400 firms making women's, misses' and girls' wear.

The greatest variety of wire products made at any wire mill in the country is produced at Massachusetts' largest wire plant, located in Worcester.

CHRISTMAS JEWELS GIVEN TO YOU? A FLOATER POLICY OR YOU'LL BE BLUE!

"If you are one of those lucky people who received—or gave—jewelry this Christmas, here's a suggestion to help you enjoy it more," says Mrs. Dorothy Carroll, staff member of Newton's Alfred E. Fuller Insurance Agency. "Look into a low-cost floater policy that will reimburse you for the loss of a stone or for loss of value due to chipping or repairs—none of which are covered by the usual homeowners policy."

A long-time West Newton resident and mother of two Newton students, Mrs. Carroll brings a wide acquaintance with Newton residents' problems to her duties of expertly processing the necessary paperwork for Fuller customers.

If you would like to see if you can improve your insurance picture, Mrs. Carroll invites you to call or stop in at the office. You're always welcome.

The Sacred Heart Church in Newton Centre was the recent setting for the marriage of Miss Loretta Louise Wass to Henry Niles Kinne.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas M. Wass, 2nd, of 917 Commonwealth avenue, Newton, and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Heffel of Brookline are the couple's parents.

The Rev. Vincent Kelleher, S.J., performed the noon double-ring ceremony. The Highlands in Newton Centre was the scene of the reception.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore an empire gown of traditional antique satin. An orange blossom wreath was fastened with her short illusion veil. She carried her prayer book with a bouquet of carnations accented with ivy.

Miss Virginia Ellen Wass of Newton was her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Cheryl Balaconis of Brighton, Miss Catherine Neary of Brookline and Miss Barbara Mills of Milton. Young Linda Corbitt of Acton was flower girl.

John A. Wass of Newton, brother of the groom, served as best man. The ushers were Preston Heffel of Brookline, Francis White of West Roxbury and Michael Karagosian of Newton.

After an automobile trip to Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. Kinne are now at home at 195 Cypress street, Newton Centre.

The bride attended Cardinal Cushing College.

Mr. Kinne has served four years with the Air Force.

Elizabeth Wheelock, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank C. Wheelock, Jr., 103 Prince street, West Newton, a student at the Northampton School for Girls, left for Christmas vacation at home after taking part in the school's annual medieval banquet, in which she was one of eight Morris dancers.

Miss Elizabeth Shwachman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry Shwachman, 130 Lake avenue, Newton Centre, took her Christmas recess at home from Traphagen School of Fashion, New York City, where she is majoring in Clothing Construction and Design.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT H. MOBILIA

Robert Mobilia and Bride Living In Newtonville

Now making their home at 26 Kensington street, Newtonville, are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Joseph Mobilia (Judith Elaine Antonellis), whose marriage was solemnized recently at Our Lady Help of Christians Church, here.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis R. Antonellis of 11 Jenison street, Newtonville, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Mobilia of Waltham are the couple's parents.

The Rev. David G. Bonfiglio officiated at the 10 o'clock double-ring ceremony at which the bride and groom exchanged rings. The Meadows in Framingham was the setting for the reception.

Escorted by her father, the bride was attired in an empire gown fashioned of delicate satin. The empire bodice had a scalloped neckline and long sleeves. The A-line skirt, appliqued with Alencon lace had a detachable train.

Her triple-tiered imported French illusion veil was fastened to a double princess crown fashioned with seed pearls and crystals. She carried a cascade of white cymbidium orchids, stephanotis and roses.

Mrs. Patricia Ann Smith of Waltham, sister of the groom, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Brenda Antonellis, Miss Marieanne Trudo and Mrs. Grace Murray, all of Newton, as well as Miss Marion Santolucito of Waltham.

The bride's brother, Richard Louis Antonellis of Newtonville, served as best man. Ushering were James Antonellis, Robert Antonellis, and John Shorton, all of Newton, and Michael Lenza of Waltham.

Teachers Are Being Recruited For Military Personnel Children

Persons in this area who can meet the qualifications may be interested in the following announcement by J. William Belanger, director of the Massachusetts Division of Employment Security, relative to his agency's taking part again this year in the annual nation-wide drive to recruit teachers to staff overseas schools for children of U.S. military personnel for the 1967-68 school year.

Explains Belanger, "Schools are maintained by the Department of Defense wherever children of servicemen and civilian employees of the Department are found. A total of 310 schools is scattered throughout the Atlantic Pacific and European divisions of the school system. Elementary schools vary in size from 24 pupils in Florence, Belgium, to 3556 pupils in Worthsmitt, the Philippines. Secondary school enrollments vary from 69 in Sigonella, Italy, to 1400 in Okinawa.

"Applicants must have a bachelor's degree with 18 semester hours of professional teacher training, a teaching certificate and two years of teaching experience. Starting salary for a classroom teacher with a bachelor's degree is $5,505; a raise is anticipated for the 1967-1968 school year. Higher educational and experiential backgrounds bring corresponding higher salaries. In addition to the basic salary, housing is provided free or a housing allowance is paid. Transportation to and from the overseas station is provided without charge. In some areas, an additional allowance is paid to offset adverse local conditions."

Belanger said that any person in Massachusetts interested in employment as a teacher in the Department of Defense overseas schools may receive more information and a brochure describing the program and an application form by writing to the Division of Employment Security, Education Unit, 750 Park Square Building, Boston Massachusetts, 02110.

Newton Women May Obtain Vocational Scholarships

Scholarships covering room, board and tuition are available to Newton women between the ages of 35 and 55 for training in administrative Housekeeping and Food Supervision at the Hannah Harrison School of the YWCA in Washington, D.C., providing they can meet the requirements for admission. Immediate opportunities are available in the next class, which will start on February 15, 1967, and cover a period of five months.

This is an exceptional opportunity for qualified women who have to earn their own living but who lack specific training. Professional housekeeping for hotels, motels, hospitals, schools, etc., is a rapidly growing field offering a wide variety of positions to capable women.

Also offered at this unusual school is a twelve months course in Practical Nursing for women between 18 and 50 years of age. The next class in this course will start in September 1967.

Mrs. Williams Cochran, Director of the School, owns a home in Auburndale. Her husband, Dr. Williams Cochran, was a former orthopedic surgeon at Massachusetts General Hospital. Before coming to the School in August 1963, Mrs. Cochran was employed at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

The Hannah Harrison School was endowed by Mr. Julius Garfinkel, a Washington merchant, who left the major part of his estate to the YWCA of the District of Columbia to establish a living memorial to his mother, Hannah Harrison. In realizing that the working world was losing a great potential by not using the abilities of mature women who needed only the means and opportunity to learn, Mr. Garfinkel proved to be years ahead of his time.

Since 1950, the Hannah Harrison School has given this opportunity to over 700 women from 45 States. Many women who might not otherwise have had the opportunity are now contributing their talents and abilities to the public. And they, in turn, have found their own lives enriched and have gained the satisfaction of self-dependence.

General requirements for the Administrative Housekeeping and Food Supervision Course and the Practical Nursing Course, both of which are accredited, are a personal interview, aptitude tests, a thorough physical examination by a qualified physician, references, and evidence of need for earning a living. Also required are emotional stability, mental alertness, integrity, adaptability, steadiness of purpose, consideration for others, and a cooperative attitude.

The minimum educational requirement is two years of high school, or equivalent, with high school graduates being given preference in the Practical Nursing Course. Graduates of the Hannah Harrison School of Practical Nursing are qualified to take State Licensure examinations. Two classes are admitted each year in Administrative Housekeeping and Food Supervision, in February and September. One class is admitted each year in Practical Nursing, in September.

The only one of its kind, this residential vocational school for women is located on a seven-acre site near the Potomac River in the Northwest section of Washington. The lovely and modern air-conditioned building is beautifully furnished and well equipped. A recreation room, snack kitchen and laundry facilities are provided for the students,

Newton Women Part Of Church Women Anniversary Planning

Newton members of the Women's Scholarship Association are engaged in planning the 60th Anniversary Luncheon of the organization to be held on Wednesday, March 22nd at the Statler Hilton Hotel.

The luncheon, sole fund-raising effort of the group which is the largest of its kind in the country, will feature a musical revue, "A Time to Remember." By talented member, Mrs. Marvin Nelpris, it will be directed by Mrs. Harriet Wilson, well known director of the Boston area.

Members will take the roles in the musical which relates the history of the organization.

Among Newton committee and most unusual of all, each student has her own private air-conditioned bedroom.

The opportunity for training at the school carries with it certain responsibilities. Each student is expected to care for her own room, and share in house assignments, which include switchboard duty, dining room duties, and certain residence duties. Training for these duties is provided by the school. Assignments are carefully planned so that they do not interfere with classroom or study periods, and because they are on a sharing basis, they require relatively little of an individual student's free time.

Many opportunities are provided for recreation, including sightseeing trips, seasonal

Mrs. Jeffrey Wisnia, collegians, and Mrs. Harold Garber, jewels.

Luncheon chairmen are Mrs. David Kosowsky and Mrs. Alan Bufferd, also both of Newton. Mrs. Hyman Waldman, of Chestnut Hill, is president of the Association.

June Bridal For Miss Bolster, Mr. Horner

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon L. Bolster of New Gloucester and Bowerbank, Maine, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Janis Ruth Bolster, to William R. Horner Jr. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Horner of Newtonville and Washington, N. H.

Miss Bolster, a distinguished Maine scholar, is in her junior year at the University of Maine. Majoring in English, she plans to write.

A graduate of Newton High School, Mr. Horner is also a junior at the University of Maine. Having recently received an award for outstanding achievement in political philosophy, he is majoring in Political Science and expects to attend law school.

A June wedding is planned.

Toothpaste was first packaged in a metal tube in 1892 by Dr. Washington Sheffield, a Connecticut dentist.

parties, musical evenings, outdoor activities, and participating in YMCA and community events. Students are encouraged to take advantage of the cultural opportunities in the capital of the Nation and to explore as many means of self-improvement as time permits. The philosophy behind this unusual school includes the concept that the working woman today should not only be efficient in her job, but should also maintain her interest in continuing to grow as an individual.

Anyone wishing to apply for either course should write immediately to the Director, Hannah Harrison School, 4470 MacArthur Boulevard, N.W., Washington, D. C., 20007.

Church Women United Meeting On January 13

The annual meeting of the Newton Church Women United will be held on Friday, January 13th at the United Methodist Church of Newtonville.

Dean George W. Peck of Andover Newton Theological School will be the speaker. The meeting will be preceded by a luncheon at 12:30 p.m.

Church Women United is the new name to emphasize the fact that this is a movement for all church women, rather than an organized group of certain churches.

Winners Attend Losers' Lunch For Dieters

A luncheon for losers was held recently by the Diet Workshop and all the guests came out winners.

The losers were 34 staff members who during the past year have lost a combined total of 1209 pounds.

Mrs. Lois Lindauer, director of The Diet Workshop, was the featured speaker at the luncheon in Joyce Chen's Restaurant.

She is teaching those who are overweight how to lose safely, pleasantly and effectively, with a well-balanced nutritious diet which can be adopted to all social occasions, and to the demands of family meal preparation.

Adaptations of many favorite foods are included. Items such as pizza, ice cream, pancakes, chicken cacciatore and blintzes are enjoyed by dieters, and the pounds still come off.

The motto of the Diet Workshop (317 Washington street, Newton Corner) is: "There's nothing to lose but weight."

Army Engineers Set Hearings On Charles Riv. Valley Problems

With the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers three public hearings on the Charles River less than two weeks away, Charles River Watershed Association, Inc., is hard at work preparing its statement in time for the first hearing on Jan. 17 in Waltham.

The League of Women Voters Charles River Valley Group, representing Newton and Waltham and 14 other Leagues in the watershed, is also readying its testimony for the Corps hearings, as are other local interests, governmental agencies, and individual citizens.

Three separate hearings in the lower, middle, and upper section of the Charles River watershed have been scheduled as follows:

Jan. 17, Tuesday, 7:30 p.m. at Kennedy Memorial Junior High School, 644 Lexington St., Waltham.

Jan. 17, Tuesday, 7:30 p.m. at Wellesley Junior High School, Donizetti St., Wellesley. Accessible from Washington St. (Rte. 16) to Kingsbury St. RR bridge to Linden St. to Donizetti St.

Jan. 24, Tuesday, 7:30 p.m. at Franklin High School, Oak St., Franklin. Accessible from East Central St. (Rte. 140) to Main St. to Lincoln St. to Oak St.

On June 24, 1965, the New England Division of the Corps of Engineers was directed by Congress to make a five-year survey of the Charles River and its tributaries "with a view to determining the advisability of improvements in the interest of flood control, water supply, recreation, water quality control, navigation, tidal flood control, allied purposes, and related land resources."

The Corps states that this authorized investigation will inventory existing water resources and related land resources, determine future needs, and develop a plan to meet both the immediate future needs and longer range needs in the watershed.

Important considerations in the investigation will include occasional serious flooding in portions of Boston, Cambridge, and Brookline adjacent to the Charles River Basin and the Muddy River; less severe but significant flooding along the upper Charles River; pollution of the river and its tributaries; need for maintaining open lowland spaces in the interest of flood storage, flow regulation, recreation, and aesthetic values.

The effects of changes in land use over the entire watershed and the value of storage reservoirs in the headwaters of the Charles will be examined. In order that all interests and resources may be fully explored, additional specialized studies and data will be furnished to the Corps by co-operating Federal, State, and local agencies.

Tonight, Thursday, Jan. 5, the Charles River Watershed Association Board of Directors will approve its official statement for presentation at the Corps hearings. It is hoped that a number of Congressmen from this section of Massachusetts will be present to hear the citizens' view firsthand.

CRWA directors who have worked on the Association's statement are Richard J. Alexander, James A. True, Vincent N. Merrill, Peter W. Larson, Kenneth H. Wood, Mrs. Arno H. A. Heyn, and F. E. Whitmarsh, President.

In addition to the obvious desires for pollution abatement, improvement in water quality and supply, flood control, and low flow augmentation in dry seasons of the year — the Watershed Association's plea is expected to emphasize the need for planning for recreation; the need for effective administrative coordination of agencies responsible for the river and tributaries; the need for interim recommendations for acquisition of land in the watershed and for rights-in-land agreements before the end of the Corps' five-year study period.

Supplementary testimony for CRWA on local problems affecting the lower, middle, and upper watershed will be given at Waltham by Mr. Whitmarsh; at Wellesley by Mr. Alexander; and at Franklin by Mr. Wood.

Retreat Guild Plays Vital Role In Helping Patient

Hand in hand with the modern drugs and techniques, old fashioned New England neighborliness and personal concern is playing an important role in the care and rehabilitation of thousands of patients at the Brattleboro Retreat — the country's largest private mental hospital.

These warm and human ingredients are typified by the work of the Retreat Guild — an organization of housewives of the Vermont community and neighboring towns and a sprinkling of wives of the Retreat staff.

In addition to helping the patients, the guild is also performing an invaluable public education and information service in regard to mental illness and the results of its work have had an excellent community relations effect.

The guild, now 15 years old, was the first one ever formed at a private mental hospital. A group of staff wives and community ladies set it up and made a presentation to the Retreat's board of trustees who accepted the idea with enthusiasm and have since backed the guild's activities.

One of the most continuously successful programs has been the "clothing shop" set up in the Guild Room used for the volunteers' meetings and the guild-sponsored patient activities. Good, attractive, wearable clothes donated to and collected by the Guild are put into tip-top shape and are displayed on clothing racks with size tags replacing price tags. Patients then come in and "shop" and members of the guild serve as "saleswomen." This one activity, alone, is a great morale and activity builder and "shopping days" are looked forward to with great eagerness by the patients.

Guild members fondly recall the story of a shopper who was examining ladies' clothes when she exclaimed: "I know whose dress that was. I was with her when she bought it." And the patient was right. That dress brought two old friends — the patient and a guild volunteer — together again after many years.

Other guild activities include discussion groups on politics, integration, international affairs, and also the gamut from ward parties, a garden club, style shows, charm schools, holiday favors for the wards, a United Nations pageant, wedding gown reviews, hobby and talent shows to study and creative writing groups and a Christmas gift shop where donated gifts are selected by the patients to give each other.

Mrs. Virginia Boyden, Retreat activities coordinator stresses the fine therapeutic benefits of the activities. In commenting on the clothing she notes that the need for clothes is not the paramount consideration. Rather it is the opportunity the activity presents to shop, select and socialize with each other and the volunteers. She also notes that there is usually a change in weight of patients so the shop also fulfills a practical need in the lives of the patients which they themselves can do something about.

MEMBER DRIVE AT HALF-WAY MARK—More than 200 new members have already joined the Friends of Boston Association for Retarded Children during the month of December in the drive now underway. It is under the chairmanship of, left to right, Mrs. Shepard Sumner, Mrs. David Kaplan and Mrs. Burton Derby, all of Newton. Total membership now surpasses 2,000.

The clothing store is actually a national activity with donations being received from California, Illinois, Washington, D.C., New Jersey, New York, 48 communities in Vermont and 58 communities in the other New England States. Boston and its suburbs rank high among communities in Massachusetts which donate to the guild.

The guild and its varied activities reflect the philosophy of the Retreat's staff and its board of directors of "living in and with" the community. The recreational and occupational therapy departments are constantly engaged in activities which bring patient and community member together. The Retreat itself conducts tours of the hospital for members of the community. The library fosters discussion groups which are often chaired by members of the community. Current programs at the library include study of the religions of man.

The patient's activities in art, music, athletics, dramatics, writing, literature, special study and just plain sociability are all interwoven into mutual activities with the residents of Brattleboro.

What has all this community contact in and outside of the Retreat meant to the patient in terms of treatment and recovery? Here is the opinion of Superintendent J. Butler Tompkins: "The work of the guild and of our occupational and recreational therapy departments in bringing our patients into personal contact with the townspeople has been most beneficial. It means to the patients that they are not entirely dependent upon Retreat personnel and this realization that other people are interested in them has been most salutary. We are most grateful to the people of Brattleboro and the surrounding communities who have opened their hearts and minds and homes to our patients in a most refreshing and warming demonstration of personal concern, and sincere friendliness."

The townspeople themselves credit a great part of the success of the guild and the other hospital — community programs to the quickly recognized dedication of the Retreat staff, their wives and their husbands.

"These people are following a real calling," says a Brattleboro resident commenting upon the Retreat staff. "You can't help but join in with them," she adds. "And those patients are fine people and to be able to help them makes all of us feel a little better and learn a lot about a problem which we may be encountering in our own homes any day."

How well the volunteer work has succeeded is summed up by a letter from a former patient at the Retreat who wrote the guild:

"I have, during the years I have been away from Vermont been thankful to the guild ladies for your generosity and kindness ... I miss you all very much ... You ministered with kindness and understanding. There can be no higher tribute than that."

Earl Stein, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stein, 178 Cabot St., Newton, a cadet Major in the University of Maine ROTC, is the outfit's supply and logistics officer. Because of his leadership ability, the job of keeping supplies in the right places at the right time was delegated to him.

Elliot S. Marks of 47 Broken Tree Rd., Newton Centre, a student at the American University, Washington, D.C., won first place in the university's second annual inter-sectional public speaking contest. A sophomore government major, he spoke on "The Warren Commission Report: Valid or Invalid?"

St. Sebastian's Shut-Out By Hosts In Ice Tourney

After battling into the finals, the St. Sebastian Country Day School hockey sextet was blanked, 5-0, last Thursday night in the Northwood Invitational Tournament at Lake Placid, N.Y., which was won by the host team.

It was the first time in 55 games that the Newton team failed to score a goal. Milton, in 1964, was the last team to whitewash the Arrows 2-0.

Last year the same two teams battled down to the wire with Northwood edging the Arrows, 5-4. Ironically, it was a Newton youth, Bob Toomey, who scored the winning goal for Northwood in the third period.

It was Northwood all the way as they out-skated and out-shot the Newton boys. Pointing up the display was the fact that Mark Donahue, of Winchester, recorded 31 saves in the Arrow net, while Northwood goalie, Tom Connors, only had to make 16 stops.

The big gun for Northwood was Defenseman Bob Moran who scored three goals and assisted on another.

After a scoreless first period, the hosts struck for three quick tallies in the first six minutes of the second period. Moran lit the lamp at 8:05 on a pass from John Fox. Moran made it 2-0 at 13:07 with Tom Mellor assisting. Mellor then completed the second period scoring with a goal at 14:20. Fox and Tim McAdam assisted.

Moran scored at 2:50 of the final period with Glen Eramo assisting.

The loss gave St. Sebastian's a 4-2 season record.

The Arrows got into the finals by defeating Albany Academy, 5-2, Wednesday night on the strength of three third period goals. Sporting a 2-1 lead in the second period on goals by Jerry Downes, of Winchester, and Mike Ready, of Belmont, the Arrows lit the lamp three times in the final 15 minutes. Pete Cohn, of Waltham, Andy Rappoli and Bob Bianchi, of Belmont scored the goals.

Meanwhile, the Arrow basketball team continued its losing ways, dropping a Wednesday (Dec. 28) game to Dorchester high school, 78-48. The St. Sebastian group just couldn't cope with the superior height of the Dorchester boys.

David Foley, of Newton, with 12 markers, and Jack Murphy, of Medford, with 11, were the only double figure scorers for the Arrows.

Hoop Team Loses As . . .

Newton South's Hockey Team Splits Pair 3-0, 7-1

By RAY KWASNICK

Newton South's hockey team split its two games last week and slipped into a second place tie with Lynnfield. The Lions were upended for the first time by first place Marian, 3-0. Last place Westwood fell before South's powerful attack, 7-1. Tonight Lynnfield will face off against the Lions at Loring Arena at 5:15 in a battle for sole possession of second place.

In the Marian game the Mustangs' obvious superiority was nearly made up by South's aggressive hustle and spirited play. Impressive checking and great defense keyed the game.

Marian's first goal came at 2:28 of the opening period. Dave McKay put the puck past goalie Dave Roberts after Roberts had made the initial save on a shot by Rick Allen. Roberts made five saves while South could only muster one shot on the Marian goal.

The second stanza was much the same as Roberts made 14 saves to only 2 for the Mustang netminder. Marian scored again when they were down a man. Larry Glynn took the puck, cruised in all alone and cleanly beat Roberts.

The final period was a donnybrook. Both squads were really flying as the puck moved up and down the rink. The third Marian score came off the stick of Rick Allen at 3:50. The Mustangs again out-shot the Lions 11-7.

The real action came at 7:30 of the period. South's Tom Rezzuti and Marian's Gately squared off near the Marian goal. Tempers flared and sticks and gloves were strewn over the ice. Both Rezzuti and Gately were given major penalties and were suspended leads the team with a total of nine for the season.

Coach Jesdale emptied his bench in the third period of this game. The subs shutout Westwood besides adding two more goals to South's winning total. Back-up goalie Dave Singer wasn't suited up for the game. He was recovering from an operation on his knee.

South cagers lost their third game in a row to Brookline 55-50. The pattern of this contest resembled that of the Lions' other two losses, as South held the lead throughout most of the game only to drop the decision in the final stanza.

Fouls proved fatal to the Lions' cause. Brookline was awarded 38 free shots to South's 20. The Brookline five converted this advantage to a win by hitting 25 times from the line while South only hit eight. South held a 21-15 edge on field goals.

The Lion squad took a two point lead at the end of the first period and hung on to it throughout the half, 28-26, and third quarter, 39-37. Brookline took command in the last period and, by outscoring South 18-11, won 55-50.

Mike Forbes with 16 points and Joe Mahoney with 10 led Brookline in scoring. The Lions had 3 players in double figures: Bob Whittlesey, Rick Ginsburg, and Steve Cooper with 13, 12, and 10 points respectively. The importance of the foul gap is apparent in the fact that Forbes got 10 of his 16 points from the free throw line.

Brookline suffered the loss of Captain Steve Rubin in the early stages of the game. He fell and his chin was slashed. Eight stitches were needed to close the cut.

Robert Francis Walker, 28 Rice street, Newton Centre, was awarded an MS advanced degree by the University of Massachusetts.

Richard E. Bolton of 70 Halcyon Rd., Newton Centre, has been elected treasurer of the Watertown Savings Bank, according to the announcement by Charles W. Chamberlain, president. Mr. Bolton assumed his new duties on January 3.

Mr. Bolton succeeds Russell W. Monto, 66 Halcyon Rd., Newton Centre, who retired Nov. 10, after serving 18 years with the bank, 12 of them as treasurer. Prior to joining the Watertown Savings in 1948, Mr. Monto served as assistant treasurer of the Brighton Five Cents Savings Bank.

Mr. Bolton, before his election as treasurer, was auditor of the Watertown Savings Bank, a position he held since 1959 when he first joined the bank. While auditor, he played a major role in setting up the Watertown Savings Bank's new on-line deposit system.

Fat Man Easy To Put Up With

CHICAGO (UPI) — The stereotype of the fat man as jolly and good-humored holds true—and he's also an easy-going conformist as a boss, according to Chicago restaurant man Bob Bihari.

Bihari, who's made a study of businessmen's eating habits, thinks you usually can tell the personality of a businessman by his shape.

He said the lithe, thin man is apt to be "aggressive, ambitious and hard-driving" with an ego "as big as his eating habits are small."

And the moderately-shaped businessman makes a good boss, said the average weight Bihari. Such a man, he said, reflects his reasonable profile in a "reasonable attitude towards his work and towards those who work for him."

Deadline Near For Summer Job Applying

Students and other young people who would like to apply for temporary summer jobs under the Civil Service Commission's Office and Science Assistant program must file their applications by Jan. 9.

Senator Edward M. Kennedy noted that this is the final filing date for 1967. Every one who files by this date and who qualifies under the program's standards will be eligible to take the nationwide competitive examination to be held on Feb. 4.

Application forms for the examination can be obtained from college placement offices, post offices in some cities, Interagency Boards of Examiners now located in larger metropolitan areas, other Boards of Examiners in Federal agencies, and from the U. S. Civil Service Commission.

The jobs are located in Federal agencies and installations throughout the United States, including the Washington, D. C., metropolitan area.

Most of these summer jobs result from the need for the temporary replacement of permanent employees on vacation or for work on short-term agency projects. The total number of summer jobs is relatively small, and the needs vary from one geographic area to another.

Chances for employment depend on several factors: (1) the number of jobs to be filled in the applicant's area; (2) the number of persons in that area competing for the same job; and, (3) the applicant's score on the written test.

'No Evidence' Local Pupils In Drug Case

Months of investigation by Newton and Brookline police resulted last week in the arrest of two Newton youths, a 17-year-old Brookline girl and a Brookline juvenile in connection with the supplying of marijuana to high school students.

Richard P. Charnes, 20, of 89 Dorcor road, a student at Newton Junior College, and Howard Cubell, 18, of 85 Stuart road, a student at the University of Michigan, pleaded innocent in Newton district court last Wednesday to charges of illegal possession and selling marijuana. They were released in $1000 bail each and their case was continued until Jan. 6.

The pair, along with the Brookline girl and the juvenile, appeared earlier Wednesday in Brookline district court where their bail was set at $2000.

Police said the quartet had been supplying high school students with the weed, but Newton Police Capt. William F. Quinn said "no evidence has been uncovered that would involve Newton students."

Newton Police Sgt. William Nally and Dets. Frank DeVito and Manley J. Killey worked with Brookline police and in-the Office and Science Assistant examination are made to office jobs—typists, office machine operators, stenographers, clerks—than to any other single type of job. But there are many other types of jobs available, among them biological technician, medical technician, library assistant, mathematics assistant, editorial assistant, engineering drafting, meteorological technician, dental assistant and others.

Church Shared By Two Faiths
THE HAGUE, Holland (UPI) — Christian together-ness in Holland will take the form of a church at Leeuwarden, a provincial capital in the north of the country, which will be shared by Catholics and Protestants.

The project, unique in this country, was announced by Catholic Rev. M. J. Vijverberg and Rev. L. G. Wagenaar of the Dutch Reformed Church. They said the partnership in putting up the new church was "both ecumenical and economical" since neither congregation had enough money to erect a new edifice on its own. Services will be separate and so will most church activities.

Future Of Newton Corner Discussed At Conference

City and State agencies were represented at the first Newton Corner Coordinating Conference called by Mayor Monte G. Basbas recently.

Mayor Basbas outlined the reasons which prompted such a coordinated effort and which tied in the future of the City of Newton and the Newton Corner area.

The fact that the Newton Corner area of the City has undergone considerable transformation over the past five years as well as many other changes within the City and the metropolitan area as a whole, indicates that further development and redevelopment will take place in the future.

Because it is important that all these projected activities be coordinated into a meaningful whole for the Corner and for the City, it is important to bring all the various interests together for an exploratory discussion and interchange of ideas.

The end results of such meetings would be the establishment of a direction and a role which the City government might take to benefit Newton Corner as a significant area of the community, and to assist in coordinating the planning of the Corner.

Representing City of Newton agencies were the following:

Alderman Franklin N. Flaschner, chairman of the Aldermanic Planning Committee; Alderman Jack Roberts, chairman of the Aldermanic Street Traffic Committee; J. Howard Loughman, chairman of the Newton Planning Board; Willard S. Pratt, director of Public Works; James A. Miller, City Planning Director; and Charles E. Downe, City Planning Consultant.

Mass. Bay Transit Authority was represented by Donald M. Graham, manager of Facilities Planning; and Robert S. Korach, manager of Operations Planning.

Representing the Metropolitan Area Planning Council were Rev. W. Seavey Joyce, S.J., chairman; and Robert G. Davidson, executive director.

Former Newton Mayor and present MDC Commissioner Howard Whitmore Jr. represented the Metropolitan District Commission.

Chairman Mario DiCarlo, Executive Director Kenneth Salk and Earle Stevenson represented the Newton Redevelopment Authority.

The Mass Turnpike Authority was represented by John McHugh.

Paul E. Conrad and Herbert Levinson of the firm of Wilbur Smith and Associates, Traffic Consultants to the City of Newton, also were in attendance.

Dr. White Will Be Speaker For Hadassah Event

Dr. Paul Dudley White, eminent cardiologist, and Manheim S. Shapiro, noted sociologist, will speak on two of Hadassah's major concerns at a special Boston Chapter open meeting, Wednesday evening, Jan. 11, at 8 o'clock, at the Temple Israel Meeting House on the Riverway.

The public is invited to attend and Hadassah members are urged to bring husbands and friends.

Dr. White recently made his third visit to the Hadassah-Hebrew University Medical Center in Jerusalem. He is interested in the heart disease research and the work at the cardiology unit endowed in his name by his patients and friends. A legend in his own time, Dr. White's concern for mankind has brought him to the four corners of the earth on all sides of "all curtains."

"Jewish Youth and Adult Responsibility" is the subject of Mr. Shapiro's talk. He has served as special consultant on human rights to the U. S. State Department and as Director of the American Jewish Committee Community Affairs Department.

His education spans Universities and Yeshivas and his particular study is Jewish youth in relation to the Jewish and non-Jewish world with the accompanying problems of identification.

According to Mrs. Harry N. Gorin, Chapter Medical Center Chairman, scrolls displayed at this meeting will highlight the names of local benefactors to the Medical Center Building and Equipment Fund. Mrs. Arthur Zanditon will preside.

Dog's Bark Leads To Man's Arrest

If a 24-year-old Dorchester man ever thought a dog was man's best friend he must now number one dog his worst enemy.

Would you believe that a dog's bark led police to put the bite on Gerald Burns and arrest him on two counts of breaking and entering in the nighttime and possession of burglary tools?

Well, it did, and Burns was arraigned in Newton district court Tuesday and held in $5000 as a result of it.

Heidi, a smart Weimaraner owned by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Flannery, of 853 Washington st., Newtonville, awakened Flannery early Sunday by barking. Later, while he was walking the dog behind Gath's Restaurant on Washington st., where he is employed, Flannery spotted a suspicious car and summoned police.

Judge Julian Yesley continued Burns' case until Jan. 9.

Expert On Russia To Be Speaker

Colette Shulman, former United Press correspondent in Russia and an authority on Russian life and language, will speak at Lasell Junior College, Auburndale, Wednesday evening, January 11, seven-thirty. "A Look at Soviet Young People" is the subject of Mrs. Shulman's lecture.

Mrs. Shulman is the wife of Marshall Shulman, Research Associate in the Russian Research Center, Harvard University. She and her husband have recently returned from three months in Europe. Two of these months were passed behind the Iron Curtain, one of the two being spent in Moscow. Five days before leaving Moscow, Marshall Shulman was attacked in the Russian press as an American agent. This was reported in the Boston and other U.S. papers at the time.

Mrs. Shulman is known to many for a weekly TV program on Boston's Channel 2, "Soviet Press", a report on Russian newspaper accounts of the daily life of the Russian people.

Health Dept. Gives Advice On Inoculations

The Health Department of the City of Newton wishes all a Happy New Year, and a healthy one, and reminds that measles comes in the spring.

The time to make sure each of your children—from baby to teenager—has been immunized is now, the department advises. Immunity comes either from an actual attack of measles or from the new measles vaccine. It does not come from gamma globulin, which only gives a few weeks of protection. So children who have had gamma globulin and not had measles afterwards do need, the measles vaccine.

While thinking about immunization, the department adds, please see that all the family are "up to date" on diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, smallpox, and polio protection. Early in January, children will bring home from school a letter listing the recommended time between boosters for each immunization.

If you need boosters or inoculations of any kind, your family doctor or pediatrician will be happy to help you. If for some reason you cannot arrange with him for inoculations for your children, arrangements can be made with the school physician. For preschool children who may attend the Visiting Nurses Association or Health Department's preschool clinic, it is only necessary to call the Health Department for an appointment with your area clinic.

Newton High Basketeers Lose To Weymouth, 69-60

By JOE GORIN

Newton High's basketball team lost its first decision to the season last Friday to powerful Weymouth, 69-60.

Weymouth, which is being touted as the best team in the Suburban League, had to go through many anxious moments before they could pull out the victory over the stubborn Tigers. Newton led by one point going into the fourth quarter and had been out in front by as many as five.

The Maroon effort was spearheaded by substitute forward John Hassen who netted 28 points. Peter Platt threw in 13 and John McLellan added 11. Jim Dunlay, who is the highest rated player on the Weymouth squad, was held to six points, but hauled in more than his fair share of rebounds.

Warren Houston was tops for Newton with 19 points. He was followed by Paul Colantonio with 14 and Peter Hicks with 10.

In spite of the loss, Newton played its best basketball of the young season, and probably would have won if they had been playing a lesser team. They were in the contest throughout and when they fell behind it is noteworthy that Colantonio and Paul Ward were out of the game on personal fouls. They are Newton's top rebounders.

Next week the Tigers tangle with Brockton and Rindge Tech. Rindge is one of the league's top teams and if the Cats can prove themselves superior to the Technicians the outlook for the rest of the season will be bright.

The hockey team went through a disappointing week as they played the GBI's two lowest teams, Rindge Tech and Somerville. Although they beat Rindge 7-0, they barely managed a 1-1 tie with Somerville.

The victory over Rindge was highlighted by Charlie Donovan's hat trick. Bobby Cotter and Steve Toomey had two goals apiece to provide Newton with the rest of its scoring. Bob Newell combined with Dave Riley to keep the Technicians from putting the puck in the net.

Against Somerville, things were not quite so rosy. Early in the first period, Dick McBrine scored to put Newton down by 1-0. That is the way the score remained for the first two periods.

The third period didn't look much different than the previous two. It looked like Newton was going to lose, but with 43 seconds remaining, defenseman Dick Dezottel banged home a slap shot from the blue line to knot the score at 1-1.

Four Minor Accidents On Holiday W'kend

One person was injured in one of three accidents reported over the holiday weekend in Newton.

Police said John C. O'Connor of Needham was slightly hurt when his car collided early Sunday morning with a parked car at Tremont and Belmont streets, Newton. He was treated at Newton-Wellesley Hospital and released. He told police he fell asleep at the wheel.

William J. Annis, 85 Norwood avenue, Newtonville, escaped injury Monday afternoon, when his car crashed the window of the Newtonville Wine Shop, 675 Washington street. He told police his brakes failed as his car was entering the parking lot.

A Watertown man, Stephen Mekjian, was unhurt Monday evening, when his car skidded and landed in a brook on Albemarle road, Newtonville. Two women were injured Friday in a head-on crash on Walnut street, Newtonville, in front of No. 378. Mary J. Moriarty, 16, of 93 Pearl street, Newton, was treated at Newton-Wellesley Hospital for cuts and released. She was the driver of one of the cars. The other car was operated by a Watertown woman, Mrs. Patricia Randolph, who sustained facial injuries.

SENATOR RAPS MAKING LBJ "A SCAPEGOAT"

SEN. THOMAS MCINTYRE, (D-N.H.) said Wednesday the American people have made President Johnson "a scapegoat" for the bitterness and frustration caused by the Vietnam war.

He described the President as "perhaps the most unhappy man in our nation" and asked for an "end to the name-calling, the accusations and the heap of abuse leveled at the door of our President." He spoke at the convention in Washington of the New England Shoe and Leather Assn.

STOCK MARKET CONQUERS TAX HIKE BLUES

THE STOCK MARKET yesterday wiped out an early and sharp loss stemming from President Johnson's proposal for a 6 percent surcharge on private and corporate taxes and prices soared higher in the third most active session in the history of the exchange.

Volume swelled to 13,230,000 shares, highest since almost 15 million shares changed hands on May 29, 1962. The Dow Jones Industrial Average gained 8.35 to 822.49 and was more than 23 points above its lowest level.

BOBBY KENNEDY, HOOVER SKIP "BUGGING" QUIZ

SEN. ROBERT F. KENNEDY and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover apparently won't have a showdown before Senate investigators over who authorized "bugging" when Kennedy was attorney general.

Chairman Edward V. Long (D-Mo.) said neither Hoover nor Kennedy had accepted his invitation to appear before the administrative practices and procedures subcommittee. Long extended his invitation in a public announcement shortly after the Kennedy-Hoover controversy boiled into the headlines.

CONGRESS PROMISES LBJ NOTHING

CONGRESSIONAL LEADERS are able to promise no more than constructive consideration of most of the legislative proposals President Johnson unexpectedly has dumped into their laps.

A revived conservative coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats already has demonstrated its effective control of the House. The Senate, despite its continued heavy majority of Democrats, also has displayed new conservative leanings.

POWELL TO BUTTIN LIP DURING PROBE

ADAM CLAYTON POWELL passed the word Wednesday that he will toe the line while a committee of his fellow House members determine whether to deny him his seat in Congress permanently.

C. Sumner Stone, the Harlem Democrat's top aide, said that the usually flippant Powell would not be saying much during the investigation of the charges against him. But a citizen's group from Harlem said it planned to picket the House of Representatives, the White House and the Democratic National Committee.

HUB-TO-WASHINGTON TUNNEL VISUALIZED

AN UNDERGROUND TUNNEL between Boston and Washington is visualized by a government consultant as a logical solution on the North Atlantic seaboard.

William M. Lucke, consultant for the Department of Commerce's office of high speed ground transportation, said such a tube might also accommodate electric utilities, communications, gas and water lines and even the U.S. mails.

STATE DUE $70 MILLION SCHOOL CASH

GOVERNOR VOLPE says Massachusetts will receive an estimated $70 million in educational aid from the federal government in 1967, a figure that would be $12 million over the state's 1966 education receipts. He warns that "this is an unofficial figure. The Massachusetts Department of Education has not received formal notice as yet of state allocations under the many federal programs. I am determined that Massachusetts shall get every federal dollar available to us for education."

TRANSFUSIONS KEEP COED ALIVE

AN 18-YEAR-OLD Haverhill coed remained in a coma at Boston City Hospital as physicians completed the fifth total exchange of her blood in the past five days.

Jeanne M. Driscoll has had at least 28 pints of blood pumped into her system since she entered the hospital Friday with acute hepatitis. Physicians planned to continue the total exchanges on a one-a-day basis in an effort to save the girl's life. Her condition was listed as poor.

EDUCATIONAL TV NETWORK PROPOSED

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION Owen B. Kiernan has announced a proposed $3.8 million state-wide educational television network to serve both schools and homes in Massachusetts.

He said the proposed network would at first be built as an open broadcast service available to all television sets in the state. In addition, he said, the committee contemplates a closed-circuit system to be used in schools, colleges and state agencies.

REP. MCGLYNN ANGRILY QUILTS PANEL JOB

VETERAN STATE REP. John J. McGlynn, (D-Medford), angrily resigned his post on the House Rules Committee Wednesday after learning it was his only committee assignment. "I want to be my own man," he said. "I have no intention of dancing to the tune."

It was considered unusual for McGlynn, also Mayor of Medford who has served 10 years in the House, to receive only one assignment out of 35 committees from House Speaker John F. X. Davoren.

The World

MAO BACKED BY RED CHINA PARTY BRASS

THE CENTRAL COMMITTEE of the Chinese Communist party has urged the army and the people to crush the opponents of Chairman Mao Tse-tung in Red China's epic power struggle.

The statement, if not a major victory for the 73-year-old Mao, was at least a propaganda coup. It showed he had control of the party in his battle to purge his enemies and stay in power. The message was aimed specifically at pro-Mao forces in Shanghai who were reported wresting control of the mainland's most populous city from his foe.

BRITAIN READING WAR DOGS FOR VIETNAM

BRITAIN'S LABOR government is readying a new form of assistance in Vietnam — 36 trained war dogs to help sniff out Viet Cong guerrillas.

Aside from angering left-wing critics of the government's pro-American Vietnam policy, the move appeared likely to inflame a segment of the nation which gives inordinate attention to the use and welfare of dogs and other animals.

U. S. TROOPS RIP UP CONG STRONGHOLD

AMERICAN TROOPS were continuing today the task of destroying labyrinths of tunnels, bunkers and underground fortifications, started yesterday by high-explosive bombs of U.S. B-52 Stratofortresses in the Viet Cong "iron triangle" north of Saigon.

Huge bulldozers were ripping up thick strips of jungle and cutting paths for tanks and foot soldiers. The operation's primary object is to make the area unusable as a Communist stronghold and to chop up the thick vegetation sufficiently to allow American troops to come back in when they are needed.

School Budget Trimmed But Due To Add $4 To Tax Rate

By JAMES G. COLBERT, JR.

A $15,022,689 operating school budget for this year was approved by the Newton School Committee Monday night. It was $1,377,515 greater than the amount appropriated for school purposes last year. The increased school expenditures will make an impact of about $4 on the city's tax rate.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas, an ex-officio member of the School Board, abstained from voting on the adoption of the school budget but commended the committee members for their work in trimming about $1,100,000 from the requests and recommendations made to them by school department heads.

"In view of the many requests you have received, all of them legitimate, you have done a good job," the Mayor told the School Committee.

Basbas added that despite the "wonderful job" which had been done in holding down the school budget, it would still cause a $4 rise in the tax rate.

An across-the-board $500-a-year pay raise effective next September was granted to the full-time teachers who had requested a $750 salary boost. That will cost $185,895 this year.

Part-time teachers were given fractional increases corresponding to the amount of time they work. Custodians, secretaries, substitute teachers and teacher aides also received wage hikes.

The total cost this year of all the salary raises in the school department will be $228,111.

The biggest single factor responsible for boosting the school budget over the $15 million mark was a built-in increase or "overlay" of $690,773, representing the additional cost of pay raises voted last year which were in effect for only four months in 1966 but must be paid for a full 12 months in 1967.

The new salary changes, which become effective next September for the last third of 1967, will not be paid for a full year until 1968.

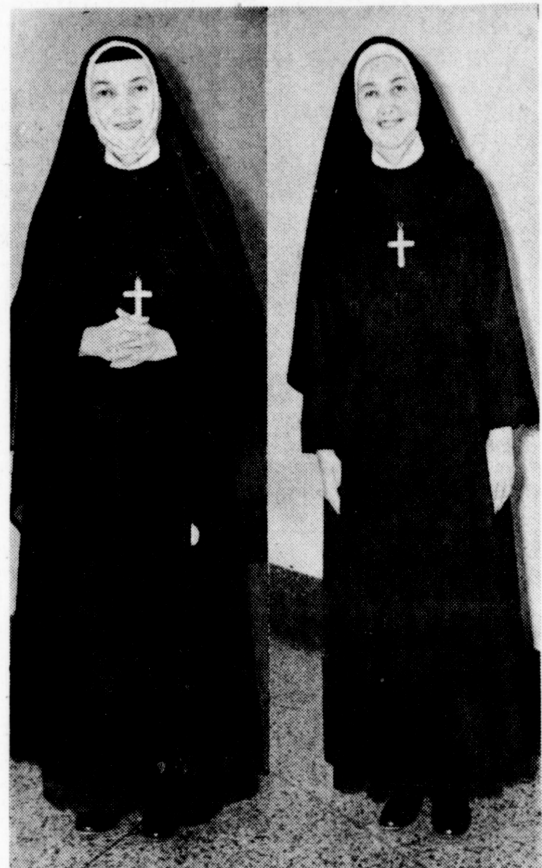

Salaries for new positions will cost a total of $89,754. Three-and-one-half positions already created last September as an emergency measure against overcrowding were put on a permanent basis. Five new teaching positions and four secretarial positions will be created this year.

Superintendent Charles E. Brown noted these nine positions represent a major cut-back in personnel requests, "since, a year ago, we had indicated that we were interested in adding 40 to 50 new positions a year for five years to meet known instructional needs."

Other new positions were set up to incorporate technical and vocational programs developed under Ford Foundation grants as

School Site Committee To Meet Today

A committee created by Mayor Monte G. Basbas to recommend a site for the new F. A. Day Junior High School will meet today, the Mayor announced at this week's School Committee meeting.

The Mayor also declared that his public building advisory committee will meet next Wednesday (Jan. 18). The advisory committee will make recommendations on architects for the new high school building.

Mayor Basbas invited Superintendent of Schools Charles E. Brown to attend the meeting with any architectural advisors he wished. "I'm not building monuments," the Mayor observed. "However, I do want school buildings we can be proud of."

Religious At Newton College Set New Style

800 young ladies returning to the campus of Newton College of the Sacred Heart after the Christmas holidays were greeted with a "new look" in the habit of the religious order in charge of the school.

The religious of the Society of the Sacred Heart are wearing a habit that has been modified for the first time since it was founded in 1800. 7000 members of the order are now wearing the modified habitations.

Mother Mary H. Quinlan, R.S.C.J., dean of Newton College of the Sacred Heart, modeled the old and new habits and they are shown in the photo which accompanies this story.

The habit change took effect January 1st at Newton College of the Sacred Heart and some 200 schools and colleges conducted by the religious of the Sacred Heart throughout the world.

Soldiers Grateful For Vietnam Gifts

Mayor Monte G. Basbas and The Graphic have received a number of letters from Newton servicemen in Vietnam expressing their thanks for the gift packages and greeting cards sent to them at Christmas.

In almost all the letters there is a tone of either regret or resentment over the action of groups and individuals in this country who oppose the war in Vietnam.

The letters were extremely gratifying to the Graphic which spearheaded the effort to see that the fighting men in Vietnam from Newton were not forgotten on the Yuletide.

Mayor Basbas, who sent a gift package to each of the servicemen whose names were published in the Graphic also was deeply moved by some of the letters he received.

One typical letter was sent the Mayor by AIC Francis J. Tobin of the 7th Air Force, whose tour of duty in Vietnam is to end Jan. 25. Tobin's letter to Mayor Basbas follows:

"I sure was surprised and happy when I picked up your Christmas package today. At first I couldn't believe it came from my Mayor, but your card told me it was

Lincoln Day Dinner Seen Big Success

Ticket sales for the Annual Lincoln Day Dinner being held Wednesday evening, Feb. 15 at the Sidney Hill Country Club, Newton, received a big push this week when Ward Chairman of the Newton Republican City Committee met and took blocks of tickets for distribution within their ward organizations.

The City Committee, under the leadership of William A. Lincoln, chairman, is a key sponsor of the dinner. Other GOP groups behind the event are the Newton Republican Club, Newton Women's Republican Club, and the Newton Young Republicans.

Republicans of adjacent towns have been invited and are expected to turn out for the event in considerable numbers.

Rep. Theodore D. Mann, president of the Newton Republican Club, which manages the project, announced that Lt. Governor Francis W. Sargent will be joined at the head table by GOP leaders of the area. He also announced that ticket distribution and reservations are being handled by Norman Buchbinder.

General arrangements are in the hands of a committee headed by Co-Chairmen Anthony J. Medaglia, Jr., Donald Quinn, and Mrs. Whelan Vinnicombe.

A better than usual rate of ticket sales was reported with Mrs. David S. Bard and Mrs. Edward C. Becherer, Co-

Newton High Students Win Chorus Posts

Each year the State of Massachusetts holds two concerts in which high school students participate. The first is organized on a district basis, the second on a state-wide level.

Sixteen students were chosen to represent Newton High School at the Northeast District Chorus auditions this past October. District Concert was held January 7th at Natick High School from 8:00 to 10:00 p.m., after a rigorous week-end of rehearsing.

Nine students were chosen to participate in the chorus from Newton: Alan Sooho, Deborah Hyde, Tamar Shelkan, Steve Hendriksen, Beth Plken, Joseph Greenman, Russell Becker, Clifford Orent Toby Stone.

The manager of the chorus was William Seymour, conductor of choruses at Brookline High School. The conductor of the chorus was Vito Mason, of American University, Washington, D.C.

The Massachusetts All-State Concert will be held in Boston this year. The All-State Chorus is the highest chorus a high school student can be accepted to on a state basis. Selected members of the district choruses audition and compete state-wide.

This year, two students were selected from Newton High School to lend their voices to the magnificent All-State Chorus.

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Lester Hyman Fine Choice As Democratic State Head

Lester S. Hyman of Marshfield was the hand-picked choice of Senator Edward M. Kennedy for the chairmanship of the Democratic State Committee.

But Ted telephoned most of the top Democratic figures in the State, told them he had decided upon Hyman to succeed Gerard F. Doherty and obtained their approval before conveying his decision to the State Committee members.

What is perhaps more important from the standpoint of the Democratic party is that Hyman was an excellent selection and has the capabilities to do an outstanding job as Democratic State Chairman.

As might be expected, there was some muffled criticism within the Democratic State Committee over the fact that Ted Kennedy dictated the election of Hyman instead of leaving it to the committee members to wrangle over the choice of their new chairman.

3 Petitions Given Quiet Hearings At City Hall

No one appeared in opposition to the three petitions given public hearings at City Hall Monday night at a joint meeting of the Aldermanic Committee on Claims and Rules and the Planning Board.

As is customary, all matters were taken under advisement.

With one exception, questioning of the petitioners or their representatives by members of the committee was at a minimum. The exception was a petition by Gibbs Tire Depot, Inc., which sought permission for erection of a new sign at the service station at 2066 Commonwealth ave., Auburndale. A Sinclair Oil Company sign, it would replace one of Tidewater Flying A, a company that is not continuing its dealerships.

Assets of Dedham Trust Increase 28%

A 28 per cent increase in assets marked the biggest growth year for the Dedham Trust Company since its founding nine years ago, President Vernon B. Hitchens said this week.

According to Hitchens, the Dedham Trust Company's assets jumped sharply from $14,301,840 on December 31, 1965 to $18,291,596 at year's end 1966.

Net income before taxes and reserves also grew nearly 22 per cent over a year ago, increasing from $160,634 to $195,619 for 1966.

Demand deposits increased by more than 24 million dollars during the year. Time deposits jumped from $911,419 to $2,133,411, an increase of $1,222,000. The bank also strengthened its reserve for loans account by transferring additional funds to that account to increase it from $184,586 to $218,489.

All funds realized from the recent issue of additional shares of the bank's stock, suggested by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation prior to the opening of a new Dedham Trust Company branch in the Charles River Arcade, Rte. 1, Dedham, were deposited in the bank's Capital and Surplus accounts. The Surplus Account reflects a growth from $357,850 to $523,022. Total capital accounts advanced by $246,492 to a total of $1,379,600.

The bank's directors and stockholders have already voted a 35 cent per share cash dividend (up 10 cents per share over last year) plus a 2 per cent stock dividend payable February 1, 1967 to stockholders of record January 16, 1967.

A year-end bonus totaling $5,000 was distributed to all the bank's employees, Mr. Hitchens said.

The hearing was routine until Alderman William E. Hopkins noticed that the blueprints of the installation showed that the sign would overhang the sidewalk. Prior to that, the petitioner had stated that the sign would not overhang the walk when asked by Board President Wendell R. Bauckman, who is a Claims and Rules member.

The hearing, therefore, came to a somewhat confused end. Haskell C. Freedman, former chairman of the School Committee, appeared as attorney for Silver Lake Motors, Inc., which asked permission to install lighting for display and safety of motor vehicles for sale at 451 Watertown st., Newtonville, a Business B. District. He pointed out that the lights would be so arranged as to cast a minimum flow outside the area for which they were intended. The 1500 watt lamps would be on poles 15 feet high and, if approved, would be set to go out at 9:30 p.m. However, Freedman said, two poles of lights would be in operation all night as a preventive against vandalism.

No zone change would be necessary at the lot, which has been used for car sales and display since 1934, and with night lighting being used for approximately 16 years.

The third petition, brought by Mobil Oil Company, sought permission for a canopy over the pumping area at 1236 Washington st., West Newton.

During the course of the hearing, Claims and Rules Chairman Franklin N. Flaschner intimated that the canopy could be put up provided the station's revolving signs was immobilized. Moving signs are no longer allowed in the city, and Flaschner's remark indicated that the Board is trying to eliminate those for which permission was previously granted.

us. They are Toby Stone, alto; and Clifford Orent, tenor.

Toby is a senior and a member of the A Capella Choir. Cliff is a junior and also a member of the choir, in addition to the Newton High School Madrigal Singers. Both are students of Henry Lasker's Theory of Music Classes.

The difficult music has been rehearsed at Newton High School so that the singers will be well prepared to represent Newton at the All-State and District levels. This has been done with the understanding help of Miss Geraldine Seaver, director and conductor of Chorus and Madrigal Singers at Newton High School.

The All-State Concert will be held this year in February, and will include an All-State Band and Orchestra as well as Chorus.

"Of course, there are certain factions in America who don't approve of our being in Vietnam, but they are in the minority. If these people could come here and count the dead bodies, they might think a little different."

"My tour here will be up on Jan. 25th so I'll be home pretty soon. I'm really looking forward to seeing my family, friends and Newton again."

"I'm glad I had a chance to come here because it makes me realize how well off I am to live in America. I'd like to say 'thank you' to you and Mrs. Basbas for that package of fine food. It will be taken care of. Best wishes to you and your family in the coming year."

That letter from a young Newton serviceman not only provides fuel for thought but must be satisfying, indeed, to Mayor Basbas and others who helped to brighten his Christmas.

Here's another typical letter to the Mayor from PFC Martin L. Kerble:

"Your package and the numerous greeting cards I received over the holiday season certainly signified a true expression of thanks from the people of Newton."

"It is heart-warming to know that the majority of Americans took time out from their joys to think of the boys over here. Though many have no idea of what our purpose consists of and what could happen if we fail, this matters little to us. What counts is that we know what we must do and that we need their moral support."

"We don't want to hear about the pacifist the so-called mixed-up leaders of the youth, the fools—we want to hear the words of the people—the true Americans."

"As we have answered the call of our country, so will the majority of Americans at home. For as one, the soldier may fail, as a team we will win for a cause far greater than any single human endeavor."

"I'd like to wish you and yours a Happy and Joyous New Year."

"In two years I will be 21. Sir, you will have my vote. May God Bless You."

Youngsters had an exciting group of field trips in Boston under the auspices of the Newton Community Center during vacation week.

The Holiday Enrichment Program, which featured art classes as well as group tours, was designed to provide children with stimulating activities during their Christmas holiday, and will also be planned for February vacation week.

Field trips were especially tailored to the age and understanding of the elementary child, and were aimed at satisfying the natural curiosity all children have for the world around them. Youngsters in Grades 1, 2 and 3 visited the store windows on Tremont st. and skated on Boston Common. They were also taken on tours of the Continental Baking Co., the largest bakery in the world, where they examined the full process of bread and cake manufacturing, and the Angell Memorial Hospital, where they examined in detail the medical care of the pet world.

Children in Grades 4, 5 and 6 enjoyed an exciting tour of the Boston Globe, including the city room, feature room, and full explanation of the printing process. Although inclement weather forced cancellation of the planned tour of the Airport facilities, children enjoyed substitution of the Coca Cola factory with samples, of course.

The groups were led by Mrs. Murray Janover of 3 Valleyspring rd., Newton, an experienced elementary teacher who also teaches art and enrichment at the center. "The youngsters," she said, "were interested, observant and intelligent, and were able to receive first-hand answers to a multitude of pertinent questions. It was an exciting experience to lead them."

Mrs. Janover told The Graphic that a different group of tours is being arranged by the Community Center for February vacation week, Feb. 20-25. On request, an informa-

In regard to this, Superintendent Charles E. Brown wrote, "I am most grateful for the honor you bring to yourself and to the Newton Schools — and even more grateful for the work you are doing in behalf of improved education in this city."

Continue Cases Of Two Newton College Boys

The cases of two Newton college youths charged with possession and selling of marijuana were continued last week in Newton District Court by Judge Julian Yesley.

Richard P. Charness, 20, of 89 Dorcas rd., a student at Newton Junior College, who was charged with selling and possessing marijuana, had his case continued to Middlesex Superior Court.

The other youth, Howard Cubell, of 85 Stuart rd., a student at the University of Michigan, was charged with possession and his case was continued until May 12 in Newton District Court.

Both youths pleaded innocent and were released in $1000 bail.

On the same day the youths appeared in Newton court, they were similarly charged in Brookline District Court and probable cause for both was found for a later appearance in Norfolk Superior Court.

At Brookline, Cubell was also charged with conspiracy, usually a misdemeanor unless involving narcotics.

Newton Police Prosecutor Capt. John N. McMullen had suggested in Newton court that Cubell's case be continued for a year without a finding, but Judge Yesley, in view of the conspiracy charge against Cubell, issued a straight continuance.

The arrests came two days after Christmas as Newton

Letters To Editor

Letter to the Editor

Editor of The Graphic:
J. B. Richards' letter in the Graphic of Jan. 5 which referred to the continuous learning experiment at Meadowbrook Jr. High School as "Continuous Learning" would be very amusing to the parents of the children involved if it were not so tragic.

Yes, Mr. Richards, the children do refer to it as continuous learning, and also, continuous learning, and also, continuous learning. There is in addition a new course offered at the school which the children refer to as C. W. (Corridor Wandering).

We, the parents of these children, forced in an undemocratic way into a situation which leaves us no alternative means of educating our children, cannot laugh at what to us has become an unbelievable mess.

If the true facts concerning Meadowbrook ever are revealed, this city and the educational hierarchy everywhere would not believe it. People would say such a situation could not exist in a democratic city but they would be wrong. They have existed for five years and the results should soon be obvious to everyone if the true pre-SAT scores and SAT scores taken by these "guinea pigs" becomes public knowledge. It is happening now and the results of children deprived of a decent education cannot be hidden much longer. These are figures that cannot be twisted and distorted.

Should a public school system operate an expensive experiment that may be of benefit to the 10 to 15 percent highly motivated aggressive students, who would do well in any curriculum.

The parents of average students which constitutes the bulk of every student body, are worried. These students are left almost completely on their own with half the amount of instruction given in every other Junior High School in the city, with complete freedom to pick their own curriculum, with no meaningful communication from the school to the parents to inform us of how our children are doing and there are no grades given at all.

What can a parent do who discovers after his child has been in school for half the year that the child has chosen cooking, chorus and drama but takes no English? What can we do when we discover that our children stand in line in the so called learning center (study halls) with fifty or sixty other children and wait for help which is never given by new teachers and teacher aids not equipped to handle such an experiment?

The curriculum is in a constant state of change but who takes care of our confused children when the teachers readily admit mistakes but our children have been the recipients of these mistakes? No corrective measures are taken and emotional problems develop and the parents are left with no where to turn. Where do we go next? The School Committee and the School Administration refuses to listen to parents or the many teachers who have left the school because they cannot stand the injustices at Meadowbrook to the pupils and to themselves.

Doesn't one wonder why, after five years, the controversy of Meadowbrook grows stronger? Has the education of children become a political pawn in the city? We know that many more parents would be heard from if it were not for fear of retaliation against their children.

Would you, the parents of children not in the Meadowbrook area, consider the enforced educational experiment our children have to bear an example of democracy in action by the school committee of Newton? If it happened here, it can happen to you, too.

7 Questions
Editor of The Graphic:
First let me thank the Newton Graphic for helping to raise my low blood pressure. Does your paper cause the Newton School Committee many sleepless nights? I would like to recommend they read your classified ad pages on these bad nights. Does Mr. Charles Brown wish it was only 1954, and he was just beginning his Newton career as a teacher?

1. Are my elementary school children breaking the State Board of Education Law because they do not go to school five hours per day, five days a week?

2. Is there any hope that someday PTA's will be abolished in Newton?

3. Is it true that the Newton South High is called the Jewish High School because 70 per cent of its pupils are Jewish?

4. What is the difference between Boston Ghetto Schools and Newton Ghetto Schools?

5. What are the true facts about Meadowbrook Junior High School? Why do so many of their pupils fear the bus ride? Does Charles Street Jail have as many locks as the lockers at this school? Does anything besides bikes, books, lunches, and coats get stolen?

6. How much surplus food is wasted lunch time because pupils are not used to eating garbage? What is the idea behind the idea that all bread must be buttered? Has anyone ever vomited from buttered hamburger?

7. Can Federal money still be given if there are fully automatic cafeterias?

As ever,
CLAIR ARAFE,

Report From City Hall Is Made By Alderman Shea

Ward 7 Alderman H. James Shea Jr., has compiled a comprehensive list of issues that seem to him to be of pressing concern to the community.

"I hope my outlining them," he says in his recent report from City Hall, "will give some idea of what I am doing to represent the people, as well as indicate the problems we will face in the months ahead."

Following is Alderman Shea's report:

TRAFFIC CONGESTION:
The completion of the Massachusetts Turnpike has compelled many of our streets, which were originally designed for moderate residential usage, to become major access roads. Centre St., Waverly Ave., Ward St., Charlesbank Rd., WaWashington, Tremont, and Park St's are now all heavily congested with traffic.

To change these conditions and prepare for better future traffic planning I favor:

1. Immediate retention of a Traffic Engineer by the City, and prompt inauguration of the Newton Corner the Newton Centre traffic studies. Funds for these studies were appropriated by the Aldermen Dec. 5.

2. Extensio of the traffic studies to include all major access roads, including those mentioned above.

3. Attention to pedestrian access including foot bridges for Newton Corner and pedestrian lights at the intersection between the Elks Building and the Library and Vernon Court Hotel (Board of Aldermen docket #875-66).

4. Traffic control lights to replace the flashing lights at the intersection of Centre, Sargent and Cabot Sts.

5. A stop sign and flashing traffic stop light at the intersection of St. James St. and Charlesbank.

AIR RIGHTS:

The use of air rights for construction over the Massachusetts Turnpike appears imminent. This development could do much to meet the obvious need for new capital investment in Newton Corner.

Before permissive use or any oning change is granted for this proposal, the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority should be forced to assist in correcting the shocking traffic problems created by its very presence. The alleviation of Newton Corner traffic will be my primary consideration during the debate of air rights of Aldermen.

legislation before the Board
BIGELOW JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL:

The completion of Bigelow Junior High School for student occupancy is jeopardized by continued delay.

The final plans have been approved by the State School Building Assistance Commission, and acquisition of the required private property has been completed. The project is almost ready to be put out for bid.

I have stressed to our Building Department, School Department and Mayor the need to begin immediately the bidding process and awarding of construction will only continue the lack of adequate educational facilities in our ward for another school year.

RECREATIONAL NEEDS:

Just as it has been many years since Ward 7 received major capital improvements been largely neglected in the area of capital expenditure for schools, so also have we legitimate recreational needs. During the spring much of the lower Burr Playground near the field house is an unusable swamp. Therefore, I propose that the lower Burr Playground be regarded currently with the construction of the new Bigelow Junior High School.

I furthermore believe it is time to build the long desired tennis courts at the Ward School; to investigate the possible expansion of the Underwood School recreational area; and to develop a "tot lot" for the Hunnewell Hill area, possibly on the site of excess turnpike land which may soon be available to the city.

CONSERVATION COMMISSION:

I supported the ordinance recently passed by the Board of Aldermen creating the Newton Conservation Commission. Today's unprecedented demand for land makes it imperative for this Commission to protect remaining open spaces for future generations. One example might be the saving of the 81 acre site at the Chestnut Hill Country Club if residential pressures again threaten that property.

HUMAN RELATIONS:

There is nothing new or unusual in calling for municipal involvement in human relations efforts. The translation of rhetoric into meaningful action, however, is too infrequent. For this reason I propose that the Newton Community Relations Commission coordinate a voluntary youth exchange, emphasizing church and temple activities, between different religious denominations. This is but one way in which our young people can learn to think less of apparent differences and more of universal human characteristics.

REFORM IN FILLING VACANCIES FOR ELECTED POSITIONS:

Since I took office in April of 1966, the Board of Aldermen has participated in the filling of two elective vacancies: One on the Board itself and the other on the School Committee. I have publicly objected to this procedure and on the floor of the Board I stated my belief that filling elective vacancies in this way is little more than an "in-group appointment." The people elect aldermen and school committeemen; they should be allowed to fill these vacancies, when they occur, by special elections. My position was endorsed by THE NEWTON GRAPHIC in an editorial on November 10th.

AIR POLLUTION:

Last Thanksgiving weekend we in the Northeast experienced air pollution in extremely dangerous concentrations. The sulphur-dioxide and other pollutants were but an indication of what we and our children may expect in the future—unless we act promptly. Although this is a state and national problem, I believe we should do what we can on the local level. I have thus recommended tighter laws controlling open air burning, especially open air burning of leaves (B. of A. #88-66(2)).

LOCAL TAXES:

Year after year our municipal taxes have increased.

The rapidly expanding demands of the Newton School Department (over which the Board of Aldermen has no legal control), the yet to be fully realized return from the Massachusetts Sales Tax, Newton's increased assessments, and the general rise in ment for county government the cost of living have increased our concern for future tax rates.

I recommend the following to help stabilize our expanding real estate tax:

1. Encouraging the construction of new taxable property wherever consistent with the residential character of Newton.

2. Calling upon our state legislators, who establish standards for welfare, veterans' services and county government, to have and that he got an extra $20,000 as the Commonwealth assume committee chairman plus all the other "emoluments" it looks like a very lucrative position. Now that the House is doing something about one member I hope they will continue the work and plug up the other loopholes that may exist for all members. I would even suggest that all members be required to make an annual statement of all money received, including travel and expense for all the staff so that any taxpayer would know exactly where every penny went. In this way, the confidence of the public in the integrity of our lawmakers would be strengthened.

Reading And Story Hours At Libraries

Boys and girls will have another series of story and reading hours in the Newton Free Library the week beginning Monday, Jan. 16.

The story hours, conducted by Virginia A. Tashjian, will be held as follows: Boys and Girls Library, 126 Vernon St., Newton, Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 17, at 3:15. Nonantum Branch, Thursday afternoon, Jan. 19, at 3:15.

The unit is part of the Office of Accounts and Records of the Bureau of Collections in the State Department of Corporations and Taxation.

the cost of maintaining these standards they prescribe.

3. Demonstrating a sincere commitment to economy, so long as it is reasonable and will not interfere with desirable and necessary municipal programs.

These are some of the more important problems confronting our community. No doubt you have thoughts of your own on neighborhood and city issues. I would very much appreciate hearing them.

Lee
Loumos
Says:

In the past, I have wondered why people worked so hard to win election to the House of Representatives, when the regular remuneration is so nominal and the term is only two years. But in reading of Adam Clayton Powell's difficulty county government, to have and that he got an extra $20,000 as the Commonwealth assume committee chairman plus all the other "emoluments" it looks like a very lucrative position. Now that the House is doing something about one member I hope they will continue the work and plug up the other loopholes that may exist for all members. Counseling Service Opened By Dr. Knox

A professional counseling service has been opened by Dr. William F. Knox at the King Court Building at 628 High street, Dedham. For twelve years Dr. Knox has been minister of Old South Union Church in South Weymouth and has specialized in pastoral counseling. He is particularly concerned for people with marriage and family problems.

"There is so much emotional distress, hurt feelings and unhappiness," he said, "usually because people need a little guidance on how to cope with problems of personal relationships."

Many people need someone they can talk with confidentially who understands and can be helpful in finding new solutions to old problems.

"I believe that health powers are built into all of us, but they cannot bring buoyant new life unless they are released. This is the purpose of counseling," Dr. Knox said. "There are no magic powders which the counselor uses. The important thing is love and understanding of people in distress. Combine that with the desire to find new life and the results are fantastic."

Dr. Knox did his undergraduate work at the University of Kansas and holds two master of arts degrees and a doctor of education degree from Yale University Divinity School and Columbia University Teachers College. He spent three years as a chaplain in the Army Air Force during World War I. For the past ten years, while minister in Weymouth, he has had a weekly radio program on WJDA in Quincy and writes a column for weekly newspapers on the South Shore.

The counseling service is by appointment.

Good Advice Is Given To Filers Of Tax Returns

William E. Williams, district director of Internal Revenue for Massachusetts, today said that now is the best time for taxpayers to make sure they have all the records and tax forms they may need.

Mr. Williams said that last-minute filing of income tax returns may result in taxpayers' overlooking an important tax saving deduction or finding they do not have a particular form or instruction they need.

He commented that avoiding the last-minute rush is particularly important for taxpayers who plan to itemize deductions or who have income from sales of property, pensions and annuities, rents or partnerships.

Schedule D should be filed with the Form 1040 when reporting gains or losses from the sale of a house, stock or other property. Income from pensions or annuities, rents or royalties, partnerships, estates or trusts must be reported on Schedule B.

Copies of these forms and instructions on how to file them can be obtained at any local IRS office.

REV. REUBEN A. LUNDEEN

Greater Boston Lutherans In Local Meeting

The Rev. Dr. Reuben A. Lundeen, executive secretary of the Division of Mission

Services, Lutheran Council in the U.S.A., was the featured speaker at a meeting of all Lutheran pastors in the Greater Boston area at the Lutheran Church of the Newtons, Newton Centre, on Tuesday, January 10.

The Lutheran Council is a newly established joint agency of the Lutheran Church in America, The Lutheran Church — Missouri Synod, The American Lutheran Church, and Synod of Evangelical Lutheran Churches. The four church bodies have as members 96% of the nine million Lutherans in America. This year for the first time in history, almost all Lutherans will begin to cooperate in the Lutheran Council's divisions of theological studies, mission, educational, and welfare services, and service to military personnel. The Council had its constituent convention in Cleveland last November.

Mr. Lundeen has served as missionary in China, as pastor in Bronx, New York, and as executive of the Board of American Missions of the Lutheran Church in America. He will address the Lutheran pastors on the implications of the new Lutheran Council on interparish relationships in the Boston area.

The meeting was sponsored by the Boston Pastoral Conference of The Lutheran Church — Missouri Synod. Its chairman, Rev. William Scar, Coordinator of Lutheran College and University Work in New England, will preside.

At the January units the league will enlarge on some of these consensus positions by examining in depth: (1) Additional procedural changes to facilitate the legislative function; (2) The committee system; (3) Additional guidelines for determining salaries of legislators. The Units will also explore the subject of legislative districts and attempt to answer the consensus question of whether single member districts, multiple member districts, or a combination of both are more representative and responsive.

Count Basie Is Featured At Benefit For Exodus Project

Count Basie and his orchestra will entertain on Friday, February 17, for the benefit of Operation Exodus. This cabaret evening will be held at the Commonwealth Armory in Boston beginning at 8 o'clock in the evening. An active Newton committee is working for the success of the event.

Operation Exodus is the grass roots effort of a group of North Dorchester-Roxbury parents to provide a better education for their children by busing them at private expense to the vacant seats available to them in Boston. In this, its second year, the program has doubled its number of pupils filling every seat possible with a child.

The program has grown in many more ways. The organization itself has been incorporated as a non-profit group, making all contributions tax deductible. A carefully supervised tutorial program is established for the students enrolled.

Exodus has been able to acquire the double building which it now occupies. Plans for renovating the premises to house the offices needed to administer their present programs will allow for greater expansion into youth activities and cultural enrichment.

To further these efforts, there is a continuing need for funds from private contributions since no public monies have been made available so far. The purchase of tickets for this Exodus Dance will lend support to this important cause.

For further information, please call Mrs. Krieks at 969-5845 or Mrs. Kramer at 527-4924. Contributions may be made to Newton Committee for Operation Exodus and sent to P. O. Box 93, Newton Centre, 02159.

Wants Changes In Published Budget

Representatives of the Newton Taxpayers Association will meet with Superintendent of Schools Charles E. Brown and Director of Business Services John E. Gilleland to discuss possible revisions in the format of the published school budget.

Authorization for the conference was granted at Monday evening's School Committee meeting after final action was taken on the 1967 school operating budget.

In a letter to the School Committee, the Taxpayers Association had requested that "action be taken this year to change radically the Newton school budget format by printing it in more detailed form than has been the practice try in Massachusetts to have an IBM service center that is owned 100% by savings banks. We intend to provide that service."

Newton Woman Chairman For CJP Campaign

Mrs. David B. Stearns of Newton Centre has been named 1967 campaign chairman of the Women's Division of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston.

The announcement was made this week by Mortimer Weiss, general campaign chairman for the 1967 Appeal, and Mrs. Norman L. Cahners, president of the Women's Division.

Commenting on the appointment, Mr. Weiss indicated that "the Women's Division has traditionally played a major role in our campaign, both in terms of fund raising and in interpreting the needs of our community throughout the Greater Boston area. We are particularly fortunate that Mrs. Stearns will head this important division."

Mrs. Cahners pointed out that "in view of the needs for 1967, the 'plus giving' of the Women's Division takes on even greater importance. Under the dynamic leadership of Frances Stearns and her team we can anticipate excellent results in the forthcoming campaign."

Currently serving as a trustee of CJP and as a board member of the Women's Division, Mrs. Stearns was a co-chairman of "The Luncheon" in the 1966 Appeal.

In past years she has been chairman of Special Gifts, Premier Gifts, and co-chairman of Advance Gifts for the Women's Division.

She is a vice-chairman of Life Membership at Beth Israel Hospital and a vice-president of the Boston chapter of Hadassah. Mrs. Stearns has served as chairman of many national committees of the Brandeis Women's Committee and as a vice-president of the National Committee.

She is president of the Phi Delta Epsilon Women's Club, a member of Temple Israel, and a member of the Newton Democratic City Committee.

Mrs. Stearns, a graduate of Boston University, is the wife of Dr. David B. Stearns, who is chief of Urology Service at University Hospital, Boston.

They have two daughters, Mrs. Richard S. Schoenwald, Pittsburgh, and Nancy, a law student.

Band Welcomes Lad Back From Israel Studies

The Newton High School Band, under the direction of Peter Cobb, was on hand last Monday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Emmett Levi, 101 Cedar st., Newton Centre, to provide a musical welcome for one of the band's boys who spent the past six months in Israel.

The returning traveler was Charles Levi, 15, a junior at Newton High, where he has been an honor student.

During the past half-year, Charles was one of 12 students from points throughout the United States who toured Israel and studied there at the Leo Baeck School. They were Elisendath International Exchange students.

Charles, and two other Boston youngsters, flew from Israel to London last Thursday (Jan. 5) and had four days of sightseeing there. Monday they boarded a BOAC plane that got them to Logan Airport in East Boston early the same afternoon. His companions on the flight were Donna Richmond, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Melvin Richmond, 201 Cypress st., Newton Centre, a Newton South High School student, and Jayne Kravitz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Kravitz of Sharon.

The other nine members of the group were flown from London to New York to make connections for flights to the parts of the country in which they live.

Ice Team Turns On Foes As Hoopsters Stub Toes

By JOE GORIN

Newton High's athletic teams went through a week which was full of disappointment to the basketball squad and encouragement to the hockey unit.

Two times this week the ice men turned on foes that were supposed to defeat them. The first upset came last Thursday when the Tigers dumped a previously unbeaten Medford team, 5-3.

Perhaps it was the return of forward Don Gallagher which sparked the team. He had been injured and missed the game in which Newton could only manage a 1-1 tie with lowly Somerville. Against Medford, Gallagher netted two goals.

Newton's other scoring was provided by Bob Cotter with two goals and Charlie Donovan with one.

Going into the second period of the game, Newton trailed 2-0. But Gallagher and Donovan each chalked up a score in that stanza to knot the score.

However, it was the final period which gave Newton the victory. In that period, Cotter scored twice and Gallagher got his second of the day.

Newton's second upset came over Waltham who had been riding the fabulous hockey talents of Edgar Bastarache all season. The 6-3 win for the Tigers catapulted them into second place, only one point behind Arlington, in the standings.

One of the keys to the game was the alternate shadowing of Bastarache by either Charlie Donovan or Jackie Droze. Bastarache was held to just one goal, well below his per game average.

The Tigers established a first period lead of 4-0 which held up for the rest of the game.

Newton's first goal, by Al Alessi, which came with less than two minutes gone in the game, was a real "stranger." From next to his own cage, he tried to clear the puck. It travelled all the way down the ice, caromed off the boards into the crease where the bewildered Waltham goalie kicked it in.

Jackie Droze scored once and Bob Cotter twice to round out the first period scoring. The rest of Newton's scoring was handled by Steve Toomey who scored once in the second period and once in the third.

Next week the seniors take college board exams, so the team's sophomores and juniors will play an unofficial game against an opponent yet to be named.

The basketball team lost two games last week to extend its losing skein to three games. The first loss was a 56-54 heart-breaker to Rindge Tech.

The game was tied when, with one second left, Ron Philpot took a desperation shot from the top of the key. The shot was good and Newton was sunk.

The absence of Paul Colantonio was acutely obvious as Rindge held a large rebounding edge. In addition to his rebounding, he is one of the Tigers leading scorers.

In the last quarter, Newton trailed by as much as eight.

"HEIGH HO AND AWAY" FOR SCOTT—Smiling young Scott Groper, center, of 222 Baldpate Hill Rd., Newton Centre, is the happy winner of second prize, a real pony (named Mr. Ed) and a saddle in WNAC-TV's Kid's Sweepstakes. Al Korn, Channel 7's advertising and promotion director, congratulates the lad while Scott's mother, Mrs. Pat Groper, looks on.

They cut it down to six, and for several minutes they were down by that number of points. But with less than two minutes remaining, Newton put the offense into high gear and brought themselves into a tie with less than 50 seconds showing on the clock. The last quarter spurge was led by Paul Ward who got 12 of the team's 22 in the final stanza.

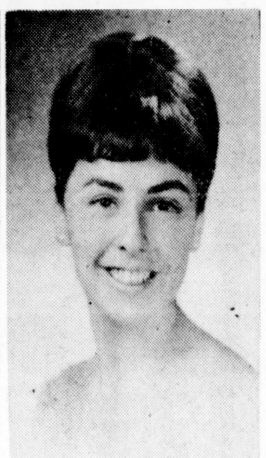

Ward was the game's high scorer with 21 points. Warren Houston and Peter Hicks each had twelve. But the game's big star was probably Wilfred Cox who ball-handled, rebounded, rarely missed a shot and ended up with 17 points.

Against Brockton, Colantonio was again missed, but it was doubtful whether his presence would have helped much. Newton was handed its greatest setback in three years as they lost, 92-67.

The contest was never in doubt as Brockton led all the way. They owned a 13 point advantage at the end of the first period, a 30 point advantage at the half and a 36 point lead at the end of the third quarter. The Cats bounced back in the final quarter when they outscored the opposition 28-17.

Rebounding, or the lack of it, was what nailed the lid on Newton's coffin. Brockton would frequently take seven and eight shots at the hoop.

Perhaps the only encouraging point of the game was the fine play of junior guard Paul Lubin who connected for 15 points.

Cong. Heckler Votes Against Powell And For Ethics Code

It didn't take Congressman Margaret M. Heckler long to make her presence felt on Washington's Capitol Hill.

Not only did she vote to deny Congressman Adam Clayton Powell his seat in the national House pending a 60-day investigation, but on her first day in office Mrs. Heckler called for a Code of Ethics for members of Congress.

She declared that the question of seating Powell was not one of civil rights but of congressional ethics.

"Congress must put its own house in order," asserted the Congresswoman whose district includes this community.

"I realize that it may seem presumptuous for a brand new member of Congress to speak on the question of how the Congress should conduct its business," said Congresswoman Heckler, "but newness of service does not preclude responsibility to speak out."

"Every member of Congress should be recorded on the question of the integrity of the Congress itself."

"For this reason I am strongly in favor of a Code of Ethics—a code which will impose stern demands in keeping with the high nature of the public trust," Mrs. Heckler stated.

Congresswoman Heckler, an attorney, is under consideration for appointment to the important House Judiciary Committee.

At End of First Half . . .

Lions In 2nd Place Tie In League Hockey Play

By RAY KWASNICK
Newton South's hockey team ended the first half of the Dual County League season in a second-place tie with Lynnfield, while the hapless basketball team continued its losing ways.

Hockey coach Bill Jesdale was encouraged by the Lions' victory Saturday over Lincoln-Sudbury in a 2-0 tilt at Loring Arena in Framingham. "We're still improving, still growing and looking forward to a better second half," was his comment following the game which saw the Rezzuti brothers, Tom and Frank, light the lamp for scores.

It was Tom Rezzuti who kept the tie with Lynnfield alive last Thursday when the two teams met in league play. He scored a goal at 7:13 of the final period to gain a tie, 1-1.

In that game, it was defense that counted after Lynnfield took a 1-0 lead in 5:38 of the first period. The Lions played tight hockey and Dave Roberts made 18 stops in the Newton net to confine the Warriors to a single goal for the entire game and enable the Lions to tie it, finally.

The Lions took their 3-1-2 record into the game with Lincoln-Sudbury and improved it to 4-1-2 by virtue of the victory. Although the Rezzuti brothers scored the winning goals, once again it was good defense that prevailed.

Tom Rezzuti got the offense rolling early in the game when he tapped in a goal from five feet out just 50 seconds after the game started. The Lions controlled the puck the rest of the first period but, although they did a lot of skating and passing, they didn't get off too many shots. Lincoln goal tender John Byrnes only had to make two saves.

South continued puck-control during the second period, making a scoring bid at 7:11 when Mark Sheehan slipped a shot past Byrnes from mid-ice. However, an offside ruling nullified the goal.

A couple of minutes later in the period, Frank Rezzuti scored South's second goal when he took a pass from Mark Holland and netted a 15-footer. The lamp was lit while Lincoln was shorthanded. Paul Nystrom was serving an interference penalty.

Lincoln-Sudbury scored early in the third period on a shot by Steve Lennon. But the goal didn't count because of a high-stick infraction.

At 2:28 of the last period, goalie Roberts got hit on the head by a stick and was taken out of the game. Junior Dave Singer took over in the nets but never got a chance to display his talent. The tight South defense prevented a single shot at the goal.

Coach Jesdale singled out Gil Esqueval for his defensive play as well as Roberts' net tending.

Newton South's hoop team lapsed into last year's style of play as they dropped their fourth and fifth game in a row. The cagers were overwhelmed by Arlington, 76-52, and then swamped by a towering Weymouth squad, 86-64. The Lions now face Rindge Tech at home on Tuesday and travel to Brockton on Friday for a night game.

Against Arlington, South was never in the contest. The Lions were outscored 20-6 at the quarter and down 37-17 at the half. South got only four field goals during the entire first half - two in each period.

The only thing that kept the game close as it was was South's free throw shooting. The Lions hit 18 of 25 for 72 per cent from the line, a marked improvement over the 40 per cent at the Brookline game. Arlington was 16 for 27 at the charity stripe.

The Arlington five poured it on in the second half despite a concerted South effort led by Bob Whittlesey and Lee Casty. Whittlesey rammed 13 points through the hoop all coming in the last half as the Lions pulled within 14 to 50-36 at the end of the third period. However, Arlington won it going away widening the lead to 76-52 at the end.

Casty and Whittlesey topped South scorers with 13 points each. Rick Ginsburg, 10, and Steve Cooper, 11, also figured in the Lions' attack. Arlington's attack centered on John Donovan who netted 29 points and Danny Reis' 16.

At Weymouth, South stayed with their foes until the last minute of the second period. Then three quick Weymouth baskets gave Weymouth a 42-36 lead going into the locker room. The lead changed hands 10 times before the game was cracked open.

In the third quarter Weymouth built up an insurmountable margin by netting 10 straight points before South broke the ice. They increased their lead to 15 at the end of the quarter. South was never in contention again as Weymouth broke away for an 86-64 victory.

An important factor in this surge was Whittlesey's absence from the line-up due to foul trouble. In the first half he had scored 14 points. "Whit"-less South scored only 12 points in the third period.

Whittlesey again led South with 17 points while Cooper, with 16, and Casty, with 13, also hit double figures. Weymouth's assault was sparked by John Hassan who added 26 points to the Lions' demise.

Dr. Davies In First Aid Talk For Junior Aid

"First Aid for the Modern Homemaker" is the subject of the talk to be given by Dr. Frederick M. Davies at the next meeting of the Newton-Wellesley Junior Aid Association.

Dr. Davies feels that it is very important for homemakers to know basic first aid procedures since so many accidents occur in active families. He will give demonstrations of resuscitation, applying tourniquets, and using splints.

Dr. Davies is a staff surgeon at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, and is on the panel of emergency ward surgeons there. The meeting will be held on Thursday, Jan. 19, in Allen Riddle Hall.

Coffee will be served before the meeting by the hospitality chairman, Mrs. David E. Bass of Newtonville, and Mrs. Robert Foulton of Wellesley. Mrs. Carl L. Recco of Auburndale, president of the Junior Aid will conduct a short business meeting.

Mrs. Howard E. Hansen of Wellesley Hills, chairman of the Valentine Ball, urges all members and friends to make reservations early to avoid possible disappointments. The ball is being held in the Imperial Ballroom of the Statler Hilton Hotel on February 10. Mrs. Thomas E. Franks of Wellesley Hills is the reservations chairman.

respects. Peripheral vision has been notably enhanced by the new head dress which replaces a face-framing, fluted bonnet. Integral with the habit change was the substitution of a matching water-repellent, knee-length coat for the familiar fringed shawl.

Reports coming from the Centre St. campus of the college indicate that the students at the noted girls' school have cast discerning feminine eyes upon the habit change and are unanimous in their approval. And this is, indeed, a tough test.

Budget -

a permanent part of Newton's educational offering to students who do not plan to go to college.

Dr. Brown explained the shift of the positions from the Ford Foundation budget to the Newton School Budget saying: "We received the grant to develop new programs at Ford's expense for two years. Our program is no longer at the development stage."

"If we were not to do this, we would have less flexibility in using the funds for development. If we simply kept on carrying the established program, we would not be fair to Ford or achieve our own potentiality," Brown asserted.

Non-salary items make up the rest of the budget increase. Expenditures in areas such as maintenance, school supplies, books and equipment will cost Newton another $166,177 this year.

The figures appropriated for transportation and for the cafeteria fund have grown by $152,700 and $50,000, respectively.

A substantial part of the transportation expenditures, estimated by the School Committee to be between $140,000 and $150,000, will be returned to the City treasury through student bus fares.

The cafeteria operates under what is known as a "revolving" fund and can use the money it takes in, but State law requires that the cafeteria be given a large enough working capital to avoid deficits.

Superintendent Brown announced that the sum allotted to the cafeteria fund is subject to revision, since the State Department of Education has tentatively approved a five-cent increase in the price charged for the meal served to Newton secondary school students.

Unlike salaries, the non-salary items are appropriated for the full calendar year.

In a separate vote, the School Committee confirmed its decision made at the Dec. 27 meeting on non-salary budget items, to appropriate $100,000 to cover the cost of running an elementary school lunch program if a single session should be adopted for elementary schools for the school year that begins next September.

Committee Chairman Vincent P. Stanton pointed out that the figure was not definite since the School Committee had simply accepted a provisional estimate made by an outside authority. He insisted that the school board would examine the figure if it took final action on a session change.

Differences of opinion on the increases came to light as School Committee member Mrs. Grace C. Whitmore observed: "It was with great reluctance that I voted for the cut in maintenance." Mrs. Whitmore voiced the opinion that reductions in that area are usually false economy.

She was seconded by School Committeeman Francis P. Frazier who maintained that "non-salary items are the tools of education" and that "there is a certain level below which you cannot cut."

Mayor Basbas took exception to their position, insisting: "We are talking in terms of new money. You are cutting into requests, not into money we already spend."

After the adoption of the budget, School Committeewoman Norma W. Mintz voiced dismay at the recent action of the Board of Aldermen in calling upon the School Committee to hold down its budget increase: "It disturbed me to read the recent formal resolution adopted by the Board of Aldermen on the subject of our school budget for 1967."

"I recognize and welcome the right of individual members of the Board to express their views as citizens on matters pending before the School Committee. However, I consider it inappropriate and undesirable for the Aldermen to adopt a formal resolution intended to influence our judgment in determining the educational needs of the school system and the cost thereof," Mrs. Mintz said.

"Not only does such action confuse the lines of responsibility of our respective bodies, but it also tends to divide our citizens rather than to unite them in support of education," she added.

"I am confident," Mrs. Mintz affirmed, "that a substantial majority of Newton citizens support the policies and financial programs of the Newton schools. Unfortunately, far too often, satisfied citizens stand by complacently and do not express their support openly."

"I believe that there is a direct relationship between the quality of an educational system and the money wisely expended for it. I am convinced that Newton receives the maximum return on its investment in the school budget," Mrs. Mintz declared.

"In closing," she said, "I suggest that if we are to maintain and improve the high quality of our public schools without increasing the burden on the property tax, we, the Mayor, the Aldermen and other concerned citizens must all work to have the State assume, in the very near future, a greater share of responsibility for the financial support of local education."

School Committeeman Edwin Hawkrigge disagreed with Mrs. Mintz saying: "The members of the Board of Aldermen are as entitled and

Seek Computer Voting Machines For Newton

A drive to get computer voting machines for the municipal election in Newton in November was kicked off last Friday at a meeting in Mayor Monte G. Basbas' office.

A bill now before the Legislature calls for permission to use the computer machines in Newton on a test, with one precinct in each ward getting the machines.

At present, the new machines are illegal because the votes have to be counted electronically and must be moved to a central computer before they are counted.

Alderman Paul Burke, who initiated the idea, feels there perhaps more so than other citizens to voice their opinion on our budget.

Mayor Basbas was praised by several School Committee members for his cooperation.

Chairman Harold J. Berman told the Mayor: "It is not easy for the Mayor to commend a School Committee for voting a large budget. We have kept it as small as we could. We are grateful to you for your support for us as a group."

"If the Newton School Committee merits any of the credit for the excellence of the Newton school system, then the Mayor, as a member of the committee, deserves a good share of that credit," Berman said.

Mrs. Mintz commented, Mayor Basbas, recognizing his responsibility for the needs of the City as a whole, has at the same time expressed his understanding of the needs of the Newton Public Schools and has given his support far more than any other Mayor in the recent history of this City."

"The Mayor and the Board of Aldermen, by their approval of the school building program, have indicated their understanding of the needs for that program, and I commend them," Mrs. Mintz said. School Committeeman Manuel Beckwith also lauded the efforts of Mayor Basbas and the Aldermen who "have broken all records to give our children adequate school buildings." Beckwith stressed that a "crash program has been undertaken" since Mayor Basbas assumed office.

Parents of High School Seniors Complain of Conflicting Exams

A number of parents of students at Newton High School and Newton South High complained yesterday that their sons and daughters have been and are taking mid-term examinations this week in their major subjects and on Saturday are scheduled to take their College Board examinations.

They expressed the belief that the mid-terms taken in the same week as the College Boards place the Newton student at a disadvantage in their competition with high school seniors from other cities and towns and from other States.

They maintain that many schools concentrate on preparing and priming the students during the week preceding the College Boards or for an even longer period of time.

The parents also claim that the seniors not only can't concentrate on getting ready for the Saturday College Boards, but also are likely to be mentally fatigued.

Newton school officials said that the marking period in the two high schools closes this Friday (Jan. 13) and that the school schedule was made up last spring when it was not known when the College Boards would be held. The date for the College Boards was set much later.

They contended that the fact that seniors are taking examinations in their major subjects this week is not necessarily a handicap for the College Board preparation. They maintained that the only detrimental element might be the fatigue factor.

The school officials also pointed out that students cannot "cram" for College Boards and that in one way the fact that they are taking mid-terms could work to their advantage, because it gives them a review of large segments of subjects in which they may be examined in their College Boards.

At the same time, however, they said they regretted that the College Boards came the same week as the mid-terms in the two Newton High Schools. They said that it was a circumstance that was not avoidable.

However, some parents took the view that the school officials could have changed the marking period and shifted the examination dates in order to eliminate any possibility that Newton students would be mentally fatigued.

In response to a question by the Graphic, school officials said that the average high school senior has a minimum of four major subjects and takes a mid-year examination in each one. This means that the seniors are taking at least four mid-term examinations this week and possibly more prior to the College Boards on Saturday.

School officials also said that while there is considerable choice in the date on which students take their college board examinations, most Newton students will take them Saturday.

Ist Church, Scientist, Has Two New Readers

L. Bradford King, Jr., of Auburndale, and Mrs. Newell J. Trask of Newtonville, are the newly-elected Readers of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newton.

They will begin their three-year term of conducting Christian Science church services on Sunday, Feb. 5, Mr. King as First Reader and Mrs. Trask as Second Reader. They replace retiring Readers, C. Hugo Bergman and Miss Marion J. Keys. The election of Readers took place at a recent meeting of the members in the church edifice at 300 Walnut street, Newtonville.

Since there are no ordained clergy in Christian Science, all church functions are conducted entirely by the local members. The two elected Readers carry the main responsibility for the Sunday and Wednesday evening services of the church. Their primary duty is to read the Christian Science weekly Lesson-Sermon to the congregation on Sunday. This is a compilation of related references from the Bible and the denominational textbook, pertaining to a specific subject, and read alternately by the First and Second Readers.

During the week, the same references serve as a Bible Lesson, studied daily by Christian Scientists throughout the world. Read at the Sunday service, it becomes the sermon, and is combined with hymns, a solo, and prayer, to constitute the service.

The Wednesday evening meeting conducted by the First Reader includes a period when individual members of the congregation give testimonies about their experiences in Christian Science healing. Readings from the Bible and the church's textbook are presented at this service also, but on a topic chosen by the Reader.

The public is invited to attend these services, which are held each week in the church edifice at Otis and Walnut sts., Newtonville.

City-Wide Move To Form School Committee Slate

Announcement was made yesterday that a city-wide group of Newton citizens are moving to form a slate of candidates for the Newton School Committee.

The disclosure came from a spokesman for the group who requested that persons interested in running for the school board write to Mrs. Betty Latner, 12 Rokeby Rd., Waban, by April 1, giving a brief outline of their qualifications.

The group's platform includes the following points: "Assurance of fiscal responsibility and response to citizens' requests for a more complete breakdown of the school budget. The School Committee must become more sensitive and responsive to the 26,500 households which constitute the entire city and not only to the 9,000 households which provide the students who attend the public schools.

The group also will demand

"open meetings of the full School Committee, not less often than once every three months, in which citizens may speak and question members; special attention to new school programs of demonstrated worth, with not so much attention to image building factors; use of impartial evaluators outside of Newton in regard to programs and policies in vital areas, as well as the Newton educational experts."

Mrs. Latner, temporary coordinator for the group, declared that support from most of the single session organization is expected for the slate her group picks.

The temporary coordinator will arrange for any necessary interviews of prospective candidates.

The group has stated that some of the present school committee members are acceptable to them because of their ability and performance and to insure continuity.

School Board Again Named METCO Agent

The Newton School Committee will again act as a submittal agent for the METCO program during the next school year.

Under State law one School Committee must submit the whole METCO program to the State Board of Education.

Superintendent Charles E. Brown said that the action "in no way affects Newton's relationship with METCO."

"We have been involved with approximately 50 students and will have the same number next year. In view of the fact that it is necessary for a single school system to be the submitting agent and that Newton so acted a year ago, we have been requested by the METCO board to be the submitting agent for the new proposals," Dr. Brown declared.

Brown explained that some new communities such as Weston will enter the program and that others will expand their METCO enrollment next year.

In answer to a query by Mayor Basbas, Dr. Brown said that the METCO program has a full-time administrative staff "which handles 99.9 per cent of the work."

He said that almost no organizational work for Newton educators was involved.

Prep School Meets Ch'mps Friday Night

One of the biggest and best hockey games of the school-year season looms tomorrow night when St. Sebastian's of Newton meets defending state champion Needham.

St. Sebastian's enters the fray with a record of beating previously undefeated teams, to wit: Melrose, 4-3, and Gloucester, 5-2.

Coach Henry Lane, a 1949 St. Sebastian graduate and former Boston College player, credits his team's success to "good balance." By that he meant "our scoring has been rather evenly divided between the first two lines. The defense has been solid and our goal-tending outstanding."

Lane, currently in his 10th season at the Newton school, has a lifetime record of 157 victories, 54 defeats and 14 ties. The present team boasts a 6-2 record.

The second line, center Jerry Downes and wings Mike Ready and Ron Rich, has accounted for 29 points.

"Our defense has been very sharp too," Lane pointed out. "Defensesmen Pete Cohn and Bob Bianchi have been standouts, and goalies Mark Donahue and Tom McWalter have given us the best one-two punch we've ever had in the nets."

Last Friday McWalter gained his second shut-out of the season, 8-0, against Cambridge Latin.

Sacred Heart Girl Sets Up New CYO Mark

A Sacred Heart High School girl achieved a CYO girl's record in last Friday's game against Sacred Heart of Weymouth. Kathy Delaney scored her thousandth point of her high school career.

She is a 17-year-old senior who hopes to major in physical education and become a coach. Her mother has coached the Sacred Heart team for many years.

JOSEPH E. KILLORY
METCO To Be Highlighted At Meeting

Joseph E. Killory, executive director of METCO (Metropolitan Council for Educational Opportunity) will be special guest panelist next Wednesday (January 18th) at an American Jewish Congress meeting that will put the spotlight on the unique busing program.

"METCO: Its Past, Its Present, Its Future," will be an open meeting-panel-type presentation under the auspices of the Emma Lazarus Chapter, Women's Division, New England-Suburban Region, A.J.C. It will take place at Newton Highlands Women's Club at 8:15 p.m.

Joining Mr. Killory, who is on leave of absence from the Massachusetts Department of Education, will be five researchers from the Congress chapter, as well as Mrs. Katherine Jones, METCO Executive Committee woman and Newton Coordinator.

Touch-Tone Dial Service Offered In Newton May 7

Touch-Tone telephone service is coming to Newton. The Telephone Co. said more than 20,000 Newton telephone subscribers in the 244,332,527 and 969 exchanges will be offered the new service by May 7.

Thomas E. Strouter, manager of the Telephone Co. of office at 1089 Washington St., West Newton, advised this week that if the dial tone of customers' telephones "sound different after Jan. 15, it isn't sick."

He said the new dial tone marks the introduction of Touch-Tone in the Newton area and "we're adding new equipment with the fastest and most modern telephone service."

Strout said the new system cuts average dialing from 14 seconds to five seconds. He said the present rotary dial takes 11 to 15 seconds.

Touch-Tone phones resemble adding machines with the numbers and letters on punch keys, not on a circular dial.

The phones are available in a variety of colors and styles, including a newly designed streamlined wall model to both business and residence customers.

More than 30 New England communities now have Touch-Tone dialing.

'66 Real Estate Activity Less Than In 1965

Real estate deeds recorded for Newton in November and in 11 months of 1966 were fewer than the number recorded in the same periods of 1965, according to "Trends," the report compiled by the First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

There were 61 deeds recorded last November, compared with 83 in November, 1965.

Newtonites In Fund Drive For Museum Of Art

Newton residents will be among the more than 900 civic leaders throughout the Greater Boston area who will be donating their time during the next two months to assure the success of the Centennial Development Fund Campaign of the Museum of Fine Arts.

The drive marks the first time in its 97 year history that the Museum, which is totally supported by private gifts, has made a general appeal for funds.

George C. Seybolt of Dedham, a museum trustee, is chairman of the initial phase of the campaign which seeks to raise $6-million in the next two months.

Local residents are taking an active part in the fund raising effort.

Mrs. George S. Alberts of Newton Highlands is a vice-chairman in the Major Gifts Division.

Serving as captains in this division are: Mrs. Edward A. Caredis, Newton; Mrs. Sylvester B. Kelley, Mrs. Norman S. Rabb, and Mrs. Edward Wagenknecht all of West Newton.

The initial money raised in the drive will be allocated to a three-part program: new construction, increased professional salaries, and acquisition of objects of world distinction.

The building program calls for a new wing, and the provision of two additions on the east side of the present building.

Announce Hours For Tests Of Weighing Devices

J. Ellis Bowen, Sealer of Weights and Measures of the City of Newton, has announced a statutory notice to the public to have all commercially used weighing and measuring devices tested at his office at City Hall.

Sealer Bowen's notice is addressed to all persons having or using weighing or measuring devices commercially in Newton, and is as follows:

"All individuals, partnerships, associations or trusts and corporations, using weighing or measuring devices for the purpose of buying or selling goods, wares or merchandise, for public weighing or for hire or reward doing business located in this City of Newton, are hereby notified to bring them in to the Department of Weights and Measures to be tested, adjusted, sealed or condemned by the Sealer."

The testing, adjusting, sealing and condemning of weighing and measuring devices will be performed on the following specified dates and times: Through Jan. 20, except Saturdays and Sundays, 8:30 to 9:30.

In pointing out the importance to the community of local weights and measures administration and enforcement with relation to scale and meter accuracy Sealer Bowen reports that he is not only concerned with the weighing devices of the butcher and grocer, but also the scales of the apothecary, where accuracy can spell the difference between death and life itself, the junk dealer, express company, candy stores, hardware stores and laundries as well as all gasoline vending pump meters, grease meters, fuel oil delivery truck meters and linear measures from yard sticks to taxi meters, not only to insure accuracy for the benefit of consumers, but for the benefit of vendors as well.

With reference to small inaccuracies that may seem inconsequential Sealer Bowen said, "A weighing error of one ounce per pound for 100 weighings a day causes a loss of 6 1/4 pounds. Multiplied by 300 days in a year of a commodity priced at $1 a pound, the resultant loss is $1,875. If a scale be fast, the loss is that of consumers. If the scale be slow, such loss falls upon the merchant."

"If a gasoline vending pump meter is in error by 1/10 gallon (1/50 part) on each five gallon delivery at 30c per gallon, such loss will be $60.00 on each 10,000 gallons, and over 40,000,000 gallons of motor vehicle fuel pass through Newton's pumps annually."

"In addition to testing, adjusting and sealing or condemning commercial devices, containers, linear measures, etc., Deputy Sealer, Silver and I, during the past year, have conducted thousands of inspections and trial weighings of merchandise prepackaged in anticipation of sale to insure the proper use of devices and fair merchandising practices.

"Computation of governmental statistics," said Sealer Bowen, "indicates that within Newton a 2% error in quantity determinations of only three items, food, motor vehicle fuel, and fuel oil, would cause an annual loss of over $1,000,000. Without the surveillance of Newton's Weights and Measures Department, the testing and approval of all commercially used weighing and measuring devices, and the actual spot checking of labeled quantity statements appearing on prepackaged merchandise offered for sale which include, in addition to food for human consumption, other commodities and service such as seed and grain, animal foods, pharmaceuticals, linear measurements of fabrics, wire, rope, milage measured by taximeters, counting scales used for payment of piecework wages, etc., losses could be even more substantial."

West Suburban Chapter, ADA, Elects Slate

Officers for 1967 were elected at a recent meeting of West Suburban Chapter, Americans for Democratic Action, held in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Martin A. Berezin, 90 Forest Ave., West Newton.

Teachers May Take Part In Annual Fellowship Program

For the fourth year, teachers in the Newton Public Schools have the opportunity to participate in the Annual Fellowship Program. This is a plan that permits a teacher to be away from his regular teaching duties for as many as five days so that he may concentrate on an area of study which has particular significance to his work.

This released time, without loss of pay, may be utilized for academic or professional study or research or for the preparation of materials and equipment for use in the classroom.

Sponsored by the Newton Teachers Association, the Fellowship Plan is directed toward promoting the highest level of teacher performance. The Association, interested in the professional development of its members, feels that this program of released time aids and encourages teachers in initiating and pursuing studies.

All Newton teachers are invited to submit applications, and awards are made on the uniqueness of the plan, the quality of the proposed project, and the value to the individual receiving the award.

In the past year, ten people received fellowships. A sampling of the titles includes such ones as, "Comparative Study of the History of Ghana and the Union of South Africa," and "Evaluation and Projection of an Existing First Grade Linguistic Program."

Teachers who are interested in receiving grants for the current school year are now submitting their proposals to the Newton Teachers Association and may do so until January 16. Announcements of award winners will be made February first.

A.L. Umpire And Curt Gowdy To Receive Tribute

Special awards for their participation in sports that has tended to further the cause of human brotherhood will be made to Curt Gowdy, nationally renowned sportscaster, and Emmett Ashford, colorful American League umpire, at the 34th annual Good Will Dinner of Brookline's Temple Cohabei Shalom Brotherhood Tuesday evening, Jan. 24, at 6:30 o'clock.

The dinner is to be held at the Temple.

Toastmaster of the evening will be Ben G. Shapiro, head of the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination, who has filled that role for 34 consecutive Brotherhood dinners.

Curt Gowdy's list of credits in sports broadcasting reads like the "Who's Who of World Events." Former voice of the Red Sox, he is now handling many of the greatest sporting events for the National Broadcasting Company.

Emmet Ashford, the first Negro ever to become a big league umpire, is an outstanding individual worthy of the honor bestowed on him by the Brotherhood, according to Joe Cronin, American League president.

Baseball has been no bed of roses for him. He has been insulted, reviled and even socked in the jaw. But he has persisted, and is probably better known than any umpire in either league.

"It has been a long, long road to the major leagues," says Emmett, "and I intend to earn the right to stay."

BAILEY TO APPEAL DeSALVO GUILT VERDICT

AN ALL-MALE JURY has convicted self-confessed Boston Strangler Albert H. DeSalvo on sex, assault and burglary charges. DeSalvo was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Superior Court Judge Cornelius J. Moynihan stayed execution of the sentence pending an appeal to the Massachusetts Supreme Court by celebrated attorney, F. Lee Bailey of Boston.

Bailey, who has won fame in the Sheppard and Coppelino murder trials, took his loss bitterly. "Massachusetts has just burned another witch," he said. "It is not the fault of the jury but the fault of the law." The lawyer had contended his 35-year-old client should be found innocent by reason of insanity and committed to a mental institution.

NAVY, ARMY OUTFITS AWAIT SHIFT NEWS

WORD WAS AWAITED today by Massachusetts Naval and military personnel on the shift of their outfits under a coast-to-coast reorganization economy move by the Defense Department. Confirmation of the plan is expected to be given today.

Affected in this state are the 1st Naval District in Boston, expected to be consolidated with the 3rd Naval District in New York, with the headquarters going to the latter city; and the 13th U.S. Army Corps at Fort Devens, expected to be eliminated and its functions transferred to the U.S. headquarters in New York.

B-R-R-R TEMPERATURE GRIP BOSTON AREA

COLD ARCTIC AIR swept down on Greater Boston and the rest of New England during the night and early morning temperatures today were flirting with the zero mark in many communities off the coast. Sub-zero temperatures hit northern sections of Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine.

Skiers' hopes of new snow accompanying the cold wave were dashed with the forecast of a near zero probability of precipitation today and only 10 per cent chance tomorrow.

JUSTICE DEPT. MOVES TO BAR A.B.C., I.T. MERGER

The Justice Department has moved to temporarily bar the merger of the American Broadcasting Company and the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation. The department said that approval of the merger by the Federal Communications Commission has raised "important questions regarding the commission's application of the public interest standard in this case." Justice officials said the FCC had authorized the merger without making an adequate analysis of its competitive effect.

TITAN FERRIES 8 RADIO SATELLITES INTO SPACE

The AIR FORCE doubled the Defense Department's globe girdling satellite communications network Wednesday by stringing eight radio relay stations around the world with one rocket.

A triple-barreled Titan 3C "rocket bus" performed the eight-in-one launch with apparent perfection. It zoomed into one orbit, switched to another and finally soared into a near-circular path about 21,000 miles above the equator six hours after launch. The Titan's versatile third stage then dropped off each of its 100-pound passengers, one-by-one, into slightly different paths.

BEAUTY QUEEN SIGNED BAKER CHECKS

DR. FRED M. MILLER, an FBI handwriting expert, identified the late Carolee Tyler, beauty queen secretary to former Senate aide Robert G. Bobby Baker, as the endorser of checks made out to Baker's friend and associate, John L. Bromley.

The government, nearing the end of its case against Baker, has charged that Bromley accepted checks in his own name from various business interests and turned the money over to Baker. Bromley has testified he asked Baker to stop the arrangement in mid-1964 but that subsequent checks were returned with his name signed by someone else.

LIBERALS LOSE SENATE FILIBUSTER FIGHT

LIBERALS LOST their fight for the right to amend the Senate's antifilibuster rule by a majority vote at the start of a new session of Congress. The vote was 61-37.

Their defeat came when the Senate, at the invitation of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, upheld a point of order by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen challenging the liberals' move as "unconstitutional."

CONNOR RESIGNS AS COMMERCE CHIEF

PRESIDENT JOHNSON has accepted the resignation of Commerce Secretary John T. Connor, effective early in February.

Connor's retirement, after two years of cabinet service, was disclosed by the White House in an exchange of letters between the President and the commerce secretary. The President named Assistant Secretary Alexander B. Trowbridge to be acting commerce secretary.

STOCK MARKET STILL RISING

HOPE WANES FOR LIFE OF MELLON HEIRRESS

HOPE WAS WANING early today that the two-engine plane carrying Mrs. Audrey Bruce Currier, 33-year-old heirress to a $700 million share of the Mellon financial empire, and her husband, Stephen R. Currier, 36, would be found in the Caribbean.

The Curriers were long overdue in their vacation flight from Puerto Rico to St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands. Far into the night a massive air-sea search combed the sea and all possible land masses, but no sighting were reported.

U.S. JETS BURN OUT VIET JUNGLE HIDEOUT

AIR FORCE B52s burned out 18 square miles of a major Communist hideaway jungle yesterday with saturation fire bombing of the type that terrorized German cities in World War II.

The bombers swept in waves 20,000 feet over the 200-foot high trees of the southeast corner of War Zone D and dumped tons of World War II type incendiary bombs that broke up into smaller magnesium bomblets before striking earth, spokesmen said.

RED CHINA PRESIDENT MAY BE PRISONER

COMMUNIST CHINESE President Liu Shao-chi may be under house arrest in a walled Peking compound where ranking government officials reside, intelligence sources say.

They said it was unlikely he could have fled the Red Chinese capital as reported Tuesday by Hong Kong newspapers. Those dispatches said Liu had escaped Peking and set up a "battle" headquarters 225 miles southeast of the capital to consolidate his opposition to Chairman Mao Tse-Tung.

U. S. ADMITS USING THAILAND BASES

THAILAND BASES have been and are being used by American troops to participate in the Vietnam war, it was officially acknowledged by the United States. The use of the bases has been an open secret for at least three years.

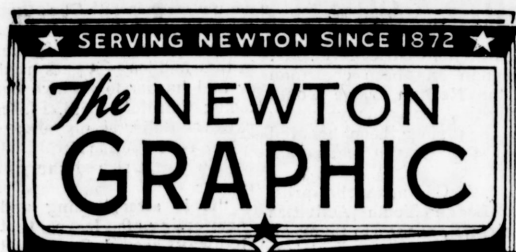

Ambassador Graham Martin, in a speech to the American Chamber of Commerce in Bangkok, also disclosed that U.S. helicopter crews now ferrying Thai troops into combat against Communist guerrillas in northeast Thailand, would be "reassigned" to other duties within two weeks. He did not specify whether the airmen would be pulled out of Thailand.

Cong. Heckler Votes Against Party's Lineup

Congresswoman Margaret M. Heckler, whose district includes Newton, already has demonstrated her independence on Washington's Capitol Hill and has served notice that she cannot and will not give blind support to the Republican leadership in the national House.

Her break with the GOP leaders came during a battle over a proposal that the powerful House Rules Committee be required to report out every bill within 21 days after getting it.

Meadowbrook Pilot School Here Praised

The Meadowbrook Junior High School in Newton Centre was designated one of the nation's most "thoughtfully innovative" schools this week, by a group especially dedicated to promoting studied change in schools.

The special recognition for Newton's pilot school came from the Institute for Development of Education Activities, which is sponsored by the Charles F. Kettering Foundation, a non-profit organization whose goal is to support carefully reasoned development in the nation's schools.

The designation will make the Meadowbrook Junior High School the only school in New England and one of 36 in the country, eligible to take part in a national "demonstrations schools" project.

Superintendent of Newton Schools Charles E. Brown commented yesterday that participation in the project will benefit the Meadowbrook Junior High School in two ways: first, the school

"A spontaneous response by families who have not participated could put the drive over the top," he said.

He also expressed the hospital's gratitude to citizens

Construction Due To Start In April

City's $2-Million Bigelow School Most Modern In U.S.

Construction of the new $2.9 million Bigelow Junior High School in Newton, which will be one of the most modern schools in the nation, is scheduled to start in April.

Not only will the school be air-conditioned for comfort during the warm weather, but it will have the most up-to-date electronic equipment to assist the children attending it in the business of acquiring an education.

It will accommodate 800 pupils, who, according to present plans, will move into the new building at the start of the school year in September, 1968.

At that time the work of demolishing the present school will be started. A barrier will separate the new and old schools during the demolition work.

A $2.6 million bond issue was approved unanimously by the members of the Board of Aldermen at their meeting Monday night to provide the bulk of the funds for the erection and equipment of the new junior high school.

A $300,000 appropriation was approved previously to finance the preliminary work in connection with the construction of the school.

The new school building will be built on land adjacent to the present Bigelow Junior High School located at 145 Arlington St. Five houses have been taken by the city and torn down to provide the site for the new structure.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas officially approved the bond issue yesterday.

Foreign Students Briefed On Local City Government

Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas recently devoted an afternoon to acquainting American Field Service foreign students living in Newton with Newton's unicameral system of government, the day-to-day workings of Newton's municipal organization, and the functions of the Newton Board of Aldermen.

Mayor Basbas also took the occasion to proclaim the week beginning Monday, January 23rd as American Field Service Week.

The four foreign students enjoying the hospitality of Newton homes for the year are: Barbara Patzec from Weisbaden, Germany, living with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Sepinuck, Evelyn Road, Waban; Thierry Bingen from Brussels, Belgium, residing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kumin, Bradford road, Newton Highlands.

Waban Man Named To Education Post

A Waban resident, Dr. Richard M. Millard of 18 White Oak Rd., will enter on his new duties as coordinator of the educational efforts of the Commonwealth's institutions of higher learning on March 1.

The 49-year-old Dean of Boston University College of Liberal Arts was elected chancellor by unanimous vote of the State Board of Higher Education at a special meeting in the State Office Building last Friday. The board also voted him a salary of $30,000 a year.

Search for a chancellor had occupied a year, during which members of the board were unable to come to an agreement. Two members resigned as a result of the dispute.

Last fall, the members did give the Waban man their unanimous support, but he declined the proffered post because he was then a candidate for president of B.U.

However, the trustees of the University chose Dr. Arland Christ-Janer of Cornell College, Iowa, for the presidency.

Dr. Millard is a native of Athens, Tenn., and a graduate of DePauw University, Indiana, in 1941. His master's and doctor's degrees were

Ouster of Powell Predicted By Bay State Congressmen

A majority of the Massachusetts members of Congress believe that Congressman Adam Clayton Powell will be ousted from the national House two months from now and that President Johnson's proposal for a 6 per cent surcharge on federal income taxes either will be rejected or trimmed downward.

This is significant because all eight Democratic Congressmen from the Bay State voted to permit Powell to take his seat in the House pending an investigation by a special congressional committee into Powell's sordid affairs and his moral and legal irregularities.

Two of them said their justification for voting as they did was that they felt Powell should be given a full hearing before being deprived of his right to participate in House deliberations and to vote on matters to come before the body.

At the same time they conceded privately that they probably know as much about Powell's peccadilloes now as they're likely to know two months from now.

Elks Announce Winners Of Youth Leadership Contest

Newton Lodge of Elks this week announces the winners of the annual "Youth Leadership" contest.

This year's winners are, Miss Jacqueline M. Nolan, a senior at Presentation High School, and Theodore Maslowski, a senior at Our Lady Help of Christians.

A special award is being made this year to Daniel J. Pagnano also of Our Lady Help of Christians.

The contest is held annually for pupils of all Newton schools and the winning entries are sent on to the district chairman for district judging. These winners will then be eligible for the state judging and national awards.

Richard P. Brennan will conduct the judging of the entries at the district level. Mr. Brennan has been chairman of the Newton Lodge Youth Activities for many years and has since been honored with the district chairmanship.

Mr. A. C. Raphanella, present Lodge Youth Activities chairman, wishes to thank all students for their participation in this contest and they will receive applications in the near future for the "Valuable Student Awards."

The judges selected by Chairman Raphanella were Henry Van Unen, trustee Newton Lodge and Vice President Newton National Bank, H. James Shea, Jr., Newton Alderman and Roger Rainville, Jr., Chaplain, State St. Trust, Boston.

Lincoln

for the young ladies as well. Both innovations created interest in educational circles; only the art collection stuck!

Lasell historians smile when they tell you the White House story, a definite accompaniment to viewing the picture. Claude E. Simmonds of Boston, one of the leading Lincolnians in the area, researched the problem of the Lasell Lincoln.

It is exactly similar to the one in the Malden High School by Bicknell. Which of the two is the original could not be ascertained. But an account of Bicknell's death in the Malden Evening News of April 23, 1915 stated that he had . . . just completed (the painting) for the Malden High School to be purchased by friends of the school and placed in the school library.

From this it could be assumed that the Lasell portrait was a copy—or vice versa! If vice versa how and when was the Lasell portrait done? Neither signature nor date adorns the portrait. No bill of sale exists. No memorandum of acquisition can be found.

Simmonds' research concerning Lasell's Lincoln took him through his own files and then to those at the Boston Public Library, the Athenaeum, the New England Historical and Genealogical Society, the Fogg Art Museum, the State Library, the Malden Public Library, the Malden High School. He even went to Probate Court in Cambridge for a copy of Bicknell's will.

His research shed no light on Lasell's portrait of Lincoln but it divulged considerable information about the artist, whose other Lincoln portraits are in the following places: State House, Augusta, Maine; Public Library, Dexter, Maine; State House, Boston; Thayer Academy, Braintree, Massachusetts; Home of Alvin T. Fuller, Jr., Rye Beach, New Hampshire; Malden Public Library (Lincoln at Gettysburg); Malden High School, Malden; Lasell Junior College, Auburndale.

Bicknell was born in Turner, Maine in 1837 and began to study art at a very early age, and for a time in Boston. His studies later took him to Europe. He returned to Boston in 1864 and maintained his home and studio in Malden, where he died at the age of seventy-eight.

Bicknell painted marine subjects, still life, genre and landscapes, and was an etcher and engraver also. But the artist is chiefly known for his historical paintings and portraits. Among the public men whom he painted were, in addition to Lincoln, Daniel Webster, Horace Mann, Rufus Choate, Charles Sumner.

Mayor Gets More Thanks F'm Vietnam

Mayor Monte G. Basbas this week received two more letters from Newton servicemen in Vietnam expressing thanks for the Christmas gift packages sent them in the drive made by the Graphic to see that the fighting men from this city were remembered at Yuletide.

Both men said they enjoyed their presents, but stressed that it mattered much more to them that people at home cared about their presence in the Far East.

Bruce I. Kowal wrote from the USS Tanner, based in Vung Tan, Vietnam, to the Mayor and Mrs. Basbas:

"It was with great surprise and pleasure that I received your wonderful Christmas gift. After being at sea for a while — we spent Christmas in that fashion — it gets harder and harder to acquire fine foods; therefore a S.S. Pierce package delighted myself and my Greater Boston shipmates with whom I shared the contents.

"It is strengthening and comforting to learn that halfway around the world from Vietnam there are people like the both of you who know we are here.

"You might get the impression that Bob Hope and other entertainers visit practically everyone over here — but this is not true. Only land bases and ships as large as carriers get the entertainers, and consequently, a reminder that people back in the states know about us. Your thoughtful gift served as that kind of a reminder."

Another letter came from Marine Captain Stan Clayman:

"I wish to thank you and your family for the delicious Christmas present. However, the joy of knowing people think and care about us over here surpasses the joy of receiving.

"Again I thank you and all those that will share with me thank you. May your New Year be successful and bright."

will be assisted in its effort to improve its educational program and second, the school will be aided in evaluating its program and reporting to parents and other teachers.

The Institute for Development of Educational Activities supports conferences on many levels from local to national, publications designed to meet the specific needs of the teachers in the school in question; consultants to assist the faculties of participating schools in program improvement; and offers the services of a national center which provides material which teachers can use in organizing the curriculum to give more individual instructions.

It is hoped that other activities will be supported by a grant from the U.S. Office of Education.

Eugene R. Howard, director of the project, complimented the Newton public school system on Meadowbrook Junior High School's "exemplary progress" in individualizing instruction.

"The administration and staff of the Meadowbrook School," said Howard, "have shown by their past achievements that they are willing to proceed carefully and thoughtfully as they introduce promising new educational practices into the school."

"The School Committee, administration, faculty, parents, and students have every reason to be proud of the past achievements of the Meadowbrook Junior High School," he said.

"It is our belief that the Demonstration Schools Project can be of service to the administration and faculty of the Meadowbrook Junior High School as they make significant improvements in their educational program."

"We also expect," Howard concluded, "that other schools throughout the country can benefit from learning about the educational program at the Meadowbrook School."

Young GOP Club Wires Johnson

The executive board of the Newton Young Republican Club recently voted unanimously to send the following telegram to President Lyndon B. Johnson:

"The Newton Young Republican Club deplored the fact that in your State of the Union message you manifested a callous indifference towards a balanced federal budget. In view of the needs of our troops in Vietnam, it would seem that some sacrifices on the home front should be called for in an attempt to balance the budget."

Appreciation To Red Cross From Vietnam

John B. Youngs, Red Cross Field Director, attached to the 4th Infantry Division wrote Newton Red Cross, thanking them for the ditty bags sent out to the men in Vietnam.

Newton Red Cross, received a request transmitted from National, that the United States Government wished to provide Christmas gifts in the form of ditty bags for the men overseas.

Upon arrival there they were to be distributed to the servicemen by Red Cross personnel. The Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross shipped 500 filled ditty bags to Vietnam.

Mr. Youngs stated that the gifts were received on the 22 of December just in time for Christmas and he stated the men were most grateful to the volunteers who did this work.

The men serving in faraway places are always grateful for remembrances from those back home, Mr. Youngs said.

This provision was advocated because the Rules Committee in the past has bottled up progressive legislation and prevented it from getting to the floor of Congress.

House Speaker John W. McCormack supported the so-called 21-day rule, under which every bill comes out of the committee with or without a report at the end of 21 days.

Republican House Leader Gerald Ford opposed the rule as did a number of Southern Democrats.

When Ford sought to marshal solid Republican opposition to the rule, however, Congresswoman Heckler broke away from him and voted for the 21-day rule.

She subsequently explained that she did not consider she could be a party to allowing the Rules Committee to sit on bills in order to prevent them from being voted on by the full body.

Congressman Heckler also asserted that she regards it as her responsibility to vote on each matter on its merits.

Whether her demonstration of independence will hamper her in getting a committee assignment she is seeking is uncertain.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Student Speaks Up

Editor of The Graphic:

My letter is referring to the one written by Mrs. M. Cohen on Jan. 12.
Mrs. Cohen seems to be very upset with our Meadowbrook system.

As a student in the ninth grade at M.D.B.K. having 2 years of "regular program" (more commonly referred to as Tri-Delta) and this being my first of the New System, I must say that I have learned more this year than ever before.

I have passed as many tests as I have in the years before, but being able to choose a course that interests me (with House Advisor's consent) is much better than being thrown into one that does not (Tri-Delta). I believe I have gained more knowledge not being afraid of "THE MARKS." Also the problem of cheating, which seems to be so rampant throughout schools, has been lessened because kids seem to work to learn, not to please mommy and daddy with an "A" on a report card. Isn't the purpose of school "TO LEARN?"

Mrs. Cohen, I have a question for you. Why weren't you concerned enough to find out what your child was taking before half the year was over? On that point I believe YOU were the one at fault for not finding out and then making an appointment with your child's House Advisor if you were displeased. You mention Drama not to be an English course; if you look closely at what your child is studying in Drama you will realize it is.

Next you proceed to tear apart the Learning Centers. On this perhaps your child did not understand the full meaning of getting help in a Center. Instead of just pulling the Center IBM card, he should pull the card with his teacher's name on it. This will probably insure the fact that he will definitely get help since his name is on the list. Although, more often than not, he will be attended to even if he just pulls a Center card. "Just studying" has never hurt anyone before. I also differ with you on the point of Teacher Aide's. All have been ready and capable to help when I've needed it. All the Aides have college degrees.

Our curriculum is not in a constant state of change. All other Newton Jr. High Schools have 4 terms just as we do. Our Math and Foreign Language stay the same throughout the entire year.

The guidance counselors are ready and willing to speak to students and parents whenever a problem arises. Many do not take advantage of this privilege.

If a child is not yet responsible to make decisions by himself, his advisor will help him to do it. This is where many parents should step in but do not. If you realize your child needs help in English Grammar, advise him to take a Grammar course. The House Advisor most certainly will anyway.

In fact, if a child is doing poorly in any subject the Advisor will and must make him take the course on it.

Answers Letter

Editor of The Graphic:

I wish to clear up some of the misconceptions about Meadowbrook Junior High School that were brought up by Mrs. M. Cohen in a letter to this newspaper.

(1) The Continuous Learning system is not of benefit only to the "highly motivated, aggressive students." In fact, in the opinion of Meadowbrook teachers who have been here since the beginning of this project, Continuous Learning has helped the average students more so than the bright students.

(2) A Meadowbrook student can choose a course in a given subject. This does not mean that he can elect not to take that subject! All course selections must be checked by teachers to assure that they are suitable for his learning level.

(3) Meadowbrook students are not confused! Any student in Meadowbrook knows exactly where he is going, and why he is going there.

(4) Every four weeks a copy of your child's "study plan" for each course, with comments on his work, goes home to parents. Every eight weeks a form goes home comparing your child's achievements with the class achievement level, and his personal achievement level. Can a letter grade do this? Can a letter grade tell you why your child is flunking English?

If a parent still wants to know more about how his child is doing, all he has to do is telephone the school and make an appointment to see his teachers.

(5) The high school achievements and SAT scores of pupils graduating from this program have not proved the Continuous Learning system inferior. If anything, they have shown it to be superior to what is considered a normal curriculum.

I think that it is only fair to your readers that you print this letter, so that they can see both sides of this important issue. I think the only people who can really judge this system are the students and the teachers.

Signed,
Michael Hecht

Wants True Picture

Editor of The Graphic:

I am unhappy about the Newton Graphic which we feel is, or should be, our "All Newton" newspaper. Specifically, it seems to me that reporting of news about our school system, and printing of Letters to the Editor about our schools, could give a much more complete, accurate, and responsible picture of the way things really are than unfortunately is now the case.

For example, in a January 12 news story headed "City Wide Move to Form School Committee Slate":

(a) "With the exception of the 'Temporary Coordinator,' no member of the 'city-wide group' was identified by name, not even its spokesman;

(b) No mention was made of the fact that "open meetings of the full School Committee" are the present rule, and that any citizen who wishes to speak at such a meeting has only to make his request in advance of the meeting, and he will be heard;

(c) The school budget is a public record, and is well publicized by the Newton Graphic, among others. Interested citizens are also allowed to attend the meetings where the budget is established.

A few basic facts like these seem to us to be a minimum requirement for a balanced report about a severely criti-

Dr. Coles Will Be Speaker For Peirce Meeting

Dr. Robert Coles, research psychiatrist at Harvard University, will deliver a talk before the Peirce School P.T.A. on "Segregation, Integration and the Child," on Wednesday, January 25, at 7:45 o'clock.

His special contribution to clinical psychiatry is a series of studies on the effects of rapid and intensive social change on children who are caught up in it. He has conducted investigations, for example, into the psychiatric impact of desegregation on both Negro and white children in the Deep South and in cities of the North.

His published papers and articles appear in over 100 journals, newspapers and magazines, including The New York Times, The Times of London, The Atlantic Monthly, Harpers, The Saturday Review, The American Scholar, The Reporter, Daedalus, Dissent and Book Week.

After graduating from Harvard College in 1950, Dr. Coles received his M.D. from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, in 1954. As a psychiatrist he has held appointments at the Massachusetts General Hospital, the McLean Hospital, the Judge Baker Guidance Center, the U. S. Air Force, and the Harvard Medical School.

His lecture at the Peirce School, Temple St., West Newton, is free and open to the public.

cal group such as this one. It is hardly responsible to include only the platform and charges of such a group, which imply some fairly fundamental things that are not true.

The group favors "... school programs of demonstrated worth, with... (less) attention to image building..." May we suggest that the only way an organization remains alive, vital, and abreast of the times is precisely by experimenting with new programs, whose worth or lack of worth can only be determined by trying. It is true that some false starts and some failures are inevitable with this approach; it is even truer that staying with the old, tried-and-true programs leads only to hardening of the arteries and eventual atrophy.

We wonder how the group would select "impartial evaluators outside of Newton." Perhaps they do not know how closely our school system works with the Harvard Graduate School of Education, and how we fully exploit the outstanding human and institutional resources inside and outside our city. Another point which may have escaped the group's attention is that "the image building factors" and an excellent national press afforded us the incremental benefit of having leading organizations come to us with new ideas. The Ford Foundation grants for technical — vocational programs, Tufts and Harvard grants for work with the mentally retarded children, WGBH, ESI, and Harvard-Newton Summer School all come quickly to mind.

Please allow Mrs. Arafé's fears about breaking the elementary school attendance laws. Newton presently has an exemption from the state's minimum hours until a decision is reached about the new schedule. It should be some relief to know that by then we will no longer lag behind some of our neighbors, like Boston, which have been meeting these all-important criteria for time out of mind. This done, we may then be able to meet head-on the but-tered hamburger issue.

Thanks Coverage

Editor of The Graphic:
I wish to thank your newspaper for providing excellent coverage of Newton School Committee and School Department affairs.

It is appropriate at this time to also thank you for your news item of January 12th. However, I would like to clear up any possible misunderstanding in regard to the statement in that article "support from most of the single session organizations is expected for the slate her group picks." The Single Session Organization or Single Session Committee as such has made no official statement that they are interested in my group or any other issue apart from a single session for their children.

Many people in my group are interested in a single session, but they are acting as individuals, not only concerned with a single session, but with many other vital —LETTERS—

Political Highlights

From the answers given by both Democratic and Republican Congressmen to the questions put to them it is apparent that they believe Powell will be expelled from Congress at the conclusion of the investigation.

However, they also expect that Powell's Harlem constituents will elect him again and that the members of Congress will have little alternative but to seat him if and when the voters return him to Capitol Hill after his anticipated expulsion.

One Congressman declared flatly that the recent action of the House members in denying Powell his seat while allowing him to continue drawing his pay and travel allowances and maintain his office staff was nothing but a stall.

He pointed out that the time to have settled the issue of whether Powell should be seated or expelled from Congress was when the body convened to open its 1967 session and that the investigation by a special committee probably will turn up nothing that isn't already known.

But most of the members of Congress, Democrats and Republicans alike, weren't ready to face up to that issue. They wanted a report from a special committee on which to hang their hats. Of course, nobody wanted to serve on the committee.

Some of the top Republican leaders also voiced concern about the effect the expulsion of Powell from Congress would have on the 1968 Presidential election.

They obviously believe that it would be sounder politically to oust Powell after they have gone through the motions of giving him a full hearing than without a special investigation.

Another Congressman queried by the writer offered the opinion that both the public and the members of Congress are now being prepared and conditioned for the ouster of a House member.

No Congressman questioned by this observer believes that Powell will be cleared by the special committee or that he will not be expelled from office even though that will require a two-thirds vote.

In fact, there is a feeling that some of the Congressmen who voted to allow Powell to take his seat pending an investigation may feel compelled to vote to remove him when the probe is completed and the committee submits its report.

Many of those Congressmen will feel the weight of public pressure in the form of letters from the folks back home who strongly resent and disapprove of Powell's flagrant misuse of public funds.

No one disputes the fact that a number of other Congressmen have committed some of the same offenses as Powell although not as openly or blatantly as Powell, and no other member of the House as far as we know is a fugitive from justice.

It's true that the expulsion of Powell from Congress would not cause other Congressmen to desist from the practice of taking junkets at public expense or putting relatives on the public payroll.

It's over-simplifying the situation, however, to say, as some writers have done, that Powell faces probable ouster from the national House because he embarrassed the Establishment in Congress.

The fact is that Powell aroused public opinion to such an extent that the members of Congress were forced to take some action if they were to hold any public respect for the body in which they serve.

From where we sit the argument that Powell should not have been denied his seat pending investigation because it deprives the people of his district of representation is a bit ridiculous.

If the people of Powell's district want to continue the kind of representation he has given them, that's their privilege.

But that representation mostly has consisted of pious platitudes issued from afar.

Since the court judgment was returned against him in a libel suit, Powell has spent a substantial part of his time in Bimini and none of it in the district he represents. He missed about half the rollcalls in Congress last year.

While it's true, as stated earlier, that other Congressmen have relatives on their payrolls and take junkets at public expense, none of them is accused of outright fraud, of falsifying airplane tickets or of having a domestic servant on the government payroll.

Those who argue that Powell is entitled to a full and fair hearing before final judgment is passed on him seem to forget that when he was invited to appear before a congressional subcommittee to defend himself against payroll and travel abuses, he arrogantly declined and remained in Bimini.

These are some of the rea-ings and turned the chairmanship of the GOP State Committee over to State Senator John F. Parker of Taunton.

Parker, now the Republican leader in the Senate, is an extremely capable but articulate politician. He usually works quietly and effectively. But he does not have the same flair for creating headlines as did Buck Dumaine.

Dumaine's statements not infrequently caused consternation and dismay in sedate Republican circles. He periodically opened his mouth and put his foot so far into it he must have scraped his tonsils.

However, he did pump lifeblood into the veins of the Republican State Committee when its friends had all but given it up for dead. And he let it be known that the GOP was still alive.

After the Republicans won the Governorship, the Attorney Generalship and the Lieutenant Governorship in the 1964 election, Dumaine stepped out in the interest of party harmony.

Now the members of the Republican State Committee are on the verge of electing a new chairman to succeed Parker who resigned to devote his entire time to his senatorial duties, and there are loud rumblings that a substantial number of them would like to see Dumaine back in the chairmanship.

Dumaine isn't likely to fight to get the job. When he last held it, he drew no pay, and he dug down in his own pocket and loaned the committee $125,000 to keep it going.

Top Republican leaders have picked Josiah A. Spaulding of Manchester to be the next GOP State Chairman.

But they might encounter trouble in putting Spaulding over if Dumaine yields to the wishes of those committee members who would like to draft him as a candidate for the chairmanship.

If Dumaine declines a draft, Spaulding probably will get the post. But if Dumaine accepts a draft, there will be a real battle when the GOP committee members convene to elect their next chairman.

Lee Loumos Says:

Now that the Super-bowl game has gone down into history, what has it proven? Definitely that Green Bay was a better team than Kansas City on that day and possibly that it is a better team on any day. But that's all it proved to me. I want to wait till next summer's exhibition games between the leagues for a better appraisal of the relative merits of the two leagues. I do, however, still think that the Patriots would have given the Packers a better fight. They are a second ball team and I don't think they would have come apart in the latter stages of the game. Oh well, perhaps next year we will learn more. In the meantime, as much as I have enjoyed televised football, I am happy to say good bye to it for the nonce and now look forward to some excellent golf. Keep your color TV sets warmed up!

Trojan Club Charity Work Is Outstanding

The Trojan Club, an independent, non-sectarian organization whose members are high school-age boys from Newton and Brookline, has raised well over $2000 this year for the Cystic Fibrosis fund and the Herbert J. Gardner fund.

In its 36 years of existence, the Trojan Club has never found it necessary to resort to adult leadership or assistance. By use of a selective system of accepting members, it has had success unequalled by any other independent boys club.

The club's Christmas Eve dance was a tremendous success, and its proceeds applied to the two aforementioned funds.

ARCHITECT'S SKETCH of proposed new Bigelow Junior High School on which work is scheduled to start in April. This is how the school will look from Vernon Street. It will be air-conditioned, will contain electronic equipment and will be one of the most modern school buildings in the United States.

The proposal must also be submitted to the State Emergency Finance Board a week from Tuesday (Jan. 31). It is anticipated that the Board will approve it that day.

The City will then advertise for bids for the erection of the school. Mayor Basbas said yesterday that he hopes that the bids will be in and opened by March 1.

If construction is begun in April, phase I of the new junior high school is scheduled to be completed by September, 1968.

Phase I of the new Bige-low School will contain 16 non-specialized classrooms, three science rooms, three homemaking rooms, two art rooms, a lecture hall, and a music area which will include four rooms for practice and a music li-brary.

The phase to be completed a year from next September also includes a library which will have audio-visual facili-ties and a language labora-tory with electronic equip-ment where students will sit in individual booths and be able to compare their own command of the language un-der study with that of a na-tive speaker as well as per-form exercises that simulta-neously converse in the fore-ign tongue.

A cafeteria and a kitchen, custodial quarters and a boiler room as well as toilet facili-ties for the students will com-plete the first phase of the new Bigelow Junior High School.

After the students move into their new surroundings in September, 1968, phase 2 will consist of a gymnasium, with locker facilities and showers for boys and girls, as well as a staff dining room and lounge for teachers, two shops, one mechanical draw-ing room, additional rest room facilities, storage and office space.

City officials pointed out that one of the unusual features of the new school will be that its windows will occupy less area than that taken up by the windows in most schools, although,

Newton Tech In A Squeaker

Newton Technical High School barely topped Brock-ton Trade School last Thurs-day night in Brockton.

Score of the non-league basketball game was Newton 40, Brockton 39.

There were only two min-utes left to play when Dave Fucci's two foul shots gave Newton the victory.

Pacemaker for Newton was Stu Watts, who accounted for 24 points.

they will be in excess of the minimum set by State regulations.

They explained that cur-rent architectural theory rules out large windows and replaces them with artificial light, which is more constant than natural light, and with air-conditioning ventilation at the school will be in excess of the standards set by the state.

At the Aldermanic meeting, Alderman Paul J. Burke chal-lenged the bond issue request-ed, recalling that the original estimate made four years ago was $2,250,000. It was ex-plainined that cost has risen about five percent during each year of the elapsed time, and that some additions have been made to the original plan.

It was stressed, however, that the air conditioning would not add to the build-ing's cost since it permitted reduction in the height of the rooms and indirectly cut fuel costs by eliminating calroy-absorbing window space.

All 18 Aldermen in attend-ance at the session finally voted for the $2.6 million measure.

DES Office Is Recruiting Trainees In 3 Categories

The Division of Em-ployment Security office at 290 Centre St., Newton Corner, is recruiting for three types of training under the Manpower Development and Training Act is called. The Federal Government has ap-propriated a great deal of money in order to teach people new skills so that they can make a better living. If you lack skills or have only a low-paid job, come in and try to better yourself through an MDTA course. All people who need help are eligible to apply.

First course on the sched-ule will be for production machine operators and will start in February at Newton Technical High School. Trainees will be taught to operate lathes, drill presses, grinders and all equipment in a ma-chine shop.

So great is the demand for help in this area, applicants can be assured of being placed as soon as training is completed. In some instances, trainees can be placed on part-time jobs while attend-ing school five afternoons a week.

Trainees will be paid an allowance while attending the course and all transportation expenses will be paid. A man can work 20 hours a week part-time.

The second course on the agenda is for arc welder, to start in March. Instruction for this course will be carried on at the Waltham Trade School. Placement of trainees from this course is also cer-tain upon completion of the course.

Last on our schedule is the course for clerk-typist. This may either be a refresher course to re-activate skills grown rusty from disuse or a new course starting from scratch to learn the typing skill.

It is necessary as a requi-site to starting on any of these three courses that a general aptitude test be taken at the DES office, 290 Centre St., Newton, to make sure the ap-plicant has the necessary po-tential to learn the skills.

All applicants interested in upgrading their skills in either of these three lines, or in any other skill, are re-quested to come in to the Div-

Thieves Back To Work In Newton; Rob Homes

After what seemed to be a holiday lay-off, thieves re-turned to Newton during the past week and broke into a half-dozen homes getting loot ranging from mink coats to liquor.

A burglar who broke into the home of Abraham T. Barron, of 62 Sharpe road, Oak Hill, compounded his crime of stealing a $4000 mink coat by carrying it off in the family's 1967 car which was parked in the driveway.

More than $2000 worth of silver service, plus three mink coats, comprised loot taken from the home of Nettie Finklestein, of 904 Centre street, Newton, last Monday afternoon.

Police said the break oc-curred between noon and 4 p.m. and was gained through the garage. They said a complete list of what was taken will be submitted to police headquarters.

Bernard Phillips, of 24 Prospect park, Newtonville, reported a $400 woman's gold watch was taken in a break in his home last Friday. Two doors were forced open at the rear of the house and a win-dow broken.

Thieves took a number of suits and assorted jewelry from the home of Mark Leib-man, of 97 Valentine street, West Newton. The break oc-curred Saturday night.

Liquor was taken in a break at the home of Otto Bresky, of 52 Hammondswood road, Chestnut Hill, while nothing was reported missing in a break at the home of George I. Engle, of 20 Marcus-lus drive, Newton Centre.

A break at the Larco Co. at 49A Winchester street, New-ton Highlands, netted a port-able radio and a number of order forms.

Entrance was gained to the Newton high school over the weekend but it was not deter-mined immediately what, if anything, was taken.

It was not known, either, if anything was taken in a break at the Citgo Gas Sta-tion, 249 Center street, New-ton.

Thieves were unsuccessful in gaining entrance to the main part of the home of Mrs. Mirella Naddaff of 50 Gordon road, Waban. A bolt on the door stopped their progress after they cut through a screen porch and broke the glass of the rear door.

Children's Art, Enrichment, Classes Are Now Being Held

Classes began last week for the Children's Art and Children's Enrichment Program at the Newton Community Center, 429 Cherry street, West Newton.

The Art Classes, service boys and girls in Nursery and Kindergarten and Grades 1 through 4 meet on Thursday afternoons. The ten one-hour sessions which began on January for Nursery through grade 2, and which will begin on Jan. 26th for grades 3 and 4, still have a few spaces open the Center announced.

These classes relate art to other fields of expression including music (through rhythms, songs and listening activities), science (through simple experiments and discussion), and literature (through dramatizing and recreating children's stories and poems).

They present an exciting program for children as youngsters participate in such varied experiences as clay and sponge painting, potato and cork printing, collage and cut paper work, interpretation of children's poetry paper mache puppetry, sand painting, casting and the like.

The emphasis of the instruction is on originality of expression and on experimentation with new forms of art media. An informal study of contemporary trends in modern art is also included. Instruction is designed to stimulate the natural creativity all children possess, and the results reflect the fine imagination of the children participating.

The Enrichment Program, serving youngsters in Grades 1, 2, and 3 also meet for ten one-hour sessions and began on January 3. This program was established in order to give children opportunities to for practice in the basic skills they learn at school; it is designed to provide educational benefit for recreation hours by stimulating interest and excitement in youngsters while they learn.

Activities in these groups cover a wide range including reading, writing and dramatizing children's own stories, art and science projects, arithmetic bingo, spelling anagrams and relay races, phonic treasure hunts and many more.

Groups are limited in number and attention within each session is both individual and group oriented. Children work by themselves, in pairs and in small groups according to needs and desires.

Mrs. Murray Janower, teacher of both groups is enthusiastic about both programs. In both afternoons she hopes to give children opportunities to tap their imaginative resources and talents as well as to reinforce school subjects through creative experiences, play situations and organized games.

Mrs. Janower is an experienced Elementary School teacher of Brookline, and has taught Art and Enrichment at the Center since September. See also special Holiday Enrichment programs of field trips in Boston for children over vacation periods.

Parents interested in registering their children for either of the programs above should contact the Community Center for additional information and registration blank at 244-2260, immediately.

Boston College Ecumenical Day Next Thursday

The Rev. Alfred J. Connick of Emmanuel College, the Rev. Demetrios Constantelos of Holy Cross Seminary, and Dr. J. Robert Nelson of the School of Theology, Boston University, will be the main speakers at a "Day of Ecumenical Dialogue" at Lyons Hall, Boston College on Thursday, Jan. 26, from 9:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Co-sponsored by the Archdiocesan Union of Sodality, The Greek Orthodox Ladies Philothochos Society and the United Churchwomen of Massachusetts, the subject to be discussed is entitled, "Our Common Christian Witness." Smaller groups under the direction of group leaders will be an added feature of the program. Another will be a Mass at noon to be followed by a hot luncheon. Donation for the day's program will be three dollars.

Mail reservations, with check, to Mrs. J. Bernard Everett, 85 Berkshire Rd., Newtonville. Assisting Mrs. Everett will be Miss Marion Wheeler and Mrs. J. Robert Nelson.

A new approach to the subject will be made by the speakers. The intent of the day is to attain good public relations with the rest of the world, and to stimulate and develop wider interest and understanding in the peoples of the world.

Protest Lodged Against Zoning

A fight against a possible resurrection of the defeated proposal to construct an apartment building on Boylston St. flared up this week when C.A.D.O.R. (Committee Against Needless Downgrading of Real Estate) protested the practice of spot zoning and raised the possibility of reconsideration of the Apog proposal.

"None of us wants to make a career of opposing Apog proposals. Newton's zoning code should be our defense against their constant harassment. We should be protected by a master plan with guidelines which make spot zoning impossible," the statement signed by four Newton residents said.

"We must also organize widespread opposition to the proposed EE High Rise Amendment. This modification of the zoning code has once won the quiet approval of the aldermen's Claims and Rules Committee, and after a second vote will come before the full Board. The EE Amendment is an innocent little time bomb that would permit the aldermen to spot zone high - rise apartments anywhere in Newton," the statement asserted.

Two Newtonites Featured Singers At Music Forum

Newton residents Jeanne Gorin-Bloom and Cantor Alex Zimmer will sing in the second concert of the season of the New England Jewish Music Forum next Monday at 4:30 p.m. at Temple Ohabei Shalom, Beacon street, Brookline. They will be joined by Jeanette Coran and Cantor Jacob Seully in a cantata by famed composer Heinrich Schalit, with a narration written by Cantor Zimmer. Based on Palestinian songs, the cantata, "Bonei Tzion" (Builders of Zion), will be narrated by Mary Wolfman, the Forum's program chairman. Accompaniment will be provided by Myron Press at the piano, Jan Gippo, flute, and Phil LaFlamme, percussion.

The concert will also include cantorial chants from the weekday liturgy by Cantor Ivan E. Perlman, baritone, of Temple Emanu-El, Providence, and Cantor Michael Hammerman, tenor, of Temple Kehilath Israel, Brookline. A social hour will follow the program.

Library Artists To Hold Show

The annual members jury show of the Brookline Library Society of Artists will be held March 5 to 19 in the main library, 361 Washington st., Brookline, with Mrs. Beulah Chayet, of Newton Centre, chairman.

Oak Hill Park Women Hear Of River Program

On Wednesday, January 11, at the Memorial School in Oak Hill Park, the Oak Hill Park Women's Club showed its interest in the past and future uses of the Charles River and its present state of pollution with a timely program given by Mrs. Roger Elliot Spear and Mrs. Robert E. Spencer, co-chairmen of the Community Improvement and Conservation Committee of the Garden Interest Department of the Wellesley Hills Woman's Club.

Mrs. Arno H. A. Heyn of the Newton Conservators and the Charles River Watershed Association assisted by loaning several slides of Newton and discussing Newton's interest in the river.

This program of colored slides and a most informative exhibit revealed fascinating history, entertained with humor and showed pollution. Its purpose is to interest clubs in helping with future action for conservation, beautification and recreation in each town along the Charles River watershed.

Mrs. Spear has been a student and worker in the field of conservation for many years and holds membership in several related organizations.

Upon the request of the Massachusetts State Federation of Conservation, Mrs. Frank Van Ummeren, Mrs. Spear spoke at the Club Institute in Boston about the organization of the program, "The Lure and Lore of the Charles River," and told of the fun enjoyed while taking the pictures of the river and its varied activities.

It was agreed that such a beautiful asset to the general cultural atmosphere of Boston and the river towns deserves to have the best careful solution to the present problems.

Homemaker Service Plan Told To Visiting Nurses

Miss Katherine Curran, executive director of the Inter-Community Homemaker Service presented an informative and educational account of the service to the Newton Visiting Nurse Association at their January meeting.

She is a native of Hyde Park, Mass., a graduate of Boston University with a career in the field of statistics for the Federal Government and experience in personnel work with the Jordan Marsh Company.

In outlining the history, aims and activities of the Homemakers, Miss Curran stated that the State of New Jersey first organized the service under the direction of its Department of Health. It proved to be of such value that Medicare brought it to the attention of all state health organizations.

The Newton area Service is only four years old but has already helped numerous families with emergency personal care. This relatively new organization has filled a definite need among the health agencies of an area comprising a population of 260,000 people in Newton, Needham and Wellesley.

Officially named The Homemaker-Home Health Aid Service, the members of the agency are interested only in one purpose — helping others. Miss Curran said that Homemakers are not practical nurses and are not cleaning women. They are trained, helpful and compassionate people who will go into any home where a medical or family crisis occurs, on a temporary basis.

In some cases, Homemakers care for children when the mother is seriously ill and the father must continue working. In other instances, care is given to the aged or infirm in order that they may remain in their homes and not have to become hospital cases. The Service is selective in choosing its members, and trains them in the personal care duties they are to perform. They are sent into homes only upon requests from doctors, nursing associations or social agencies which have investigated the needs of the families involved. MRS. DOROTHY CARROLL

CHRISTMAS JEWELS GIVEN TO YOU? A FLOATER POLICY OR YOU'LL BE BLUE!

"If you are one of those lucky people who received—or gave—jewelry this Christmas, here's a suggestion to help you enjoy it more," says Mrs. Dorothy Carroll, staff member of Newton's Alfred E. Fuller Insurance Agency. "Look into a low-cost Floater policy that will reimburse you for the loss of a stone or for loss of value due to chipping or repairs—none of which are covered by the usual Homewoners policy."

A long-time West Newton resident and mother of two Newton students, Mrs. Carroll brings a wide acquaintanceship with Newton residents' problems to her duties of expertly processing the necessary paperwork for Fuller customers.

If you would like to see if you can improve your insurance picture, Mrs. Carroll invites you to call or stop in at the office. You're always welcome.

Saltonstall Is Grateful To Local Legion

In the absence of Post Commander Carleton Merrill, Past Commanders Francis Howley and Joseph Fitzsimmons of Newton Post 48, American Legion, presented Leverett Saltonstall with a life membership certificate in his Boston office.

The former U. S. Senator and Newton resident acknowledged the honor with the following letter to Francis Howley:

"Will you please tell the members of Newton Post No. 48, American Legion, how much I appreciate the life membership certificate and the 45-year star that was presented me today.

"As a charter member of the post in the early days, I enjoyed attending meetings. I was a member of the executive committee for several years. I think with the exception of one year, when I was the speaker for the northern Governors of Gettysburg at the place where Lincoln delivered his address. I have marched in the Memorial Day parade in Newton. It has made me very proud to be able to do so, and I hope that I will be able to continue.

"Over the years I have believed that the members of the American Legion — veterans of World War I, World War II, the Korean War and now the Viet Nam War — stand for loyalty, patriotism and the protection of the security of our country and its people. As Legion members we have always worked for a better opportunity for peace in the world. So I appreciate the plaque and the life membership to Newton Post 48."

The response of Newton residents to the annual appeal thus determines the extent of Newton's participation in the program. Newton fund-raising chairman is Theodore Saltzman, 16 Cavanaugh Path, Newton Centre, who welcomes all contributions.

Gala Valentine Ball To Benefit Hospital

Attractive pink and lavender invitations designed by Mrs. Robert Jacobson, head of the Dana Hall Art Department, were mailed recently announcing the date of the Valentine Ball, the formal dinner dance sponsored by Newton-Wellesley Hospital Junior Aid Association which is eagerly anticipated each year.

The Ball will be held on the night of Feb. 10 at the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Boston. There will be an a la carte bar available in the Georgian Room at seven o'clock and dinner will be served at nine. Ruby Newman and his orchestra will play for dancing until one o'clock.

The lavender and old lace motif—a gourmet dinner with wine—an extremely spacious dance floor with half of the tables adjoining the ballroom floor—an opportunity to win a trip to Antigua as a respite from winter—a festive and enjoyable evening that also aids the building fund of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital—all of this is available to those who reserve their tables before Jan. 31. Because the Valentine Ball is customarily over-subscribed, many women have already arranged their tables and invited their guests.

Mrs. Howard E. Hansen of Wellesley Hills is the chairman of the Ball Committee and is being assisted by Mrs. Mark Tisher Jr., Mrs. Robert Stansell, Mrs. J. Deane Somerville, Mrs. D. J. Saraceno, Mrs. Edward H. Rogers and Mrs. George B. Pierce.

Newton High Basketball Team Finally Wins Two

By JOE GORIN

Going into this week, things were looking down for the Newton High basketball team. They had just been beaten by Brockton by 25 points and could only boast one win in four league games.

However, at week's end things look much brighter. The Tigers beat a strong Cambridge Latin team by 22 points and three days later walked home with a 53-50 victory over Waltham, the team which was supposed to finish either first or second in the Suburban League.

It was a great second half spurge by Paul Ward that lifted the Newtonites over Waltham. Ward, who had 18 points for the night, hit 14 of them in the second and 10 in the fourth quarter.

It was not until the last two minutes of the game that Newton iced the victory. Going into the final minutes of the game, Newton owned a three-point lead. But with 1:33 left, Peter Hicks converted two free throws to put Newton in front by five. Fifteen seconds later, Ward hit a charity toss. Waltham at this point was slapped with a technical foul, which Hicks converted to give Newton a seven-point lead.

Waltham got back two points on a field goal. But with 47 seconds left, Ron Cook hit on two free throws to regain the seven-point lead. But Tom Adams and Russ Hammond hit on two quick field goals to make the Waltham deficit only three points with about 15 seconds remaining. Newton managed to hold onto the ball and freeze out the 53-50 victory.

The game before, Newton gained its second league win of the season by bombing Cambridge Latin, 57 to 35. A tenacious man-to-man defense, combined with a 21-point scoring effort by Paul Ward, highlighted the Tiger victory.

For the first half of the contest it was nip and tuck with the Cats pulling out a slim 5-point half-time advantage.

But the second half was all Newton as they outscored their opponents by 17 points. Ward was especially effective driving from the left side and tossing in rebound taps.

The rest of the Newton scoring was well balanced with Ron Howland, Peter Hicks and Bob Houghteling each tossing in eight points. This marked the second time in the season that a Newton opponent scored less than 40 points. The Tigers turned the same trick when they downed cross-city rival Newton South.

The hockey team was idle but sophomores and juniors on both the varsity and jayvee squads lost a 2-1 game to Brookline. Some of the jayvees who showed promise were Ralph Murphy, Newton's only goal scorer, Bob Sweeney, the goalie and defensemen Jay Keefe and Dudley Cotton.

Waban Group Provides For Pair Of Needy Children

Members of the Monday Night Group, 94 Evelyn road, Waban, have come to the aid of two children, one in Ecuador and the other in Greece.

A financial "adoption" has been arranged with the group by Foster Parents Plan, Inc., 352 Park avenue, New York City.

Under the arrangement's terms, $15 a month will be sent to the family of each youngster. The money provides a monthly cash grant of more than half the total amount, new clothing, household equipment, complete medical care and education.

Every month, each of the youngsters write to "Dear Foster Parent" and the foster parent writes to them. Before long there is a warm personal relationship. The children want to know about the foster parent — his family, his community and his country. In turn, they try to describe their own family and way of life.

The little Greek boy, who will be writing letters to his Waban benefactors is named Georgios Ioakim. With his mother, maternal grandmother and his two small sisters, he lives in a town in central Greece, near Lamia. The father abandoned his family in 1960. The mother, who requires frequent medical treatment, works on neighboring farms when she can. The family's total income is $41.84 a month.

The Ecuadorian is a little girl, Marlene Cruz, who lacks decent clothing, lives in a slummy part of the city. Her father works as a coffee picker and her mother as a laundress. The family tries to get along on $18 a month. Marlene studies hard and does well in school, where she is a third grader. When she grows up, she hopes to be a doctor and cure sick people.

Because at this season of the year residential fires are more numerous than at any other time, Chief Frederick A. Perkins Jr., has advised that householders take precautions as follows:

1. Have your furnace, flues, chimneys and electrical wiring checked by a competent service man to make sure they are all in good working order.

2. Before retiring at night make sure that all cigarettes and cigar butts are out and positively do not empty them into the waste basket. Also check to be sure that the screen is properly secured in front of the fire place.

3. Do not hang wet or damp garments near any heating unit.

4. Make sure that all combustible rubbish has been cleaned out of the attic, cellar and garage areas, especially flammable decorations and wrapping that have been left around from the holiday season.

5. All paints and flammable fluids should be stored in a safe place away from any source of heat or fire.

6. If you have gasoline stored in your property for snow blowers or mowers, etc., you must obtain a permit from the head of the fire department.

7. Keep all matches and cigarette lighters out of reach of children.

Make sure that the telephone number of the fire department is posted near the telephone.

9. Do you hold monthly fire drills in your home and instruct all the occupants how to get out in case of fire?

Chief Perkins feels that if each of these items is followed by all citizens the city of Newton will be a safe city in which to live, and adds this: "Remember, never allow smoking in bed by anyone in your home. This is a definite invitation to death."

WEMBROC's first regional head start program is expected momentarily, and has been designed to accommodate some 500 pre-school children at an estimated cost of approximately $800,000.

Headlights And Highlights From Newton South High

By JAMES SHULMAN

Kicking off the new year at Newton South High School in high fashion will be a battle of the bands, January 28, between "The BLUES" and "The SOUND KASTERS".

Other coming events on the Newton South 1967 calendar are: The National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, which will be administered at Newton South High, March 11. Two groups of junior students should consider taking these tests: 1. Those who in the past have done extremely well on other standardized tests, such as PSAT; and 2. those who might merit some financial aid because a parent is an employee of special business organizations.

Students are urged to check with their parents to see if a score on the National Merit Test would help qualify them for college financial aid. The price of the test is $2.00 and students must sign up in the Goodwin House office by Friday, January 20.

Students and teachers will have an opportunity to work together to sponsor two nights of entertainment, called the May Festival, May 5 and 6. The Theatre Arts and Art Departments will sponsor the two nights of shows and exhibition. The plans for the first night are for two one-act plays and an art exhibition and a demonstration of artistic techniques. On the second night there will be two one-act plays, a continuation of the art exhibition, and a musical presentation.

Mr. Ernest Chamberlain, head of the Theatre Arts Department, hopes that the students and teachers will work together in all phases of the Festival. He also said that support from the students as well as the faculty are both desired and necessary.

Newton South's Math Team is already heading towards an assuring and enlightening season after coming in seventh out of fifty schools in their first meet. In their second meet they tied for second place. The Math Team has scheduled two more meets this year, including a February match to be conducted as South. At the rate South's Math Team is rolling it should have a good chance of finishing in the finals, one of the top ten teams out of fifty schools.

The Math Team advisor is Mr. Joseph Kudara and the co-captains are Jeff Modest, Howard Gershman, Richard Gershman, and Roger Myerson.

The South Bridge Team is having one problem this year and that is that they are unable to find any powerful opposition.

While waiting for competitors the members of the team play intra-club games to build up their skill and to win "Pro Points" from the professional Bridge League of America. At the end of the year the players with the most points will receive a trophy.

The members of the team are founding president Laury Dwort, captain David Woo, Ken Alperin, Dick Finn, Jeff Cohen, Bob Klugman, Alan Nogue, Dan Pfau.

The Chess Club has one thing on their mind this year and that is to "check-mate" Boston Latin so they can win the championship. Team captain David Guberman said that the performance of the lower ranking players would determine the team's success.

Free tutoring is available to all students at Newton South. The National Honor Society is continuing last year's program in offering help in math, science, and language. Tutoring is not given in English and history because these subjects vary according to each teachers course of study.

This year's Newton South Wrestling team seems to be invincible with a 5-0 record going into its sixth match.

Four Amendments To Ordinances Are Voted

Amendments to four city ordinances were adopted Monday night 17 to 0 by a vote of the Board of Aldermen.

One was in response to a request by Alderman William L. Bruce of the committee on Street Traffic for permitting police to remove illegally parked out-of-state cars whose owners have failed to respond to a parking violation summons.

Such a regulation, it was explained by Chairman Franklin N. Flaschner of Claims and Rules, would solve problems that have arisen on streets near Boston College, where police have found it difficult and time consuming to determine the owners of cars of out-of-state students who ignore parking tickets.

Another amendment constituted adoption of the Mayor's recommendation for an anti-litter ordinance to assist in maintaining a clean city. The recommendation was intended as a deterrent to persons who throw such litter as candy wrappers, cigarette packages and pop bottles on lawns by making it a violation when rubbish is deposited anywhere but in receptacles set out for the purpose.

Alderman Flaschner expressed hope that the senior and junior Chambers of Commerce and various associations of merchants would help publicize the anti-litter effort.

The third amendment, transmitted by the city solicitor, is a recommendation for establishment of fees for the promotion of Sunday entertainment. Under it, the license for a single day at a single site would be $2. The fee for an annual license at a single location would be $50.

Charitable organizations and city departments would be exempted at the discretion of the Mayor.

A new scale of fees for use of the city dump and incinerator is established under the fourth adopted amendment.

A truck or trailer or any vehicle bearing a commercial or trailer registration shall pay $15 for each annual permit and $2 for each temporary permit.

Disposal of a commercial motor vehicle will cost $50. The charge for any other type of motor vehicle's disposal will be $20. (This would cover abandoned trucks and cars.)

The cost to a private person for an annual dumping fee will be $1.

Under the terms of this amendment, "any person using dumps or incinerators shall display his permit to any person on the premises of the dump or incinerator upon request, and his failure to do so will constitute a violation. Any such person shall also report to the dump caretaker the point of origin of his load."

"In addition to displaying such permits, commercial vehicles or trailers shall pay a charge of $1.50 for each 500 pounds or fraction thereof disposed at the dump or incinerator, but this charge shall not apply to disposals under a motor vehicle permit."

In reporting this amendment, Chairman Flaschner reported that the city's dumping area has been filling up at an alarming rate, and explained that dumping of debris from wrecked buildings by contractors is to be prohibited under the regulations.

Speaker Tells Of New Service Red Cross Plan

The featured speaker at the recent board of directors meeting of the Newton Red Cross was Arthur Flynn, a representative of the American National Red Cross.

A native of Cincinnati, he has been with Red Cross since 1956. He has served in a variety of capacities, not only in the United States, but also in Germany.

At the meeting he explained the community services which Red Cross will render under the new service plan. There is to be a re-evaluation of services rendered by the chapters in the Massachusetts Bay Area.

Red Cross chapters will work together and share their resources in the event of disaster or other emergencies. It is hoped that more volunteers can be brought into this program and more communication exist between the various chapters in the Massachusetts Bay District.

Mr. Flynn spoke succinctly, enthusiastically and at times most wittily. The board members came away with a vivid picture of the forthcoming program and were most grateful that Mr. Flynn took time from his busy schedule to explain the new program.

Panel To Take Up Problems Of Junior Highs

Parents of Cabot School pupils should be deeply interested in the Cabot PTA mid-winter meeting Wednesday evening, January 25, at 8 o'clock in the school's auditorium.

At issue will be the inadequacies of the existing junior high schools, which their children will soon be attending. Jon Gilleland, business manager of the Newton schools; Mrs. Norma Mintz of the School Committee, and William Glovsky, member of the Board of Aldermen, will discuss briefly the problems, possible solutions, and progress being made towards the construction of the new Frank A. Day and Bigelow Junior High Schools.

This panel will be moderated by Cabot School principal, Mrs. Mary B. Everett. A period of open discussion will give parents the opportunity to question the panel and to express their own views on this matter, which now challenges them as well as the city and school administrators.

Wrestling Team Tops As ...

South Basketball Squad Reaches Nadir of Defeat

By RAY KWASNICK

Losing seems to be becoming a habit for Newton South's basketball squad. Last week the team fell before Rindge Tech, 81-58, and Brockton High, 60-52. The Lions hope to break out of the doldrums tomorrow night against Watertown.

In their losing effort at home against Rindge the Lions were down from the start. The Rindgers rattled off 8 quick points to South's one in the first period. Then Rindge streaks of 4, 6, 6, and 4 points were only broken by an occasional South score. At the end of the quarter the scoreboard read: Rindge-26, Newton South-8.

The rest of the game ran the same way with the sole exception of the second period. Sparked by four baskets from Captain Steve Cooper and eight points from junior Lee Casty, South closed the gap to eleven points, 40-29, at the end of the half.

But Rindge was not to be denied. Led by the hot hands of Bob Collins who copped 18 points and Sonny Cox who netted 19 for the game winners, Rindge's margin grew to 15 points by the close of the third stanza. Then the Rindgers deluged the Lions with 12 straight markers to only two for South. That wrapped up the game.

In an attempt to add some punch to the Lion line-up, Coach Warren Bechtold had five juniors in the game at the same time. However, guards Lee Casty and Paul Brissette, center Ken Isaacs, and forwards Alan Berkowitz and Skip Novick couldn't stem the Rindge tide.

Casty took the scoring honors with 20 points while Cooper also scored in double figures with 15. Cooper pulled down eight rebounds for the losing Lions.

The South five was stiffer competition for Brockton, but the end result was the same. Brockton's toppling of South brought its Suburban League record to 2-4.

Trailing 15-11 going into the second quarter, the Lions outscored Brockton, 20-12, to take a half time lead of 31-27. The game remained close as Brockton tied the score and then edged out in front 41-40. However, a 19 point finale brought the win home to Brockton.

The high scorer for Brockton was Bill Regan whose 20 points were the foundation of the victors' attack. South's scoring was evenly distributed. Tops were Rick Ginsburg, Bob Whittlesey, and Bob Levine with 10 points.

The Lion pucksters were idle last week. Both Marian and Wayland picked up two points with shutout wins over Weston and Lincoln-Sudbury. South faces Wayland on Saturday.

The brightest light on the South sports scene has been the wrestling team. The grapplers have compiled an unblemished 5-0 record with wins over Walpole, Weston, Wayland, Lexington, and Brookline. The Brookline win was South's first victory ever over their nearby rivals. The squad will meet its toughest test of the season on the 20th against an always powerful Melrose team.

The Lions are led by a talented combination of seniors and juniors. Four grapplers—Ned MacDonald, Dave Sellinger, Lou DiFazio, and Herb Buchine—are undefeated. Both Norm Kaplan and Marty Levantol boast 4-1 marks, and John Wainer is 3-2. If the team continues its torrid pace and gets by Melrose, chances are good for a perfect season.

Bellotti Probe Now Creates Big Problem For Richardson

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson now is in a sensitive spot he had hoped to avoid.

The office he heads must resolve the question of whether there was any conflict of interest in Francis X. Bellotti's services for Nationwide Insurance Co.

Richardson will maintain a strict hands-off attitude toward the investigation of Bellotti's association with the Ohio-based insurance company. He will insulate himself from the probe to as great a degree as possible.

But he still will be head of the department responsible for making the investigation and settling the case.

Political observers are somewhat puzzled as to why it has not been possible to clear up this matter in a period of more than two months.

Former Attorney General Edward W. Brooke assigned an outstanding expert on the conflict-of-interest law to the case immediately after the November election. But he was unable to settle the matter before Brooke went out of office early this month.

Richardson wanted the case out of the way before he assumed the Attorney Generalship. That was one of the reasons he didn't take over the office when Brooke resigned to go to Washington.

Edward T. Martin, who served as interim Attorney General between the time of Brooke's resignation and Richardson's assumption of the office and who is to be a member of Richardson's staff, tried to fulfill Richardson's wish.

Martin asserts that it was his intention to complete the investigation "if it was humanly possible" but that it wasn't possible and that substantially more time will be needed.

Many thousands of papers must be reviewed and many more persons interviewed before the probe can be completed, Martin declares. That certainly sounds as if the investigation was a pretty complicated one.

This is a sticky situation which is not likely to produce any political gains for Richardson, whatever happens.

Yet, Richardson actually is not in a position to drop the matter, as has been suggested in some quarters.

As the period lengthens since the last election and things said in the heat of political combat are relished, the impression has been created that Richardson accused Bellotti of a conflict of interest.

What Richardson charged was that Bellotti had demonstrated an "insensitivity." He also raised the question of a possible conflict of interest although he did not say Bellotti had been guilty of one.

It seems apparent that the investigation ordered by Brooke before he left office is going well beyond the bounds of the issues raised by Richardson last November. Why it has been expanded is not entirely clear although Brooke undoubtedly had sound reasons for enlarging it.

How this case eventually will end is the subject of tremendous conjecture.

McCormack Healthiest Of Top House Democrats

The suggestion by a Washington newspaper that House Speaker John W. McCormack step down from his post as head of the national House was a little silly.

Ironically, the 75-year-old McCormack is the healthiest of the top House Democrats.

Majority Leader Carl Albert

Receptionist To Greet City Hall Visitors Soon

A vote by the Aldermen Monday night gave assurance that visitors to City Hall will be met by an information receptionist, whose duties will include filling in when needed at the telephone switchboard just off the entrance.

The question of filling such a position came up late in 1966, and just before the end of the year Mayor Basbas had tried in vain to engage a girl to take the post on a temporary basis.

The item approved Monday night was a request by the Mayor for an appropriation of $3715 in advance of the budget for a receptionist.

The Mayor assured the Aldermen that one had been found who would fill the requirements capably.

Another advance of budget appropriation approved was $600 for the city's participation in "Winterfest 1967," which opens next month in Prudential Center's War Memorial Auditorium in Boston.

The Mayor had requested $800 for this, but after the Finance Committee suggested that $600 would be adequate for the purpose he agreed to the cut.

Chairman John P. Nixon of the Finance Committee told the members that Newton's part in the exhibition would be in good hands, as former Alderman Benjamin Shattuck and Mrs. Shattuck would have charge of it. Various members of the Board spoke in favor of the city's being represented by an exhibit that would include the work of Newton artists and material describing the Garden City's place in the industrial world and its position as a leader in education.

These three men are McCormack's top aides in the national House. One of them presumably would succeed him if he relinquished the Speakership. None of them is as healthy as McCormack.

The Washington newspaper cited defeats for McCormack on two issues as the reason for asking him to step down.

One was his unsuccessful fight to allow Congressman Adam Clayton Powell to be seated pending an investigation by a special congressional committee.

Many persons are wondering why McCormack took the position he did. While McCormack is not saying so, the assumption by most political observers is that he was asked to do so by President Johnson.

McCormack's defeat in a clash over the 21-day rule, under which bills would be taken away from the House Rules Committee at the end of 21 days, was engineered by a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats.

It could not fairly be considered a reflection on McCormack's leadership.

Ministers' Luncheon Set At "Y" Jan. 26

The annual Ministers' luncheon sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Newton YMCA will be held Jan. 26 in the auditorium of the Y as part of the observance of "YMCA Week."

Mrs. Henry Dunker heads the committee making arrangements for the luncheon.

Honors Bestowed On Claflin School Cubs

The following boys received the award in an impressive candle lighting ceremony: Mark Johnson, Mark Van Trees, Kurt Pohlman, Mark Johnson, Vart Zerounian, Frank Dobbin, and Mark Van Trees, Gold Arrows, Philip Singer, Scott Pohlman, Joseph Doyle, Michael Brown, Allan Biggs, and the Lions group; Silver Arrow, Robert Hershfield, Kurt Pohlman and Vart Zerounian.

The opening flag ceremony was led by Den 7 consisting of: Brian Kelly, Jeffrey Banks, Biffy Hootstein, Robert Hershfield, Kevin Doyle, and Jack Chinian.

Cubmaster Carl Hershfield welcomed the cubs and parents present and gave awards to the following boys: Wolf Badge, John Flerlage, Brewster Laing, David Geschwin, George Gurney, and Alan Brinkerhoff; Bear Badge, Peter Jerome, Peter Toyias, Jack Green, Stuart Hurwitz, and Vart Zerounian.

A talk on the Boys Life Magazine was given. The formal part of the program was closed and the meeting turned over to members of The Weston Dog Training Club with their dogs who put on a display of obedience work with their dogs, under the direction of Mrs. Corapi of Lexington.

The next meeting of Pack 316 will be on February 9, at the Claflin School Gymnasium at 7:00 p.m.

Pen Women Hear Talk By Newton Puppeteer

A Newton Lower Falls woman discussed "Writing for Children's Theater" when she spoke recently to members and guests at a meeting of the Wellesley Branch of the National League of American Pen Women.

Mrs. Eleanor Boylan of 142 Pine Grove Ave., Newton Lower Falls, is past president of the New England Guild of Puppeteers and is founder and director of the Young Newton players.

Her work in children's theatre began some 30 years ago, when she started to adapt legends and classic tales, most of them as musicals. Her aim is always to hold the attention of even the youngest members of her audience while at the same time depicting a truth that reaches the adults who have brought their children.

Se explained that her work has met a new challenge from television, which has sated children with action entertainment. She therefore prepares scripts with a strong story line, plenty of excitement, and of minimum length.

Mrs. Boylan founded the Young Newton Players in 1962 when the youngest of her five children reached school age. This company has since given many performances of the several musicals for which she has written the scripts and lyrics, collaborating with various musicians for the scores.

Karl Ernest of Newton Lower Falls wrote the music for the opera "Heidi."

In 1963 she won first prize in the North Shore Community Arts children's playwriting contest with "Sara Crow," adapted from "The Little Princess" by Frances Hodgson Burnett. Since then the children have staged the musical in a number of children's theaters.

Puppetry can be used as therapy for children who are having difficulty communicating with others, according to Mrs. Boylan. She has found that these children are eager to operate and speak for the puppets.

The Newton Young Players are currently rehearsing an adaptation of "Gulliver's Travels," she said, which will be presented at the Countryside School in Newton Highlands in four performances March 4, 5, 11 and 12 at 2:30 p.m.

Children will not only play the live roles but will also operate the puppets made by Ruth Brand. Gulliver will appear as a 12-year-old boy and will be played by both a real child and by a puppet.

Branch members of the League of American Pen Women present at the meeting included Mrs. Loy Long of Auburndale, Mrs. George W. Palmer 3rd of Newton Highlands, and Mrs. Ralph Shrader, formerly of West Newton. Mrs. Arthur Laughland of Chestnut Hill was a guest.

On Single Session

Editor of The Graphic:
Today's Graphic proclaims "School Budget Trimmed But Due To Add $4 to Tax Rate." How can the promoters of the single session for Newton elementary schools ask for any funds to support an in-school lunch program? The only real beneficiary of the single session is the working — or the playing — mother.

May I remind your readers of some benefits of the double session in the elementary schools?

1. A change of scene and some fresh air are of great physiological and psychological value to a child who has been indoors in close contact with others all morning. The air and the walk home stimulate his luncheon appetite. If the morning has not gone well for the child, a noontime change should give him a fresh start for the afternoon.

2. Luncheon eaten in a gymnasium, auditorium or any room designed for other uses cannot offer the change and relaxation of a quiet meal at home where the companionship is different and the menu can be hot and varied.

3. The two free afternoons a week make up the three "long days" and permit medical appointments, etc., to be made very early in the afternoon before other school systems are dismissed. The varying length of school days makes the week less monotonous.

4. Whatever health risks a child runs by walking home in bad weather are surely counterbalanced by eating in a crowded room where there is almost invariably a snuffler or a cougher. School rooms are not sanitary eating rooms — and think of the job of policing them after lunch!

5. Our third-grader likes walking home almost a mile for lunch, and usually spurs offers of a ride. His older brother and sisters also enjoyed the walk to elementary school, and say emphatically, "Let the little children go home for lunch. They'll have to eat it in school soon enough."

MOST IMPORTANT: When the school board is so hard-pressed to maintain a budget within reason, and when there are so many legitimate and expensive needs within the school system, I see no justification for spending a cent on an in-school lunch program for schools without cafeterias.

In fact, except as a free baby-sitting service for mothers, what reason is there for elementary school children to lunch in school at all?

Yours truly,
Anna B. Carter

Disturbed By Letters
Editor of The Graphic:
I have been most disturbed by the tenor of recent letters about our School System in The Graphic. The writers of these letters have specific objections to certain programs, schedules, or routines in the schools, as do most parents from time to time — these objections should, of course be aired — but these writers also seem to imply that the School Committee which we have all elected is in some way conspiring against Newton's children and their parents. Furthermore, they suggest that it is impossible, in this city, to make effective protest, that our teachers, principals and school administrators cannot be approached, and that our Aldermen and Mayor are approving the building of unnecessary structures.

It should hardly be necessary to point out that we elect these School Committee members and other city officials every two years, and that they come from every section of the city. The democratic process is slow and occasionally exasperating, to be sure. I, myself, have worked hard and long in the campaigns of School Committee aspirants; my candidates were defeated. Nevertheless, I have always regarded the present incumbents as my representatives. It may even be that our methods of electing School Committee members and filling vacancies need some revision at this point: the remedy, again, is orderly examination of our City Charter and possible re-vamping of these methods. The League of Women Voters, the PTA Council and other organizations, including the political parties are now working toward these ends.

The parent with questions, objections, or suggestions has an even better avenue to our school administrators. Ten years of experience in the PTA has convinced me that responsible and informed parents who have worked closely with other parents, teachers and school officials can get a hearing and will be listened to. All this is not to say that I regard our School System as a perfect and finished product; on the contrary, there are many improvements I would like to see, not the least of which would be a greatly augmented Guidance Department, the personnel of which could go a long way toward evaluating which pupils can most effectively benefit from which course of study.

What Is Issue?

Editor of The Graphic:
The columns of The Graphic of January 12th were remarkable for the number of stories about the Newton school system. These ranged from discussions within the School Committee on the budget to a group inviting applications from those interested in running for the School Committee on the basis of its particular program; to irate mothers (?) complaining about their harassed children taking term examinations and college boards within a few days of each other to letters to the Editor on the subject of the schools.

I was surprised that The Graphic would publish one of the letters which was both vulgar and full of defamatory innuendoes.

It seems to me that beginning with the controversy about the single session, criticism of the Newton schools and its administrators has snow-balled. Many parents have jumped on the bandwagon and it becomes increasingly difficult to determine whether there is in fact a genuine bandwagon to jump upon or whether a number of discontented people have at last found a scape-goat. Is the issue the single session? The curriculum? Distrust of the School Committee and the school administrators? Bad

Newton Couple Win Master Pts. In Bridge Play

Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, of 74 Roundwood road, Newton, earned fractional master points last week at the Temple Emanuel, Lexington, duplicate bridge club.

Duplicate bridge will continue to be held at Temple Emanuel every Monday night in January. Master point night will be next Monday, January 23.

Chaos in the high schools? Chaos in discipline? Inadequate preparation for college boards? (assuming that this is or should be a specific function of the curriculum.) What is the salient issue?

Our school system has its defects and, as with all public services, deserves the scrutiny of the citizens of Newton. I am troubled, however, by the fact that citizen action seems to be taking on the character of a series of independent actions which carry the flavor of many campus rebellions and which may be just as irresponsible. Each group speaks for its particular discontent and seems to be interested only in its own immediate aim. If each is successful, we can expect fragmentation and disintegration of a carefully elaborated school structure. Each will win and everyone will lose.

In following the evolution of these complaints in the columns of The Graphic, the vast majority of the complainants seem to be mothers and they are becoming increasingly angry to the point of irrationality. (That recent letter to the Editor, for example.) It may well be that mothers tend to follow more closely the educational progress of their children and are in a position to raise some pertinent questions to the School Committee and to the Superintendent of Schools.

It is time, however, for the parents of Newton to cease their self-seeking dissent and to find more appropriate means for answers to their questions. The calibre of our School Committee, elected by the public at large, and the calibre of our school administrators have been and are excellent. They deserve our respect and trust. Can we not work more constructively through them and with them?

Sincerely yours,
James Mann, M.D.

Answers Mrs. Cohen

The following letter, sent to The Graphic, is addressed to Mrs. Cohen.

Dear Mrs. Cohen:
After reading your letter dated January 9th in The Graphic, I was extremely disturbed to see that you had brought out many points that I feel are unfounded and stem from the insecurity of gossip.

Your point on the learning centers, I feel was the most disturbing to me. I have yet to see a waiting line for help in the centers. The only lines I have ever stood in are the ones to check in on the IBM sheet.

Another point you made was that the curriculum was constantly changing. This is one of the advantages of the continuous learning program! Changing curriculum gives fast learners a chance to expand their academic curriculum and takes pressure off slower learners to work faster.

For instance, a slow learner would not be advised to choose a course in Stephen Crane's short stories but an average student could do well in this class. A slow learner would not be advised to take Micro-organisms but could learn about his environment in a meteorology course.

Your example of the parent finding out in the middle of the year that his child was taking two home economics courses and a course in singing but no English or math is impossible. How did your child ever get away with that?

Meadowbrook increases everybody's responsibilities. A student must work hard at Meadowbrook. Parents must make sure the student works hard and look after his child's academic interests. The boys and girls in the school really care about Meadowbrook and I care too. That is why I am writing this letter.

Sincerely,
Matthew Williams

Touring Now Is Possible From Finland To Soviet

By KALEVI J. SAARI
United Press International
HELSINKI (UPI)—Tired of the Spanish sun? Bored with the French Riviera? Weary of the ruins in Greece? Disgusted with tourists jostling you everywhere?

From Finland you can now go motoring in the Soviet Union.

A hundred dollars will take you from Helsinki to Leningrad and back, not counting hotel reservations, meals, gasoline and a few rubles for unexpected expenses.

Finland in November became the first western country to acquire the right to rent passenger cars to Finnish and foreign tourists who want to drive their "own" car to the Soviet Union.

Up to now, Finns have been able to do it, but foreign visitors have had to take airplanes, trains, buses and ships.

The Vaalimaa border station has long been a favored crossing point among foreigners, many of whom decided only after arriving here to take a look east of the border.

In 1965 a total of 47,888 tourists went east of the Iron Curtain from Finland. Most of them were Finns, but several thousand were foreigners.

But next spring foreigners, too, can drive their own car through the border. An American (Hertz) rent-a-car company and a Finnish firm, (Victor Ek), have negotiated an agreement with the Soviet state-owned travel agency Intourist which gives them the right to rent cars to all willing travelers.

At the moment the companies have 20 cars available for use. But by next spring their number will have grown to 40, or even more if there is enough demand, according to a Finnish (Victor Ek) spokesman.

Others Interested

West Germany, the United States and Sweden have so far expressed interest in the plan, he said.

Ghost Town Has Land Rush

By MAX JENNINGS
United Press International
ATLANTIC CITY, Wyo. (UPI)—There are strange stirrings in the old western Wyoming ghost town of Atlantic City. They're not coming from the ghosts but from real estate developers.

The city originally grew on the edge of the towering Wind River Mountains to harbor hordes of gold seekers who trudged into the hills. A little gold did come out of the hills, but that was more than half a century ago.

When the gold fever died out, so did the town, family by family.

Now the prospector's rush is on again, for land this time instead of gold. The fever appears to be just as catching.

The Timbaha-Bah Mining Co., owned by heirs of Eastern Gold Mine investors, staked out the lots and they are selling by the dozens.

The bureau of Land Management appears to have had a hand in touching off the land rush in the wooded mountain area by announcing it probably will become a recreation area someday.

The Timbaha-Bah Mining Co. is headed by Russell Meredith of Troy, N. Y., who admits no one is more surprised than he by the rush for real estate.

"We never expected this to happen," he said. The gold "in them thar hills" wasn't the glittering kind.

high for as long as 10 hours. The Feathers, named in honor of an heir to the British throne who visited this down-under country in the early 1900s, spouts off more regularly and almost as spectacularly.

The tour included visits to a 20-foot-wide crater of mud which heaved as if alive, a modern Maori hamlet and a reconstructed Pa (Maori fortified village).

The Pa is surrounded by a high wooden wall and "protected" against evil spirits and human enemies by totem-like grotesque carvings of ancient gods. Brightly painted carvings also stood guard outside many of the thatched-roof dwellings within the enclosure.

In the hamlet, we saw housewives preparing family meals in nature's steam cookers, young girls washing clothes in hot pools and children splashing in community baths.

From a bridge, we tossed coins to be retrieved by young boys and girls who dived from the span into a stream of cold fresh water. When they got chilly, they took a quick dip in one of the adjacent hot water pools.

Flames Sweep Oak H. Home

A stubborn one-alarm fire caused extensive damage last Saturday night to a two-story home at 114 Hartman rd., Oak Hill, and sent three firemen to the hospital with minor injuries.

The State Fire Marshal's office and officials from the Fire Prevention Bureau investigated the blaze that apparently began in the basement.

Three firefighters were injured, none seriously. They were Albert Art, 40, who fell through a hole in the first floor to the cellar and sprained his ankle, and Henry Mullen, 49, and Louis DeGizzi, 35, both of whom suffered cut left hands. They were released after treatment at Newton Wellesley Hospital.

The owner of the house, Harold Horne, was not at home when firemen responded to an alarm at 8:27 p.m. They found flames shooting from the basement and first floor upon their arrival.

Flames ate through the cellar ceiling to the first floor and also climbed the cellar stairs, spreading through various parts of the first floor. Intense heat and smoke damage occurred throughout the rest of the house.

It was four hours before the all out alarm was sounded at 12:27 a.m. Sunday morning.

Community Action Here Is Theme Of Women's Meeting

A program on "Community Action - What it means to Newton" will be presented by the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs at its Mid-Winter meeting to be held on Monday, January 23, at 1:30 p.m., at St. John's Church, 311 Lowell Ave., Newtonville.

The speakers will include Wallace J. Fletcher, president, Newton Community Action, Inc.; Col. Joseph Martorana, program director of Newton Community Action, Inc.; and John Dunn, who will speak on Programs for Youth. Mr. Fletcher will act as moderator.

An additional feature of the meeting will be Captain William F. Quinn, Commander of the Uniform branch of the Newton Police Department, who will discuss burglaries and the effort being made to reduce this type of crime.

One of the innovations to be discussed will be the institution of the burglary squads, composed of uniformed personnel assigned to plainclothes and patrols in unmarked cars to return to the police the element of surprise in combating the advantages the burglar has in identification of the uniformed and marked vehicles.

This allows for full cooperation of both the uniformed and plainclothes men to work with greater efficiency, and is a training ground for all police officers to work from one area of police work to another, insuring that each police officer is interchangeable through such training and work with out impairing the total mission, to prevent burglary or to detect and arrest those engaged in such activities.

$436 Is Voted For Damage At Holiday Inn

An appropriation of $436, requested by the city solicitor, to pay Holiday Inn's bill for cleaning drapes and rugs following a flood caused by city employees was approved Monday night by the Aldermen.

The flooding, it was explained by Franklin N. Flaschner, chairman of Claims and Rules, occurred when the employees opened a water main near the inn, and let loose a geyser that caused considerable damage before being controlled.

Also approved was a request by the city solicitor for an appropriation of $750 to be paid to Waltham Cleaners, Inc., and Bayzar Ayvastian who were involved in a collision that resulted when a Newton officer drove through a red light.

Another appropriation requested by the city solicitor was for $1426 to be paid to Ricardo Suzi, whose car was in a near head-on collision with a city snow plow operated by Salvatore J. Guzi of the Street Department. This, too, was approved.

Still another approved was an appropriation of $1300 to be paid to Harold Moran, who was badly injured in a collision involving a city truck.

Also to be discussed by Quinn will be the contributions of Major, the K-9 animal control, the use of women to free police officers for the very important job of crime prevention.

Mrs. Charles W. Laffin, president of the Newtonville Women's Club, will greet the members and guests. Refreshments will be served by the following members of the hostess club: Mrs. John F. Farrington, chairman, Mrs. Joseph Sevigny, Mrs. Walter Keene, Mrs. Samuel Melick, Mrs. Warren L. Huston, Mrs. Rose E. Langill, Mrs. William Scar and Mrs. William Custer.

The business meeting will be called to order by Mrs. Spencer F. Deming, President of the Federation, at 2:00 p.m., after which Mrs. Max R. Ulin, Program Chairman, will present the program. The public is invited to attend.

Postmaster Warns Vandals About Damaging Mailboxes

A stern warning to pranksters and vandals was issued today by Postmaster Ephraim Martin who stated that mailboxes are protected by Federal law.

Pranksters or vandals who damage or destroy the boxes and their contents may be in for a heavy fine or imprisonment, the Postmaster advised.

The Postmaster noted that some 25,000 mail receptacles, a substantial number which were in the Boston Postal District, which includes Newton, were damaged or destroyed in the past year. It was also noted that 2,641 persons were arrested in the year ending last June 30th for damaging or destroying mail receptacles.

Postmaster Martin quoted from the law: "Whoever willfully or maliciously injures, tears down or destroys any letterbox or other receptacles intended or used for the receipt or delivery of mail on any mail route, or breaks open the same willfully or maliciously injures, defaces or destroys any mail deposited therein, shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than three years."

This applies to all mail receptacles and the mail in them even though the boxes are brought by citizens and are their personal property. Postmaster Martin emphasized.

"Pranksters — and especially children who do not know any better — should be made to realize the seriousness of their actions," the Postmaster said. "A $1,000 fine or a term in jail is enough to take the humor out of any prank."

Often the mailbox damage is the work of youths, who do it for "kicks." And the courts have shown little sympathy for this youthful means of expression. In Michigan, a justice sentenced two 18-year olds to 10 days in jail, including two days on a diet of baby food. The diet specification, explained the judge, was because the youths "acted like babies." They were also fined $25.00 plus $15 costs.

In New York state, five youths were fined $25 each plus restitution or restoration, plus no driving for an indefinite period, plus an 8 p.m. curfew, plus a written analysis by each of a magazine article entitled, "A Judge Gets Tough On Hoodlums."

Two Iowa youths who damaged 39 mailboxes were required to personally apologize to each boxholder in addition to making repairs or providing a new box. In Missouri, three 17-year olds lost their driving privileges, were given a 9 p.m. curfew, and had to report twice weekly to juvenile authorities. They had damaged 63 mailboxes.

And in Arkansas, four juveniles faced the following: (1) no driving until further notice, (2) a 10 p.m. curfew, (3) return to court in a month with letters from their school principals reporting on grades and attitudes, (4) full restitution of all damages, and (5) wear a sign for 30 days stating "I have not learned to respect the property of others."

Rep. Ted Mann Assembles Facts On Air Pollution

"Because more than 144 million Americans live in cities and because air pollution increases as city population becomes more dense, I am assembling all available facts relating to this problem" Rep. Ted Mann of Newton declared today. "The purpose of this is to collect sufficient information to convince my fellow legislators of the necessity of taking action to attack this problem at once."

"The material I am compiling will make all of the people in Massachusetts aware of the ever present danger of smog and of the necessity of providing a remedy," Rep. Mann said. "The metropolitan area surrounding Boston is already among the ten worst polluted localities in the United States, with the result that problems of health, comfort, and public danger will grow increasingly worse."

"Unless we take action immediately, the lives, as well as the health, of our people will be endangered," the Newton legislator predicted. "This danger can grow to serious proportions, and recent history has recorded several 'killer fogs'. The best known incident occurred in London in 1952, where after mortality statistics were reviewed, it was found that London had experienced 4000 excess deaths in a seven-day period."

"When my survey is completed, I am absolutely certain it will demonstrate the necessity of taking action and indicate clearly the lines along which action must be taken. I certainly intend to do everything possible," Rep. Mann concluded, "to convince the Massachusetts legislature of the urgency and, consequently, of the necessity of adopting at once the bill which I have filed to study this entire problem in depth."

More Honors Received By Local Artist

Ruth Cobb of 38 Devon Rd., Newton Centre, prominent New England watercolor painter, recently received the Dawson Medal at the Philadelphia Watercolor Society, and also the Vasileff Prize at the Allied Artists Exhibition in New York City.

In addition, one of her watercolors was selected for production in the 1968 Unicef calendar. In 1966, she won the Butler Institute Purchase Prize, which raises to eight the number of museums that own her work.

Her husband, Lawrence Kuperman, also a well-known artist, teaches at the Massachusetts College of Art. They have two children, Nancy, a graduate student at Yale University School of Art, and David, who recently had a book of poems published while a student at Michigan State University.

Painted Objects Of Tin and Wood At Free Library

Painted tinware and wooden objects may be seen at the Newtonville Branch of the Free Library through the month of January. The exhibit is on loan through the courtesy of Mrs. Leona M. Feistel of Lexington.

Some of the basic designs and patterns are detailed copies of actual antique pieces, while others are of recent design and composition.

Mrs. Feistel has devoted a good part of her life to the study of arts and antiques. Her studies began with the reading of all the books she could find on the subject. Through her class work she became acquainted with the Lexington Arts and Crafts Society, where she joined the Decorators Guild. She has been an active member of the Guild for four years, and served as Guild Chairman for the last two years.

VOLPE SEEKS TO END U.S. HIGHWAY CUTBACKS

CONCERNED WITH a freeze in federal highway funds for Massachusetts, Governor Volpe sought support in Washington from the Congressional delegation to block further delays. Volpe said he was deeply concerned with rumors of an additional 12 per cent freeze in federal aid to state highway programs.

"I'm going to ask Senator Edward M. Kennedy as the senior senator to call the delegation together to fight these cutbacks," Volpe told a reporter.

The 17.5 per cent cut in the amount of highway funds that can be obligated during fiscal 1967 would mean a 67 per cent cut to Massachusetts, which has been slow to match available federal aid, according to Volpe's figures.

DRAFT CARD BURNER SENTENCED

A SELF-STYLED pacifist, who recently served a 20-day jail term after staging an anti-war sit-down demonstration, was convicted of burning his draft card. U.S. District Judge Anthony Julian continued the case of Gary G. Hicks, 20, of Cedar St., Roxbury, to Feb. 6 for disposition. Bail was continued at $3,000.

Asst. U.S. Atty. John Wall said Hicks burned his draft card outside the Charles Street Jail last April 19 after serving a jail sentence for staging a sit-down demonstration outside the Army Base in South Boston.

TOO MANY 'MISS MASSACHUSETTS' BEAUTIES

IF THE REAL "Miss Massachusetts" was asked to stand up four young beauties would be standing tall. And it is because of this confusion that Robert E. DeSimone, president of American Beauty Pageants, Inc., wants his firm's representatives of the "Miss America" and "Miss World" contests. DeSimone asked the Superior Court to restrain representatives of the "Miss America" and "Miss World" contests from using the title "Miss Massachusetts" copyrighted by his firm June 25, 1965. The firm said its "Miss Universe" representative, Miss Nancy Brackett of Mansfield, alone is entitled to be designated as "Miss Massachusetts."

CROWD OF VIP'S SEE LINNEHAN SWORN IN

A CROWD OF VIP's was on hand yesterday to see John J. Linnehan sworn in as federal co-chairman of the New England Regional Commission. Linnehan, 34, of Haverhill, was appointed to the $27,500 a year job, a new position, by President Johnson. He was confirmed by the Senate last Jan. 17.

Outgoing Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor who administered the oath, said "Job opportunities don't always come where the population growth is highest and the regional commissions are one of the most important agencies in this country for the future."

McNAMARA SAYS FOE'S TROOP GROWTH HALTED

DEFENSE SECRETARY Robert S. McNamara told Congress in testimony published yesterday that expansion of enemy forces in South Vietnam appears to have been nearly halted by allied ground fighting in the South and air raids on the North.

Compared with about 400,000 U.S. servicemen in Vietnam, McNamara said enemy forces in the South now total 275,000 men, a net gain of only about 25,000 in one year. And in the last half of 1966, he added, "the Viet Cong appeared to have lost about as many men as they were able to infiltrate from North Vietnam and recruit in South Vietnam."

'FANTASTIC' ANNOUNCEMENT READ BY POWELL

ADAM CLAYTON POWELL, who usually spends his vacations on Bimini dodging reporters, has announced he will hold a news conference Saturday on the island in the Bahamas.

A Powell spokesman said the Harlem Democrat—ousted at least temporarily from Congress—would have a "fantastic" announcement. There was speculation that Powell would discuss his willingness to settle a $164,000 libel judgment against him.

GM, CHRYSLER TO LAY OFF 16,000 WORKERS

GENERAL MOTORS and Chrysler, caught in an auto industry sales slump, have announced they would lay off nearly 16,000 workers in a seven-plant production cutback.

Chrysler said it was closing three big assembly plants for a week each and shutting down a fourth for two weeks. A total of 13,900 workers will be affected. General Motors said it was trimming production at three assembly factories and indefinitely laying off a total of 1,900 men.

NEW STORM MAKING ITS WAY EASTWARD

A WINTER STORM lashed the southern and central Rockies that triggered snowslides and clogged high mountain passes. The wintry blast was expected to fan out onto the Great Plains today and shove eastward in roughly the same path as the tornadic storm system that killed six persons and injured hundreds Tuesday.

The new storm, shoving eastward from the rain-lashed Pacific coast toward the central plains, dropped up to 18 inches of snow in the Utah mountains and 14 inches on southwestern Colorado's high country.

CHINESE INSURGENTS SEIZE KEY POINTS

CHINESE INSURGENT forces were reported to have captured two key provincial capitals in a spreading rebellion against Mao Tse-tung. There also were reports the army, possible kingmaker in the convulsions sweeping China, was wracked with dissension.

A Radio Moscow broadcast, not confirmed by other sources, said anti-Mao workers and peasants had wrested control of Nanchang, capital of Kiangsi province, in a series of battles that left nearly 600 pro-Mao Red Guards hospitalized. Kiangsi, a province in south central China with a population of more than 14 million, is one of the chief rice producing areas in the country.

ISRAEL, SYRIA AGREE TO KEEP PEACE

ISRAEL AND SYRIA have agreed at a face-to-face meeting they were committed to keep the peace on their tense 48-mile border. A spokesman for the United Nations Mixed Armistice Commission earlier said the two countries had signed a formal pledge to keep the peace on the frontier, where almost daily violence has threatened to plunge the Middle East into war.

But Wednesday night, the spokesman said the statement was simply a U.N. draft which both sides agreed to. He said Israel and Syria had agreed to refrain from hostile and aggressive action as provided by the 1949 general armistice between Israel and the Arab states and by the U.N. charter.

PREMIER KY ENDS NEW ZEALAND VISIT

SOUTH VIETNAMESE Premier Nguyen Cao Ky ended his three-day visit to New Zealand Thursday and headed back to Saigon via Manila. His stay in Auckland was marred by violent anti-war demonstrations. In one demonstration about 500 demonstrators chanting "Ky go home" formed a human wall in a vain attempt to prevent Ky from leaving a civic reception.

BRITAIN PLANS DRIVE ON ANTI-MISSILE RACE

BRITAIN IS PLANNING a new diplomatic campaign to persuade the Soviet Union to scuttle its plans for an anti-missile defense system, diplomatic sources say.

The British initiative was sparked by growing fears that a new arms race is in the making and that the Soviet anti-missile weapons would endanger the East-West nuclear balance of power.

Mayor, City Help Face Impasse Over Pay Hike

Mayor Monte G. Basbas, whose offer of a package plan calling for a 6 per cent pay raise as well as improved fringe benefits has been rejected by municipal employees, declared last night that he has gone as far as he feels he can go toward meeting the requests of the city workers.

The Mayor stressed that he has a responsibility to consider requests for increased expenditures in the light of the ability of the people of Newton to pay the bills, adding that he already is confronted with the prospect of a big jump in the city's tax rate this year.

The offer of a 6 per cent pay hike was made by Basbas to all city employees except those in the school, police, fire and welfare departments.

In addition to proposing the wage increase, the Mayor agreed to give the municipal workers a four-week vacation after 15 years of service and to revamp the present sick leave privileges so that a worker could have 15 days of special leave in a year.

Reynolds Winner Of Jaycees' Top Award

The Newton Jaycees at their annual Distinguished Service Award Banquet held Saturday night at the Holiday Inn in Newton, named Richard W. Reynolds of 7 Walden Street Newtonville, the recipient of the coveted award.

Four other young men, out of the thirteen nominated, were selected as the Outstanding Young Men of Newton. They were: Barry M. Bogard 46B Charlesbank Way Waltham; Donald J. Berig 245 Main Street Watertown; Charles E. Aucoin 14 Parsons Street West Newton; and Anthony J. Bibbo 47 Pine Ridge Road Wellesley Hills.

Registrar of Motor Vehicles General Richard E. McLaughlin, the guest speaker, lauded the Jaycees for accepting civic responsibility at a young age.

General McLaughlin based the major portion of his talk around the "influence of the automobile in today's society."

He said that "the automobile has remade the face of America, has brought the country closer, and unfortunately has filled 1/10th of all the hospital beds in Massachusetts today with accident victims."

The General went on to proclaim that out of the 900 people killed on Massachusetts roads last year, 100 were killed by automobiles.

The 15-days would cover not only sick leaves but also death or illness in a family and religious holidays, with an employee given the right to take two days of personal leave each year. The days unused in a year could be accumulated.

Mayor Basbas said he considered it a good package deal and one of the best proposals of its kind the city had ever made in its history.

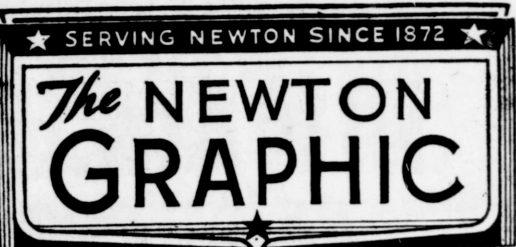

"In fairness to everybody, I think I have gone as far as I can go," Basbas stated.

If an agreement is not reached quickly and the stalemate continues, the Mayor said, he will submit a budget to the Board of Aldermen providing that the pay scales of the city workers be continued at their present levels.

Should an agreement be consummated after he presents his budget to the Aldermen, he would send them a supplementary budget, the Mayor pointed out. But he added that he did not know how receptive the Aldermen would be after feeling the impact of the original budget.

Mayor Basbas observed that time is running out on him. He said the law requires that he submit his budget to the Board of Aldermen.

Ted Kennedy Seeks To Give Democratic Party New Image

Some Democratic politicians, especially the staunch admirers of Francis X. Bellotti, are grumbling over certain of the choices Senator Edward M. Kennedy made when he created the new Democratic Advisory Council.

Two of the men picked by Ted Kennedy—Professor John Kenneth Galbraith and former White House Science Advisor Jerome B. Wiesner—supported Republican Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson against Bellotti in last fall's election campaign.

As far as the Bellotti partisans are concerned, this was enough to disqualify Messrs. Galbraith and Wiesner for service on a Democratic high-policy committee.

Ted Kennedy obviously didn't agree; neither was demen not later than Feb. 15 and that city department heads must prepare their budgets immediately so that he can go over the suggested expenditures.

The Mayor commented that the package plan he offered the municipal employees would cost the city about $300,000 from May 8, when the 6 per cent raises would become effective, through the end of the year.

The cost for a 12-month period in 1968 would be more than $400,000, according to estimates.

Mayor Basbas, in discussing the financial problems confronting him, said that if the 6 per cent raise is accepted by the city employees he will be obliged to raise at least $2.5 million more for municipal and school purposes this year than he did last year.

An expenditure of $325,000 is equivalent to $1 on the city's tax rate so that a rise of $2.5 million in the school and city budgets would hike the tax rate slightly more than $7.70.

The Mayor pointed out that the school budget is nearly $15 higher than last year; that the police department pay raises will cost $211,000 and the fire department wage hikes $203,000, that about $200,000 must be spent for the replacement of equipment and that street improvement costs will be up at least $100,000.

"All these things must be taken into consideration when we are considering the requests of any group of municipal employees," the Mayor remarked.

"I have tried to be as fair as possible with everyone and at the same time keep in mind my responsibility as Mayor to the citizens of Newton who must pay the bills as well as my duty to consider their ability to pay," Basbas declared.

"With all these factors in mind, I feel I have gone as far as I can go and that the offer to the city employees was a good one," Mayor Basbas concluded.

Nation Honors YMCA

Although most people are unaware of it, the country is observing National YMCA Week this week.

The Young Men's Christian Association is 123 years old. It was begun by a young man of 22 named George Williams in London in 1844.

He and a group of equally young friends banded together to form a club for the "improvement of the spiritual condition of young men in the drapery and other trades." It was a time when workers were caught in the cruelties of the industrial revolution.

Similar clubs spread rapidly throughout England and the rest of the United Kingdom, reaching Australia in 1850 and North America, where the organization eventually reached its greatest development, in 1851.

The first club in the Western Hemisphere was founded in Montreal, Canada, the second in Boston by a Baptist sea captain, Thomas V. Sullivan.

The goals of the YMCA are all designed for a single purpose: to develop better citizens of the nation and the world — better in mind, body and in heart.

It is a lay movement, nonsectarian and nonpolitical, Christian but without doctrinal views. Its programs include sports and physical education, camping, counseling, formal and informal education, public affairs and citizenship activities.

In a troubled world, the YMCA performs a profound and needed service.

We are happy that the nation has set aside one week of the year to honor such an organization.

Agree With Writers

It was gratifying to note that the most recent letter writers to the Graphic (Jan. 19) concerning the Newton school system presented their ideas in a calm and thoughtful manner. We agree with many of the points mentioned by these correspondents, particularly those stressing that innovation is necessary for maintaining and improving the quality of education. We were impressed with the Meadowbrook students' support of their curriculum. The lucid and concise presentation of their arguments was a credit to their "experimental" education. Strange as it may seem to some, curricula developed at Meadowbrook have been used to enrich the offerings at some of the less advantaged junior high schools in the city.

Perhaps if the Newton Graphic made more of an attempt to report the variety and purpose of educational activity in the schools, the community would have a more balanced view of the system. To date, the only extensive coverage has been concerned with the difficulties of the budget and the complaints of pressure groups.

In our own efforts to bring about improvements in a local school district we have always found Newton school administrators responsive to the concerns of parents. It behooves parents, in turn, to be better informed and rea-

Thanks Police

Editor of The Graphic:

The family of the late Ronna Ericson of 71 Oxford Road, Newton Centre want to thank the Newton Police Department for the quick response to their call for help in trying to save Ronna. The officers were at our home with their life saving equipment one minute after our call was placed, but it was too late to save her.

We especially want to thank the Officers Peter Wallace and John Quinn for their kindness and understanding. Thank you again,

Likes Student Letters

Editor of The Graphic:

Many times I find myself in complete disagreement with letters to the editor published in your paper. Oftentimes this is due to misinformation by the writers or half truths, rumors repeated as facts, etc. So many times we, as parents who have children in the public schools, wonder if the complaints we hear about in these letters are about the same school system our children attend.

It is most gratifying to see the letters published today. As long as we have students of the caliber of Lynne Brayman, Michael Hecht and Matthew Williams who have both the interest and initiative to "set the record straight," the future of the City of Newton will be in good hands, and our school system is really accomplishing good.

Perhaps, as Lynne brought out, if more mothers examined their own efforts toward the education of their children, fewer complaints and more accomplishments would be the rule.

As an Alderman of the city, I have had occasion to differ with the School Committee and School Department, but every day I am thankful for the fine system both of these groups have set up and maintained in the past. And I am confident that they will continue to do so well, if not even better, in the future.

Student Answers

Mrs. Cohen's complaints about the Continuous Learning (C.L.) program at Meadowbrook (Newton Graphic, Jan. 12, 1967) aroused me to write this letter.

I am a sophomore at Newton South this year, but I was fortunate enough to be in the C. L. program at Meadowbrook for three years. As a student who participated in the program, not as a parent who hears rumors about it, I know that I learned a great deal in those three years, more than I could possibly have learned in other programs.

I feel that as a result of my training I can now apply myself in nearly any learning situation. From my observations of other Meadowbrook C. L. students in high school, I find an overwhelmingly large group now participates in student government. The students who raise interesting questions in classes and who add to the class discussions are predominantly former C. L. students.

Kids who have been through the C. L. program become more actively involved in the process of education.

The facts at Meadowbrook were definitely not hushed up as Mrs. Cohen charges. As a matter of fact, the C. L. program attracted visitors from all over the world. As students we sometimes felt self-conscious with so many visitors, but we felt proud to be part of such a venture.

Newton never got its rating as an excellent educational system because it was satisfied to stop with an adequate system. Our educational staff always has strived to improve the process of learning.

Mrs. Cohen speaks of the College Boards and SAT scores as if they were the final goal of our education. In fact, Continuous Learning emphasizes the point that our education does not stop when we leave school and the pressures of grades are off. We expect to be able to continue to gather knowledge under our own steam for the rest of our lives.

Sincerely Yours,
MARJORIE BARUCH

Political Highlights

Ted willing to bypass such men as General James M. Gavin because Gavin had backed Republicans against Democrats in the past.

Professor Galbraith's action in vigorously supporting the 3 per cent limited sales tax during the prolonged battle waged over it in 1965 also didn't prompt Ted to read him out of the party.

What Ted Kennedy obviously is trying to do is give a new tone and image to the Democratic party in Massachusetts after seeing the Republicans win the Governorship, Attorney Generalship and Lieutenant Governorship in the last two elections.

That was evident when he picked Lester S. Hyman as the new Democratic State Committee Chairman.

Ted actually accomplished quite a feat when he succeeded in persuading men such as Robert Slater, president of the John Hancock Insurance Co.; Eli Goldston, head of Eastern Gas & Fuel Associates; Daniel P. Moynihan, director of the Harvard-M.I.T. Joint Center for Urban Studies; M.I.T. Professor Paul Samuelson, M.I.T. Provost Jerome Wiesner, himself a former White House aide; General Gavin of Arthur D. Little, Inc., and Professor Galbraith to accept positions on the Advisory Council.

That some of them at one time or another endorsed, voted for or contributed to Republican candidates hardly offsets the fact that they are outstanding citizens, most of whom could get big fees for giving their advice in private industry, or that they could be a tremendous asset to the Democratic party in Massachusetts.

While Massachusetts is basically a Democratic State, it should be apparent by now to almost anyone that a vast number of people in this Commonwealth who consider themselves Democrats do not vote for a candidate for high public office merely because he carries a Democratic party label.

When they are making their choices for the major offices at the top of the ballot, they vote for the men and their qualifications, not for party labels. As they move down the ballot to the less important positions, they pay more attention to party designations.

If Professors Galbraith and Wiesner have voted for a Republican candidate because they considered him better qualified than his Democratic opponent, they have done exactly the same thing as a lot of other Democrats.

Ted Kennedy presumably is trying to strengthen the Democratic party's appeal for those Democrats who don't always vote Democratic.

How effective the new Democratic Advisory Council will prove to be remains to be determined.

It will not be effective unless there is a real liaison between the Council and such Democratic legislative leaders as Senate President Maurice A. Donahue and House Speaker John F. X. Davoren.

Democratic State Committee Chairman Hyman will strive to establish such a liaison between the top Democratic figures on Beacon Hill and the business, industrial and educational leaders who comprise the Advisory Council.

What grumbling there has been over the makeup of the Advisory Council picked by Senator Kennedy has been mostly among the lesser politics in the Democratic party whose usual complaint is that "we need this Council like we need cancer."

Democratic legislative chieftains such as Senate President Donahue, House Speaker Davoren, Senate Majority Leader Kevin Harrington and House Majority Leader Robert Quinn have the ability and capacity to work with the members of the Advisory Council and to establish a mutually beneficial relationship.

One complaint of some old-line politicians is that Democratic candidates for high public offices might emerge from the new Advisory Council.

If an outstanding member of the Council did decide to run for office, it wouldn't exactly be a tragedy except to those who are allergic to new faces.

Ted Kennedy deserves great commendation, not criticism, for putting together a Democratic Advisory Council of such imposing stature.

Richardson Maps Drive At State's Worst Racket

Attorney General Richardson has insulated himself from the investigation into Francis X. Bellotti's association with an Ohio-based insurance company to about as great a degree as he can by appointing a three-man panel of attorneys to oversee the probe.

Two of the three men are Democrats. All three are lawyers of outstanding ability and unquestioned integrity. There could be no political tinge to whatever finding their investigation produces.

Richardson himself is concentrating for the moment on a drive he plans to mount against organized crime in Massachusetts.

He is mapping a two-pronged campaign, one section against the loan shark racket in the State, the other against illegal traffic in drugs, including LSD.

For several reasons the move against the lucrative loan shark racket heads the list of things Richardson intends to do.

One is that alarmingly little has been done to curb it. Another is that police investigations have indicated clearly that most of the gangland slayings have been tied in with the loan shark racket.

What probably concerns Richardson more than the fact that loan sharks and their enforcers have periodically been murdered in underworld wars is that many innocent people have been victimized in the loan shark racket, bilked of large amounts of money and brutally beaten when they were unable to pay what was demanded of them.

There is no way of telling how many people, driven to the last straits of desperation by the threats of strong-arm loan shark enforcers, have committed suicide. The number unquestionably is substantial every year.

The loan shark racket is the biggest and most lucrative of all the rackets in Massachusetts which, of course, is why it regularly causes murders by rival groups.

It is conservatively estimated that it yields more than $1 million a week in the Greater Boston area alone, with most of that sum going to the crime syndicate.

The big problem confronting Richardson is that most of the people who are being charged higher interest rates on loans than the law allows are afraid to talk and are fearful of threats made to them by loan shark enforcers.

Police usually can get a lead on loan shark operations only when someone goes to them in utter desperation.

Ironically, the loan shark operators usually run for cover and cancel out a loan when they learn a complaint has been made to police. Their threats don't materialize into violence when they know the police are working on a case.

Another handicap under which police often work is that when a victim of a loan shark operation goes to them and the loan subsequently is cancelled, the victim too often decides not to push the case and suddenly develops a poor memory as to what has happened.

The gangland shootings have erupted because an underworld figure failed to pay back with the stipulated interest a loan which had been made to him or because a person heavily in debt to a loan shark decided to kill before he was killed.

What Attorney General Richardson primarily hopes to do is to prevent ordinary people, with no underworld ties or criminal records, being victimized when they get into the clutches of the loan sharks.

People in need of money and unable to get it from a bank or a legitimate lending agency make agreements they are unable to keep.

They are charged higher interest rates than the law permits. They are assessed heavy fines when payments are late. They pay back two or three times as much as they originally borrowed, then are told that hasn't even covered the interest and are threatened with bodily harm if they don't pay up.

The threats, coming from a sinister character, usually are enough to intimidate the average borrower.

Once in a while the threats are backed up by violence-by a brutal beating, by breaking a man's legs with a baseball bat to teach him a lesson, by slashing his face with a razor.

This is the racket Attorney General Richardson is determined to break if there is any way of breaking it.

A former U.S. Attorney who knows something about organized crime in Massachusetts, Richardson has reason to suspect that money stolen in some robberies has gone into the far-flung loan shark operation.

The campaign Richardson is planning to cut down the traffic in drugs including LSD, probably will face fewer obstacles than will his drive against the nefarious loan shark racket.

It will be a tremendous accomplishment if he can make any headway in the two undertakings he is mapping.

Speech, Hearing Group Planning Spring Affair

The Ball Committee of the Speech and Hearing Foundation is planning its annual Spring extravaganza for May 6th. This year it will be Holiday in Costa Smeralda.

To stimulate the ladies on the committee to their usual creativity in planning, Mrs. James T. Godino of Waban has invited the Ball Committee to luncheon at her home overlooking the fairways of Brae Burn tomorrow (Friday). A gourmet luncheon featuring Mediterranean specialties will be served. Mrs. Godino and Mrs. John D. Sweeney of Newton will be co-chairmen of the Ball coordinating plans to ensure the guests a delightful evening.

This year the new outstanding holiday resort in Sardinia, created by the Aga Khan, was selected by the committee as their theme.

Several of the committee members met the Aga Khan when he was a Harvard student and lived in Cambridge.

Mrs. Harvey W. Newgent, president of the Friends of the Speech and Hearing Foundation, and Mrs. Robert F. Tilley, will devote their attention to the fine details which make the ball-goers active participants in a good time. Mrs. Cecil S. Rose, founder of the Foundation and chairman of Planning and Development tried to arrange for a trip to Sardinia before the Ball to ensure proper local color and decor, but Sardinia is a summer resort and this is not the time of year to go.

The current turmoil in China seems to underscore the fallacy of our two-Chinese foreign policy. There were ever an opportunity for Chiang Kai-Shek to re-establish himself on the mainland, this should be it — but there hasn't been the slightest indication that he can capitalize on this opportunity. Apparently any action he would take would have to have the backing of the United States and that could only mean more and larger military involvement, another pitfall which I sincerely hope we will evade. Unless the Chinese on the mainland can effect an internal change on their own and invite Chiang back, we might just as well acknowledge the inevitable and change the name of nationalist China to Formosa once and for all.

Cash Cache In 'Thousands' Taken In Newton Break

Two youths were arrested the past week as Newton police investigated a series of housebreaks which netted thieves several thousand dollars in cash.

Police said Mary Greco, of 102 Los Angeles st., Newtonville, reported a cache of $20 bills amounting to "several thousand dollars," was taken from her home last Saturday. Entry was made between 6 and 8 p.m. through a cellar door.

A Boston youth, Edwin Yonkers, 18, was arrested at the Jackson Homestead early Friday and later was arraigned in Newton District Court where he was charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime and possession of burglary tools.

Judge Julian L. Yesley continued his case without a plea to Jan. 27 and he was held in lieu of $10,000 bail.

A Newton juvenile was arrested last Monday night for being abroad in the nighttime and charged with possession of burglar tools Tuesday morning in Juvenile session of Newton District Court. His case was continued until Feb. 6.

The youth was apprehended at a bus stop near the location of an attempted housebreak in the home of Barnett Miller, of 33 Clements rd., Newton.

Cora Jordan, a domestic at the Miller home, called police about 9 p.m. after she heard someone trying to enter the house. She called out, then heard the would-be intruder running along the side of the house.

Earlier Monday afternoon, Alan Seligman reported his home at 97 Gordon rd., Waban, was entered and an undetermined amount of jewelry taken from a box in the master bedroom.

No signs of forced entry were visible and Seligman said his car was stolen last September and the house key was on the key ring taken with the car.

Thieves using the same method of entry broke into three homes last Friday.

Leo P. Grace, of 1736 Commonwealth ave., West Newton, said his house was entered by breaking a pane of glass in the kitchen door. He said $120 in bills was taken from a bureau drawer.

Philip Nogee, 61 Dedham st., Newton Highlands, told police his home was broken into. Police said a pane of glass near the lock was broken. Some $5 was taken from a jewelry box.

The third break was reported by Morris Serata, of 702 Boylston st., Newton Centre. He said a pane of glass in the kitchen door was broken and $3 taken from a bedroom.

Four other breaks were reported over the past weekend. Some $50 in cash, a mink stole and a Persian lamb coat were taken from the home of Joseph Farrell, of 242 Quinobquin rd., Newton Lower Falls. Assorted jewelry and silverware was also taken.

Yale Goldberg, of 33 Gordon rd., Waban, and Edgar Braff, of 36 Lansing rd., West Newton, reported two house breaks.

Braff said his mother's home at 142 Cotton st., Newton, was entered sometime in the past three weeks. She is in Florida for the winter.

Goldberg said entrance to his house was gained by ripping screens from a rear porch.

Harold MacNeill, of Wayland, owner of MacNeill Engineering Co. at 225 Riverview ave., West Newton, told police that sometime during the weekend the firm was entered. A coin box in a soft drink machine was emptied.

Imports, Taxes Cloud Steel Outlook for '67

By ROBERT J. REGAN
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—The nation's steel mills put another solid year behind them in 1966, but their prospects for doing the same in 1967 are dim.

Production set a new record in 1966 — about 134 million tons, but a slowdown in the third and fourth quarters pulled shipments for the year down to about 90 million tons or 2.5 million tons below the 1965 record.

Steel prices had been on the uptrend when 1966 got underway. The industry handed President Johnson a New Year's Eve present of a $5 per ton boost in structural steel prices (subsequently shaved to $2.50), and flat-rolled products, accounting for nearly a third of total shipments went up in August.

But the trend was in the opposite direction in the final weeks of 1966. Electro-galvanized steel prices were reduced and there were some reports of sharper competitive practices at the mill level, like upgrading steel grades on orders without matching increases in price.

None in the steel industry was forecasting a major setback for 1967, but there was acknowledgement that steel's major customers—autos, appliances and construction—were in a period of retrenchment that clouded the outlook for the first quarter at least.

Back in November, first quarter shipment projections were running around the 22.5 million ton level, but some analysts were shaving a million tons off just before Christmas.

U. S. Steel chairman Roger M. Blough said in a year-end statement that periodic fluctuations in steel demand are to be expected, but the longer term steel market will expand through aggressive research and marketing.

Blough said the industry has two more immediate problems—imports and taxes. He cited a "dual need for redress against current dumping practices and for equalizing the conditions of entry of foreign steel into our domestic markets with those applicable to our steel exports seeking entry into foreign markets." Imports now take 10 per cent of the U. S. market, Blough said.

Blough also voiced his opposition to a general tax increase in 1967 which, he said, "would appear to involve risks greater than any benefit that might flow from it as a tool for restraining the economy or for reallocating the burden now borne respectively by fiscal and monetary restraints."

Armco Steel Corp. president William Verity said 1967 production will dip about three per cent to 129 million tons and that shipments will be down about the same amount to a range of 88 to 90 million tons.

He said, however, actual consumption by industry in 1967 will equal the 1966 record of 100 million tons, and that imports will be about 10 million tons.

The steel mills will have another year of labor peace in 1967; major contracts with the unions don't run out until 1968. The main problems center on imports, the effects of tight money on construction, particularly residential, and the effect of suspension of the investment tax credit on capital spending in other industries.

Shrinkage of general steel shipments has tended to magnify the importance of defense-connected orders but the mills are quick to point out that defense orders are a small percentage of the total market.

North And South School Runners Lose In Track

The Newton high school track team defending champions in the Met Track League's Division One, were toppled last Saturday in a meet with powerful Weymouth at Commonwealth Armory. The Maroon and Gold team whipped Newton, 51½ to 34.23.

Newton South high school captured only one event in its 22-64 loss to Randolph high school. The winner of the one event was sophomore Steve Parnell, who became the first league entry to jump over six feet this year in high jump competition.

Although disappointed that his team lost, Coach Ed Doyle said he was encouraged that "two of our boys continued to show well. Sophomore Don McMillen ran well in the dash, and Junior Ned Epstein came through in the 300."

The only other Newton winner was Joe Greenman, who ran the mile in 4:48.6. Newton South's Stan Dolberg finished second in the 1000-yard run but he set a new school record of 2:26.8.

Minor Fire Kills Newton Resident

A minor fire in Newton last week caused the death of a Newton Highlands man.

Daniel H. Moran, 65, of 151 Winchester st., died at Newton Wellesley Hospital several hours after he was burned in a fire at the rear of the Country Day School of the Sacred Heart, 785 Centre st., Newton Centre, where he was employed.

Moran and a fellow worker were burning leaves in the rear of the school Friday afternoon when the blaze spread to the woods. When firefighters and police arrived they found Moran with his clothing on fire and completely enveloped in flames.

Fellow workers, police and firemen attempted to roll him on the ground to extinguish the flames. He was rushed to the hospital by Patrolmen Peter J. Wallace and John W. Quinn, where he died several hours later despite attempts to save life.

Moran, a native of Randolph, lived in Newton for 40 years.

In addition to his wife, Evelyn (Spaulding) Moran, he leaves two sons, Robert J. of New Orleans, La., and Daniel H. Jr., of Needham; three daughters, Mrs. Robert A. Wheeler, of Durham, N.C.; Mrs. John M. Duggan, of Marshfield and Mrs. Harold H. Brown, Jr., of West Hartford, Ct., and nine grandchildren.

The afternoon prayer service, a first in Newton to be held in a Catholic Church, will be conducted by Fr. Feeney.

Co-leaders will be Mrs. Orazio E. Vaccaro of Corpus Christi parish and Mrs. J. Robert Nelson of the United Methodist Church.

Readers will include Miss Clara Nicholson of the Orthodox Church and Mrs. John Evans of Corpus Christi Church. Refreshments during the social hour that will follow in the church hall will be served by the ladies of Corpus Christi Guild, Mrs. James D. Timoney, president.

The World Day of Prayer offering will be divided between the Swaziland Sebenta Society Adult Literacy Program in Africa, and the missionary endeavors of Rev. John C. Lyons of Parroquia De La Preciosissima Sangre of Lima, Peru, formerly of Corpus Christi Parish.

Mrs. Norman T. Ross will be in charge of the evening meeting.

Miss Turnbull, an Episcopalian and former staff member of the World Council of Churches Secretariat, has just concluded a globe-circling trip visiting and consulting with Orthodox churchwomen around the world. Her speech at both afternoon and evening meetings will undoubtedly bring much insight into the Christian meaning of worship.

Currently a member of the Ecumenical Commission of the Archdiocese of Boston, Rev. John T. Feeney is a former Professor of Fundamental Dogmatic Theology at St. John's Seminary in Brighton as well as former Professor of Ecclesiology and Patrology at Little Rock Seminary in Arkansas.

... a subject arousing more interest than at any time since early Christianity.

Is spiritual healing a modern day possibility? Can it be explained in terms of understandable spiritual law? How does prayer help? What does prayer bring to the person looking for basic truth as well as physical healing?

A careful, point-by-point exploration of such questions emerges from the taping of this unscripted, informal dialogue.

Mushrooming Fan Clubs Make Man With Pointed Ears Happy

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Leonard Nimoy, the man with the pointed ears on NBC-TV's new "Star Trek," plays a blood-less Vulcan in the science fiction thriller.

Off-screen he is human enough, with a wife, Sandi, a son, Adam, 9, and a daughter, Julie, 11. He also is master of a dachshund, Brunie.

The Nimoy family live in Fox Hills, a posh suburb near Century City. Their home is a 40-year-old Mediterranean Spanish, decorated "for character."

Nimoy explains the character as heavy furniture purchased at second-hand stores. There are occasional modern pieces mixed with things going back to the early 1890s.

The actor is an articulate man who taught acting classes for five years in Hollywood, all the while appearing in secondary roles in movies and guest shots on television. A native of Boston, Nimoy is of Russian extraction.

Because his role calls for considerable makeup, he arises weekday mornings by 5:30 and arrives at Desilu studios an hour later to have breakfast with the cosmetic man. He spends an hour and a half in the chair while his pointed ears and other special details are applied.

12-Hour Day
His working day generally runs 12 hours.

On weekends he goes ocean sailing or surf fishing. "I like the beach," he says. "I go out there by myself and I really don't care if I catch any fish, but it's great for relaxing."

Since the show made its debut this season fan clubs have sprung up. His fan mail jumps 30 per cent a week. In his role as "Mr. Spock" he appeals to youngsters because he never blows his cool.

"I don't understand the reaction among young people to the role," he says. "But I'm happy that they've taken to him."

First Series Role
This is Nimoy's first role in a series: "I love it because it gives me someplace to go to work every day, which actors always cry for."

At 35, Nimoy believes his career is really just being launched, although he began working in Hollywood 15 years ago.

Amy Kraft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kraft, 12 Hillcrest Cir., Waban, a sophomore at Ithaca College, N.Y., was among the top 10 percent in scholarship for the fall term of the college of arts and sciences.

Cong. Heckler Cut By Own GOP For Rule Vote

Congresswoman Margaret M. Heckler, whose district includes Newton, has been quietly punished by the Republican leadership in the national House for breaking with her party chiefs on the first day of the congressional session.

The break occurred when Congresswoman Heckler voted for the retention of the so-called 21-Day Rule designed to prevent the House Rules Committee from bottling up bills and not reporting them out for a vote by the full body.

A coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats succeeded in rescinding the rule, but Mrs. Heckler refused to go along with the move.

Up to that time she had been slated for appointment to the House Judiciary Committee. Her independence, however, cost her a place on that committee. Congresswoman Heckler has adopted the attitude that if being a rubber stamp is the price for appointment to an important committee, she isn't prepared to pay it.

Donald D. Gates of 61 Bridges Ave., Newtonville, was awarded the degree of Master of Business Administration from Babson Institute in Wellesley Hills. Barry D. Wishnow of 7 Westbourne Rd., Newton Centre, was awarded a BS in Business Administration. Both completed their degree requirements Dec. 10, and will receive formal recognition for the achievement at the June commencement.

Miss Elizabeth Steffans came out the large winner from the Center as she accomplished a difficult feat, and won the coveted BOZO treasure chest. This included numerous games and toys etc. These trips have been an annual activity of the Center.

Registrations for new activities and a limited number in the continuing programs are underway. Children's programs include the varied art classes for boys and girls up through sixth grade. Classes will be led by Mrs. Libby Van Buskirk and Mrs. Linda Janower. Mrs. Janower will conduct the class for grades 3 and 4 beginning today (Thursday) from 3:15 to 4:15, and will continue for 8 sessions. The course will relate art to other fields of expressions, including music, science, and literature. A balance between individual experiences and group activity will be maintained, with instruction designed to stimulate the natural creativity of all children.

A 12-week art class for 5th and 6th graders will begin Jan. 31 on Tuesdays from 3:30-5:00 under the direction of Mrs. Van Buskirk. The class will work with many different art materials, concentrating first on printmaking, woodcutting, string and fabric printing, cardboard cuts and visiting the Boston Printmaker Show at the Museum of Fine Arts in March. The emphasis is put not on the end result, but on the fun of letting the imagination go and creating uniquely.

Adult activities with openings include golf, adult painting, and cake decorating. Popular Den Meany returns to lead the Golf School. Seven classes are scheduled for successive Wednesday evenings beginning Jan. 18, Friday evenings, Jan. 20, and in addition Tuesday mornings beginning Jan. 17. Each class is for an hour period with a maximum of six students per class. Evening classes have starting times of 6:30 through 9:30 and the morning groups are held at 9:30, 10:30, and 11:30. Lessons are planned for the driver, fairway woods, long irons, and chipping and putting.

Adult painting classes are under the direction of Miss Fayette Hauser, and will be held on Monday and Wednesday evenings with registrants selecting the night of their preference. The course is designed for those who wish to learn the essentials of painting. Exploration into the structure of basic forms will lead to the painting of still life and portraits. A variety of mediums will be used. No experience is necessary.

A class in cake decorating conducted by Ruth Lucas will begin soon with the date to be announced. The classes are held on Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30. In commenting on the course, Mrs. Lucas stated that a homemaker with little or no experience can easily learn to decorate beautifully and professionally starting with the simple steps of cake decorating to border work, life-like flowers, lattice work, basket weaving, scenic and special cake arrangements.

For information on these and other activities, visit the Center at 429 Cherry street, West Newton, or phone 244-2260.

Today's Agri-Fact: With all our nation's emphasis on science and industry, it is easy to lose sight of the fact that a healthy percentage of our scientific effort has gone into improving our agricultural output. Although there are fewer farms and people now directly engaged in agriculture, one hour of farm labor produces more than 5 times as much food as after World War I. Crop production is 70% higher per acre. Output per breeding animal has doubled since 1920.

Project Exodus Founder Speaks At Church Here

The 1967 series of "New Frontiers in Religion" at the First Unitarian Society in Newton will present the founder and chairman of Boston's "Operation Exodus" on Sunday, February 5, at 11 a.m.

Mrs. Ellen Jackson conceived the plan whereby parents of school children took the initiative in seeking better educational opportunities within the Boston school system. At present there are 876 children taking part in a daily busing program to less-crowded schools.

Dr. Leslie T. Pennington, minister of the West Newton church, announced that Mrs. Jackson will speak on "The Frontiers of Concerted Black-White Power."

He said "We are honored to present Mrs. Jackson in our pulpit in this 1967 series on New Frontiers in Religion. The first three sermons in last year's series were given by distinguished Protestant, Jewish and Catholic leaders, each reckoning with the frontiers of the ecumenical movement.

"There is no more important religious frontier in Greater Boston today than that of responsible co-operation between those of us living in the suburbs and the responsible leaders of the Negro communities of the inner city of Boston.

"Mrs. Jackson has distinguished herself as a leader in the movement of the Negroes toward the concerted power of responsible citizenship," he said.

Following the service Mrs. Jackson will share in a discussion of the issues presented in her address. The public is invited to attend.

Wrestlers Victorious . . .

While Newton So. High's Hockey, Hoop Squads Lose

By Ray Kwasnick

Newton South's cagers halted a seven game skid with a decisive win over Cambridge Latin, 77-65, and then followed it up with a squeaker over Watertown, 56-55. Their next contest is tomorrow night against cross-town rivals, Newton High. A month ago South lost a tough defensive battle to the same squad.

In the Latin game the Lions took command early and never let up. The first period was fairly even as the South lead bounced from as few as two points to as many as six points at times. However, two Latin buckets cut the margin to 18-15 at the buzzer.

The second quarter proved decisive. Captain Steve Cooper poured in 11 points as the Lions cracked the game open and seized a 14 point advantage at the break. The key play was turned in by Cooper. With the score 23-19, "Coop" stole a Cantab pass at half court and raced the length of the floor for a South basket.

The Lions maintained the edge throughout the rest of the affair although the Cantabs fought to within five points in the final stanza. However South held on for its first win in eight games.

Cooper led all scorers with 25 markers while Rick Ginsburg, Lee Casty, and Bob Whittlesey also hit double figures with 15, 12, and 12. Rick Walsh kept Latin in the game with 24.

The difference in this game can be seen in the field goal percentages. South converted 57% of its floor shots while the Cantabs could only muster 37%. Also the Lions were 81% from the line to Latin's 68%.

At Watertown, the Lions five battled throughout the entire game and didn't pull it out until the last seconds of the final period. The lead was never larger than five points as it seeped throughout the game. The score was knotted at 14-14 and 28-28 at the quarter and half.

Watertown hit its highest lead, five points, in the third period but South drew within three with 40 seconds to go. Steve Gordon hit a fall away jump shot to close the gap to one.

Then with 15 seconds left Ginsburg dribbled a round looking for an opening. He saw Cooper cut to the basket from the left and passed the ball to him. With time running out Cooper's overhead lay-up shot from underneath sealed South's second league win.

Again Cooper copped 25 points. Ginsburg with 18, 10 from the charity stripe was second man for the Lions. Watertown's Raute and Glidden both threw in 17 for the losers.

Wayland unleashed a powerful attack as the sluggish Lion pucksters went down to their second loss, 5-0. The defeat dropped them into a third place tie with Lynnfield. South faces a weak Weston squad on Saturday at 1:30.

Without Captain Frank Rezzuti, who is out with mononucleosis, the Lions couldn't generate an offense. There was one point in the opening period when the puck was lying just outside the Wayland crease, but none of the Lions could put it in the net.

Despite the 5-0 score, goalie Dave Roberts was good and even spectacular at times as he turned away 26 shots. One was a beautiful kick-out save on a Wayland penalty shot.

Tommy Rezzuti had to be carried off the ice as he was injured by a hard check.

The wrestling team lost its unblemished record against powerful Melrose last Friday, 31-16. However the grapplers picked up two wins — one over Malden and a forfeit by Waltham — to increase its record of 7-1.

A major factor in the setback was the absence from the line-up of five starters. Marshal Winn-112 lb. class, Marty Leventhal-127 lb. class, Howie Gershman-138 lb. class, Danny Mendelson-154 lb. class, and Bruce Lakin-180 lb. class, were all out due to injuries and illness. Most of them should be back in time for Friday's bout with Westford Academy.

Three men remain undefeated as they gained most of South's points against Melrose. Dave Sellinger, Herbie Buchine, and Lou DiFazio all boast 8-0 marks. Norman Kaplan also picked up a decision-win to boost his record to 7-1. Ned MacDonald dropped his first of the year to a wrestler who doubles as one of the states highest scoring fullbacks during the football season, Brian Berkowitz.

Ethical Society Lecture Series Opens Jan. 27th

A series of three open meetings to discuss the nature of Ethical Humanism will be held by the Ethical Society, 5 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, beginning Friday, January 27 at 8 p.m. Khoren Arisian, Jr. will lead the discussions.

The evolution of humanist thought, secular and religious, in America, and the beginnings of Ethical Culture and its relation to Judaism and liberal Christian religions, will be the topic of the first meeting. On succeeding Friday evenings, personal growth and social participation, agnosticism, atheism and humanism, and individualism of belief will be discussed.

All residents of Newton interested in participating in these meetings are cordially invited to attend. Further information may be obtained by phoning the office at 267-3138 or John Weaver at 332-8092.

Shows Need For Accent On River's Recreational Use

Newton Conservators, Inc. was represented by Benjamin F. Shattuck, president, at the public hearing in Wellesley on the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers five-year inventory and plan for the Charles River watershed.

The Conservators said the Corps' planning should be oriented toward the recreational uses of the river — that such uses are now limited by pollution, low flow, duckweed and algae growth, insufficient public access to the river, and gaps in the MDC river reservation system in West Newton, Auburndale, Upper Falls, Newton Highlands, and Newton Centre.

Commenting on the MDC plans to widen Cordingly dam at Lower Falls, Mr. Shattuck said this should be a combined engineering and parks project.

"We want to be able to look at the waterfall from the new footbridge above the dam and we want to be able to see the falls from the riverbanks with out trespassing on private land in Newton or Wellesley," he said.

Water quality of the Charles must be improved so that boating, fishing, or even swimming on a limited scale can be enjoyed. Connection of the South Metropolitan trunk sewer and abandonment of the Dedham sewage outflow will help some to clean up Newton's part of the river, according to the Conservators.

"But," said Mr. Shattuck, "seepage from the Gardner Street dump in West Roxbury, informal private dumping along riverbanks and in the channel, oil pollution from parking lots and storm drains, seepage from the Rumford Avenue dump in West Newton, the Waltham dump, Watertown's Pleasant Street dump, organic pollution from combined storm and sanitary sewers in Waltham and Watertown, industrial pollution from one or two companies in Newton and Needham and others in Waltham and Watertown will continue to degrade the water quality of the Charles as it flows past Newton."

The Metropolitan Area Planning Council's Open Space and Recreation Study has suggestions for boat landings along the Newton section of the river. So does the Wellesley Garden Club Plan for Lower Falls. So will the Conservators' Upper Falls Plan for Route 9-Kendrick Street section of the Charles.

"We hope that the Corps' study will take into account local planning for the river where it is already available," said Mr. Shattuck.

The Conservators are concerned not only about land use along the riverbanks, but also about wise land use in all of Newton since the entire city lies within the watershed, Mr. Shattuck declared. Newton cannot demand that cities and towns upstream practice wise upland, wetland, woodland, pond and stream management if the city is not willing to regulate its land uses. Wise management of water demands wise management of the land which holds the water.

Whether the Charles is to be or not to be for future generations depends on disciplined land use now in Newton as well as in the other cities and towns in the watershed, he said.

In order that the Corps' watershed plan can be formulated and put in action, and not on the shelf, Mr. Shattuck cited the need for citizen participation, with "liaison at regular intervals between the Corps staff, the Advisory Committee of federal and state agency heads, and the proposed Citizens Advisory Committee which the Conservators suggest should be formed without delay."

settles highways last year, 600 of them were the cause of drunken drivers. Highway safety has become a prime governmental concern.

For the first time in history, standards have been leveled on the automobile industry as to safety of design and construction by the government. The public has demanded these new standards. Registrar McLaughlin concluded his talk by asking for improvement in the 3 E's — Engineering - Education - and Enforcement.

Upon receiving his Distinguished Service Award, Richard W. Reynolds, a pharmacist at the F. A. Hubbard Drug Co., based his acceptance speech upon "Young Men—A Challenge."

Mr. Reynolds stated that "it was difficult to accept the award thinking not only of the other qualified nominees, but of those outstanding young men who were not nominated."

He also said that "what makes this even more difficult is that this year, as in years to come, so many young men, many from Newton, are on the battlefields of Vietnam ready to make the supreme sacrifice so that we may enjoy right here a moment of friendship and cheerful associations."

Mr. Reynolds continued, "our greatest danger can only be ignorance, indifference, complacency, and apathy. Young men possess all the dynamic characteristics to achieve victory over apathy."

He concluded with, "awards and recognitions are presented every day of the week, but efforts toward generating tomorrow's leaders require stimulation and training year round."

Hoop Win Streak Snapped . . .

Newton High Edged, 49-45, In Tight Basketball Game

By JOE GORIN

A three-game winning streak by the Newton High basketball team was snapped last Friday night when they dropped a 49-45 decision to Brookline High. Earlier in the week, the Tigers defeated Watertown, 45-37.

In their loss to Brookline, Newton trailed all the way. During one spot in the second half, however, the score was tied. Near the end, Newton frequently drew close, but little Joe Mahoney kept coming through with clutch plays to take his teammates out of trouble.

In fact, Mahoney, who is one of the lesser known members of Brookline's starting five proved to be the team leader. His 16 point contribution outshone Steve Rubin a greater Boston all-scholastic. Rubin was held to his lowest point total of the year with 9 points as he was defended beautifully by Warren Houston and Ron Cook.

Paul Ward again carried the bulk of the Newton scoring with 22 points. It marked his fourth consecutive game in which he walked away with Newton's scoring honors.

Against Watertown, it was Ward who sealed the fate of the visiting opposition. His great rebounding and 16 points led the Tigers, as Warren Houston added 15 points for the "good guys."

Going into the fourth quarter, the Cats trailed by a 30-28 count, but outscored Watertown 17-7 in that frame.

Through the last four games, the Tigers have had great defense, holding opponents to 171 points, an average of less than 43 per game. Although the offense has outscored the opponents in these last several games it has lacked the scoring punch necessary to a great basketball team. It has scored 200 points, an average of 50 per game. Newton's league record now stands at 4-4 with 6-4 overall.

Next week Newton takes on Arlington and Newton South.

For Latin it was their fourth tie in a row and put them into a third place tie with Waltham. Newton remained in second place, four points behind league leading Arlington and two points ahead of Latin and Waltham.

Newton started things off at 1:43 of the first period when Donny Gallagher collected a rebound of a Mike Dezotell shot and shoved it past goalie Bill Kelley. Seven minutes later Dave Botelho evened the score.

In the second period, Bob Cotter's goal regained the lead for Newton. The one goal advantage was short-lived however, because 21 seconds later Don Harrison scored the final goal of the day.

Special credit must be given to goalie Kelley. He made 25 saves. The amazing thing about him is that he is only 13 years old. He has three seasons of varsity competition remaining.

Color Code In Home Is Urged For Its Safety

NEW YORK (UPI) — Why not color it safe?

What color is safety? At a street corner it's the red of the stop sign. Near a school it's the yellow of the caution sign. On a curve it's the white of the double center line.

But what color is safety at home? A paint company (Acme Quality) comes up with some suggestions to color code the home for safety.

For example, basement steps, common safety hazards. The company suggests painting the top and bottom steps a bright color like red or yellow, so that the climber always will know when he has finished his climb.

Church, 1313 New York Ave. N.W., Washington, D.C. The registration fee including three meals will be twelve dollars, payable at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church.

In the basement itself, or in storage attics or garages, apply the same bright color technique to any low overhead beam, any column or projection that could be bumped by the unwary.

To save annoyance, and perhaps injury, while groping for light switches in the dark, why not coat them with reflective enamel? Reflective paint on the doorknobs of cellars, attics, stairwells and dark hallways is a good idea, too.

Speaking of hallways color them light. Light-colored walls offset any lack of illumination and make corridors not only safer, but more attractive as well.

And don't forget your home's safety equipment. Paint it, too. Fire extinguishers traditionally are red; first aid kits bright green.

Finally, if there are small children in the home, be sure to use only a completely safe paint on doorknobs, door frames, window-sills, stair rails and other spots that tiny teeth are apt to chew on.

Business Tax Problems Are Seen In Offing

CHICAGO (UPI) — Owners of business property should be alert around this time of year for new tax assessment notices, according to a property tax consultant.

"There is a brief time to challenge your new assessments or else you lose your rights to do this," says Carl E. Vogel, president of National Bureau of Property Administration, Inc., property tax counseling firm.

"The varying assessments ratios, changed regulations and assessments, and new personnel yield many tax problems. Tax bills are often sent out in error and many companies simply accept the local assessor's analysis of their situation as the only one possible."

Changes in tax bases occasionally occur without notification to the companies involved, according to Vogel. He said methods of assessing values to the benefit of a company often can be worked out with complete agreement of the local assessor.

"Tight Money" Affects Church

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—The number of new congregations which The American Lutheran Church is able to establish has been sharply curtailed by "tight money," according to the Rev. Dr. Dale Lechleiter, executive director for the ALC's board of American Missions.

Pointing out that interest rates at which the ALC is able to borrow money for its Church Extension Fund have risen from about 4 per cent a few years ago to 6½ per cent, the Rev. Dr. Lechleiter said the number of new missions during 1966 will total 38, compared with 65 in 1965, and may drop to a record low of less than 20 in 1967.

Develop Device That Purifies Polluted Water

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) — Agricultural engineers at the Pennsylvania State University have developed an electric pasteurizer capable of purifying water used by an average family of five.

Professor Mark D. Shaw, of the agricultural engineering department, said the pasteurizing system, developed in an attempt to solve the problem of polluted water in rural areas, uses conventional electric water heaters to heat and store pasteurized water.

A heat exchanger is used to pre-heat the incoming water and to cool pasteurized water for drinking or other uses where hot water is not needed. A control system makes certain water does not leave the unit until it has been at the pasteurizing temperature of 145 degrees Fahrenheit for 30 minutes.

Work in developing the pasteurizer was begun in 1961, Shaw said, when Pennsylvania health authorities reported that about half of the individual water supplies tested each year were found to be polluted. Cost of pasteurizing water for two adults and three children amounts to less than $3 per month.

Topeka — About one-fourth of the area of Kansas is planted to wheat fields and this state is said to produce about one-fourth of the annual wheat harvest of the U. S.

Student's Name For Mountains

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — A University of California student has a series of nunataks named after him, and few persons can top that. Nunatak is an Eskimo word for hill or mountain surrounded by a glacier.

The nunataks are located in Antarctica where electrical engineering graduate student Oliver C. Morse III "wintered over" in 1960 as an engineer for the National Bureau of Standards.

The U.S. Board of Geographic Names notified Morse of his honor, but all he has to do is identify his landmark as a pair of map coordinates. The nunataks are located south of the Law Glacier and west of the Queen Alexandra Range.

The Berkeley student, from Novato, Calif., says he has never seen the mountains. Antarctic geographical features are generally named for persons who spend a winter there. Morse was a deputy scientific leader in charges of a program to measure the height and density of the ionosphere.

"We look upon Newman House," said Stuart B. Martin of 10 Doris Circle, Newton, president of the parent group, "as a complement to the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine classes currently conducted for public school students."

"Newman House is unique, however, in the fact that it will be owned and directed by the parents of Catholic students in Newton high schools, organized as a non-profit corporation," he continued.

While Newman House is aimed at Catholic students, Mr. Martin added, it should not serve to create an artificial barrier between these students and those of other religions.

"Through interfaith dialogues, meetings with youth groups from local churches and synagogues, and through programs emphasizing Christian brotherhood, we hope to make a significant contribution to the easing of any tensions that may exist among the various religious, ethnic and social groups of Newton."

To carry out part of this ecumenical program, an "Open House" is scheduled tonight (Thursday) at Newman House for all the Protestant and Jewish clergy of Newton and their wives.

"We are really operating on a shoestring right now," said Mr. Martin. "About all we have at present are a house, a big debt and a lot of ideas. We have been greatly encouraged though, by the response of the clergy, parents and teachers, and we are confident that when September comes, we will be in full operation."

The idea of establishing a parent-directed center for religious education took hold of the founding group early last year.

"A significant but fractional proportion of Catholic students in the public schools attend their parish religious education classes," Mr. Martin stated. "While priests and laity alike are struggling with great dedication and generosity to strengthen this program, it is obvious that new approaches must be found to assist them in the crucial task of forming these young students."

Newman House is such an approach," he said, "a parent-guided center on the very doorstep of Newton High, where Catholic students will receive help and direction in developing Christian values, where programs attuned to their secular studies and other interests will be at their disposal, and where they can find the opportunity for religious services at times convenient to their school schedule."

A vital principle in the operation of Newman House will be participation by the students in planning and conducting their programs. A full-time lay manager is planned for the House, but a program committee will be formed by students so that they may make a substantial contribution to the activities of the center.

In forming Newman House of Newton, Inc., the non-profit corporation which owns the building, the founders sought the advice of Bishop Eric F. MacKenzie, pastor of Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre. Bishop MacKenzie personally secured the approval of Cardinal Cushing, and in an open letter to the founders wrote:

"I willingly endorse the Newman House project for high school pupils in Newton. It is the first such teen-age center, definitely aimed at reaching and helping a group that is sometimes seriously confused, uncertain and frustrated."

"I and the other Newton pastors gladly accept the help of a dedicated group of laymen and laywomen, knowing that they as well as we have a Pentecostal mission within the People of God. In fact, there are many avenues open to lay Catholics which cannot be immediately and directly entered by the clergy."

Members of the Board of Directors of this new venture are Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Barry, Mr. and Mrs. Gary P. Brazier, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Bresnahan, Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Donovan, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Green, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Peter F. Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart B. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Francis G. Mazzola, Mr. and Mrs. John T. O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. C. Joseph Pasquarosa, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent P. Stanton.

Growing Season Goes Indoors For The Winter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Winter doesn't blow the final whistle on the plant growing season, if you transfer your activities indoors.

Since most of us haven't the time to grow plants from seedlings, the appealing idea of living plants around the house is easier when you select professionally grown, quality plants. Properly maintained, they can be both a pleasing lift to wintered-in spirits and decorative assets to our homes.

There are a few simple rules for the pot plant gardener.

Plants should be watered thoroughly and, with few exceptions, allowed to dry out between waterings. More house plants fail because of overwatering than any other reason. That's why quality plants are grown and sold in porous red clay pots. It simplifies watering techniques to know that when the surface soil is dry the root-ball is not soggy, since clay containers allow excess water to evaporate through porous sides.

Every plant needs some degree of light—either sunlight or artificial lighting. Ask your florist, grower or garden center about these requirements. Don't try to grow foliage plants in bright sunlight or cactus in northern exposures.

Plant food is nourishing, but don't overdo a good thing. Most plants only need food once every six weeks or so.

Do check with your florist on the best temperatures for plants.

Homes have a tendency to become overheated during winter months. If this is true your case, provide some extra humidity for plants by standing them in pebble-covered trays or clay saucers. Keep the pebble layer watered and moisture will evaporate, giving off needed humidity.

LUGANO, Switzerland (UPI) — Smugglers always are busy across the Italian-Swiss border and their tricks are many. Recently police nabbed a frogman plowing through a border lake towing six cigarette-laden plastic bags behind him.

Changes -

He told his listeners that the high school might gradually work into a three-term-a-year schedule, with students and teachers going to classes during any two of the three terms and having their vacations in the remaining term.

Under such a plan all courses would be set up on a semester basis, so as to conclude with the end of a term. Mechem noted that there are a number of reasons for adopting a semester system that have to do with the subjects taught and not just with use of summer months.

"About this time of year, we are besieged with students who have failed a subject and cannot go on with it. We have students coming in continuously from private schools and moving into Newton," he said.

"With a semester system we could pay more attention to slower learners, for instance, by taking them out of their English class after many years and giving them remedial aid for reading skills and so forth.

"There is the new mathematics, which you have all heard about. There are new types of science courses, like earth science. On the other hand, it's ridiculous to think that chemistry, which was a one-year course in 1920 will still only be a one-year course in 1970," the Newton High principal declared.

Mechem mentioned that courses in linguistics and in philosophy had been started.

He outlined a program designed to widen greatly the present work-study programs at Newton schools and to give students an opportunity to take both technical and academic subjects.

He explained that extended work-study programs would better prepare students for employment but would also give them an opportunity to see the need for schooling and help combat the drop-out problem.

The present pattern in Newton Technical High School, where students concentrate on shop courses for a week and the following week have all academic courses, would be changed by the merger with Newton High School to a half day devoted to technical studies and a half day devoted to academic work.

This shift would permit the boys from Newton Technical High School to take courses in subjects like art, music and languages, with other pupils. It will also place them in coeducational classrooms.

Allowing students to experiment with technical or with academic courses was another reason why the high school desired to let students pick up courses at other times than September, Mechem observed.

"We originally came out for a 'far-out' program," the principal remarked. "It involved classes from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. in blocks of three periods, four periods, and up to ten periods a week."

"Like many far-out proposals this one provoked a reaction on the part of teachers and parents. They thought it would restrict people rather than free them. We do not want to extend the school day for individuals," he continued.

"On the other hand, the present practice of cramming 3000 people at one time into the high school building and releasing them all at one time, does not make sense," Mechem said.

Mechem declared that after moving back from the more radical proposals the planners had adopted a three-pronged reorganization comprising the three terms with a semester division of full year courses, a longer day, and a home room period at 11 a.m. to take in both pupils on the traditional early schedule and pupils on an afternoon schedule.

"The most important aspect of our new programs to be put into effect next September will be the move to a three-term system. This will be tailored to our present programs, and for many pupils there will be no difference in schedules," Mechem said.

"We will offer all courses on a semester basis. A typical fall semester course runs for 18 weeks with four periods a week. A summer course will have two periods a day, five days a week and will run for seven weeks, with a total of 70 classes, a difference of only two as compared to a fall or spring course."

"How will we use this? A youngster may come into high school and find himself or herself in the wrong class with little chance of success. He or she can begin a new course in the second semester and pick up the second half of that course in the summer."

"This will also permit students to go through school more rapidly. This is not our object. We do not think there is any hurry, but we anticipate that some parents will want their children to go through high school more quickly," the principal asserted.

"We never anticipate summer school being compulsory either for students or teachers. We suppose that eventually some students and teachers will go to the summer session and take the fall or spring off."

"We are also going to move to a voluntary longer day. Our full program will be completed by 2:45 each day, but we will experiment with two extra two-hour or 105-minute blocks. The double periods will be for courses given Monday, Wednesday and Friday or Tuesday and Thursday."

"We will place in the double blocks courses we don't offer or offer with difficulty. For instance, Music and Physical Education can hardly be started in just one period."

"No student or teacher will be scheduled into the afternoon blocks, unless they so request."

"Eventually, schedules will be arranged so that those who elect the afternoon blocks won't have to come so early in the morning, so that their day will not be lengthened."

"We are moving the home room period, which is traditionally the first period, to 11 o'clock."

School Committee Chairman Harold J. Berman noted that he saw problems for students who leave home later in the morning than their parents, or who have free time during the day. He also pointed out that late afternoon classes may interfere with extracurricular activities.

"Will a student always be able to remain on an 8:25 to 2:45 schedule or will this limitation become illusory with time?" Berman asked.

"We anticipate a great deal more communication with parents," Mechem answered. "If parents believe that problems will arise otherwise, we will arrange for the student in question to be in school at 8:25."

"There is also a philosophical answer. It seems unreal to control the youngsters as we now do for five days and then allow them complete freedom on the weekends," he declared.

"We are hoping to break down the harsh line between being in school and being out of school. We hope that the students will then realize that they are in school to get help."

"Students will get a beginning and an end to their day's schedule and will not be free to leave in between. They will have to understand the system, but youngsters are pretty good at that."

"As for extra-curricular activities, at present, in the spring at 3 p.m. there is not a square foot free outside of Newton High School. At 5:30 there is not a soul left," Mechem maintained that present facilities are inadequate to handle all students immediately after school.

"Many of the athletes want different programs in spring and fall," he added. Now there is a conflict between athletics and the student council which also meets after school. It is very difficult for a student council athlete to be effective."

"It may be that what we do not now think of as a part of our program will be considered such by the student some day. For instance some student may object to our having the philosophy class in the afternoon."

In answer to a query by Committeeman Edwin Hawkrige, Mechem noted that high school authorities were trying to obtain some kind of a picture from the students as to the direct impact of the individual schedules on transportation.

He said that some students do not now stay for extra curricular activities because of transportation difficulties, but that he had not been able to obtain any consensus from the students.

Hawkrige also commented that some colleges have adopted a four term system with reduced intensive courses.

School Committeeman Francis P. Frazier observed that the new flexibility in choosing courses would make it easier for a student in the technical program to change to the college program than has happened in the past for students of the Technical High School.

Vincent P. Stanton, School Committee member from Ward 7 pointed out that even if summer school were left on a voluntary basis, if it became an integral part of the curriculum, the School Committee might have to eventually reconsider its policy of charging tuition for the summer school.

Stanton also called for a study of teacher reaction to an enlarged summer program.

Find Witches Plentiful In Eastern India

By R. C. PANDE
United Press International

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Few people believe in witches any more, but in eastern India witches, sorcerers and tiger-men abound.

Not every person in eastern India believes in the local witches, of course, but those who don't seldom advertise it. Why tempt fate?

Especially when fate has a pretty strong case. According to official government statistics, in the former principality of Mayurbhunj no fewer than (and possibly more than) 38 murders have been attributed to witches during the past five years.

According to Nityanand Das, the chief officer of the Mayurbhunj Tribal Research Bureau, "even the most educated persons" in his area believe in witchcraft. He said witch doctors and sorcerers are in great demand in the countryside for the treatment of "evil influence of evil spirits" and snake and scorpion bites.

Witch doctors also are called upon to provide sons to Hindu families and fees are high because only a son can offer "food and water" to the departed soul of the father.

The witch doctors also mediate land disputes and track down thieves.

In the lower belt of the western Himalayas there are legendary man-animals that prowl the jungles as tigers at night and take on the appearance of men in the daylight.

Cases are on record of such tigersmen of the Bok-Saah region having gone from village to village raping and robbing in a most organized orgy of destruction. Few of these cases are reported to the police, however, because of fear of evil spirits.

Nityanand Das knows how great the problem is. He also believes in witches.

Thirsty Cows

A dairy cow drinks up to 120 pounds of water a day.

Whitmore, Mechem stated that students would be able to take two courses in the summer session for a total of five credits.

In reply to a question by Committeeman Manuel Beckwith on the effects the new plan would have on the budget, Mechem stated: "We will be increasing our staff by about five persons a year until 1970, but this has nothing to do with the new plan."

"The new personnel will reduce class size, and will free some of the staff for curriculum development. It will also allow small groups seminars to take place," he said.

"For that we need space, not only personnel. Space is a capital investment. I don't believe that education with more space need be more expensive," Mechem continued.

"It is hard to foresee development in the area of electronics. We have to make decisions about what equipment we ought to own, as opposed to borrowing it from industry. This equipment is very expensive and it has a short life span."

"This is another argument for flexibility. The students need expensive equipment. We should have the students in local plants as much as possible and extend work study to more sophisticated areas like computers. We have them go out now, but it takes quite a block out of their day."

School Committeewoman Norma W. Mintz lauded the flexibility and individual opportunity now achieved by the high school. "Given the number of students and the physical situation of the school it is amazing," she said.

Big Business

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sneezes sound a busy note for tissue makers. U.S. papermakers this year will produce about 300,000 tons of disposable tissues—enough, they figure, to "dispose of" approximately 141 billion sneezes, according to a study by the Kimberly-Clark Corp.

The study says Americans will suffer an average 2½ colds each this winter, for a national total of almost 500 million colds. Since its introduction 41 years ago, the pioneer in the disposable tissue field (Kleenex) has sold nearly 2 trillion tissues, says Kimberly-Clark.

By K. C. THALER

United Press International
LONDON (UPI)—Developments on both sides of the Iron Curtain suggest that 1967 may witness significant efforts to unfreeze the international diplomatic immobility brought on largely by the Vietnam conflict.

The three major spheres in which new moves are anticipated in the new year are: Europe, East-West relations and the Inter-Communist conflict.

The maneuvering has already begun, foreshadowing shifts in positions that could pave the way for eventual concrete advances in the big power game.

The Vietnam war remains a major brake on fast improvements but the Russians, who have been stalling on any meaningful talks with the West while the Southeast Asia conflict remains unresolved, have given strong indications they want to resume the East-West dialogue.

The United States is more than willing. President Johnson last fall appealed to the talk may try to camouflage the fact. And Russia has begun to realize that Red China is turning into a potential enemy, who could endanger even the territorial integrity of the Soviet Union in the long run.

The Kremlin leaders appear to have made their decision and 1967 is expected to see an all-out Soviet effort to isolate Red China effectively from the rest of the Communist world.

This Moscow decision is the likely key to a changed Soviet approach towards the West. Red China is isolated, Moscow's hands will be freed and the Kremlin would be able to resume negotiations with the United States for a wider East-West rapprochement.

In Europe, finally, two major developments are in progress.

20 More Local Writers Listed In "Who's Who"

Twenty residents, or former residents, of Newton have been listed in Boston Authors Now and Then, the sequel to Notable Boston Authors, published last year by Dresser, Chapman and Grimes. The author Mildred Buchanan Flagg, herself a Newtonite, for many years has just recently moved to Syracuse, N.Y.

In her book she has continued her careful, documentation of our poets, journalists, writers of science and science fiction, children's stories, travel books and biography...all members of the Boston Authors Club founded in 1900 by Julia Ward Howe and Col. Thomas Wentworth Higginson. The twenty area writers listed in Now and Then are in addition to the thirty-eight Newton writers discussed last year, including Bill Cunningham, Pulitzer-prize winning Arthur Walworth, Haydn Pearson, Edward F. Sheehan, Charles J. Connick, Sara Ware Bassett, E. E. Whiting, Isaac Asimov and many others.

Among the Newtonians listed in the recently published literary "Who's Who" are Captain William Greenough Schofield, the Rev. Francis and Harriet Abbott Clark, their son, Sydney Clark, Dr. Harold J. Berman, Dr. Amos Wilder, the Rev. Charles McConnell, Dr. Harry H. Crosby, Dean Howard M. LeSourd, Principal Harry L. Walen, Edward Pierson Hendrick, P. Albert Duhamel, Amos R. Wells, Virginia Tashjian and Elvajan Hall — Librarians, Ruth Chessman, Lucy Poate Stebbins, Professor Arthur Warren Hanson and others.

Three of the Patrons of the volume are Newton citizens—Arthur T. Gregorian, author and rug merchant, James M. Perkins, philanthropist and patron of the arts, and Dr. Wilfred Chagnon, pharmacist and community and civic leader. The book is dedicated to Julia B. Williams of Cham, Switzerland and to Nancy Ferard Gibney of St. John, Virgin Islands, the daughters of the author, both of whom were educated in the Newton Schools.

As Edwin D. Canham, Editor of the Christian Science Monitor who formerly lived in this city, pointed out in his foreword, "both editors and general readers alike are grateful for the way in which the author has assembled pertinent information and presented it in a non-pedantic way."

Covered Widely Varied Subjects

Captain William G. Schofield, editorial writer for the Boston Herald-Traveler Corporation since 1952, a newspaper man for more than thirty years, whose foreign assignments took him to Asia, Africa, Europe and Latin America, covered stories from the Berlin Airlift to the Lebanese Landing and from Papal audiences to the journeys of Krushchev, was a naval officer during World War I. He saw action in all the theaters of war before being called to the Navy Department in Washington in 1945. He is the author of ten books and many magazine articles, among them Ashes in the Wilderness, The Cat in the Convey, Destroyers Sixty Years, Treason Trail, a superb job of reporting the personalities and careers of all six American radio traitors of World War II, including "Tokyo Rose," "Axis Sally," and others, and Seek for a Hero. Captain Schofield was the organizer of the Freedom Trail project which brings thousands to this Commonwealth each year. He lives with his attractive wife, in Hunnewell Circle, Newton.

It is impossible to estimate the impact upon the world of the life of the Rev. Francis E. Clark of Auburndale. As author, clergyman and President-Founder of the Christian Endeavor Society he started a movement which spread through thousands of churches and reached to every corner of the globe. With his talented wife, Harriet E. Abbott Clark, also a writer, he encircled the earth to make young people "loyal and efficient members of the Church of Christ." Dr. Clark was the author of more than twenty books including Looking Out On Life, Our Journey Around the World, In Christ's Own Country and World Wide Endeavor.

Newtonite Now Lives on Cape Cod

Sydney Clark, "Dean of American Travel Writers" and author of more than forty books on All the Best In— series is the son of Dr. Francis and Mrs. Harriet Clark. He was born in Auburndale and now lives, when he isn't traveling, at Sagamore Beach on Cape Cod. He has covered most of the world, nine of his volumes being on European and Mediterranean lands, the others on Latin countries, on the Caribbean, on Bermuda, Mexico, and on Pacific areas, including Japan, the Orient and the South Pacific. During the thirties he was a ghost writer for Martha McKenna, a famous Belgian spy. Two of those books were entitled Spies I Knew and A Spy Was Born. Three foreign governments have honored him and Sweden made him a "Knight of the Royal Order of the North Star."

Two of Newton's Librarians are discussed briefly in Now and Then. Virginia Tashjian, author of Once There Was and Was Not is the Librarian of the Nonantum Branch Library of the Newton Free Library. She is also the Library's story-teller for children's programs presented by the library and by the Newton schools.

Elvajan Hall, Supervisor of Library Services for the public schools of Newton is the author of many books including Books to Build On, Land and People of Argentina, Pilgrim Stories, Pilgrim Neighbors, The Volga, Life-line of Russia. Just recently, Miss Hall has added to her many titles The Land and People of Czechoslovakia. A new book, Hong Kong will be published later in the spring.

His books of adventure include The Cruise of the Sally, Copper Colson's Ghost, God and Nature, The Divine Art, Aspects of Religion and many other religious books.

Lucy Poate Stebbins of Newton Center was a romanticist who wrote with the lighter touch. She came to this city by way of Japan, although she was born in England. Doubtless some of her literary ability was inherited from her mother's uncle who was the author of the classic Lorna Doone. Her own uncle, Ernest M. Poole was the author of The Trouble at Pinelands. In spite of the fact that Mrs. Stebbins and her husband had three children whom they brought up in Newton, the author found time to write many books such as Morning Glory, Old Adam's Likeness, The Tale of Genji, Take Heed of Loving and five other books.

Dr. Howard M. LeSourd, educator, writer, public relations executive and ordained minister of the Methodist Church, lived for many years on Waverly Avenue, Newton. He was Dean of the Graduate School of Boston University for eleven years and Dean of its School of Public Relations for six years. The leadership of Dean LeSourd and his dynamic wife Lucile, was widely felt throughout the entire New England area. When the family moved to New York, Dean LeSourd became an assistant to Dr. Norman Vincent Peale. Dr. LeSourd is the author of Builders of the Kingdom and University Work — United Lutheran Church.

Publishers, as editor of secondary school text books and himself a writer, lives with his family in Newton Highlands on a street called "Floral." Mr. Walen has been a teacher at the Newton High School and at the Newton Junior College. He is in his fourth term as Alderman-at-large for this city and he was the first president of the Combined Community Chest and Council and former head of the Red Cross Disaster Relief Committee. He is the author of The Family Travel-Camper and editor-author of Types of Literature. Mr. Walen is a direct descendant of John Howland who came over on the Mayflower.

Was Decorated In First World War

He was as interested in literature as his distinguished brother, Thornton, and he wrote nine books dealing with religious problems. Among these were The Healing of the Waters, Modern Poetry and Christian Tradition, New Testament Faith For Today and several other volumes.

P. Albert Duhamel, Literary Editor of the Boston Herald-Traveler Corporation and Philomathelia Professor of English at Boston College is a frequent reviewer for the New York Times, America, Catholic World and Boston Pilot. He is the author of many studies in literature and rhetoric. He has been teaching in Boston College since 1949.

Dr. Amos R. Wells, who lived so many years in Auburndale, is credited by Who's Who with being the author of more than seventy books which are listed by name and year of publication. Dr. Wells was a college professor, Editor of the Christian Endeavor World. He wrote at least one book, sometimes as many as four volumes each year!

His Decision Saved City of Bonn, Germany

Harry H. Crosby, who is credited with making the decision which saved the city of Bonn, West Germany from destruction during World War II, is a teacher and author who lives in Newton Center. As a result of his experiences in the Air Force, he received the Distinguished Flying Cross three times, the Air Medal five times, the Bronze Star, two Presidential Citations, and the French Croix de Guerre. Dr. Crosby, Professor at Boston University, is the author of Great Diamond Fraud, co-author of Language, From and Ideas, many TV scripts and editor of textbooks and magazines on Aircraft Navigation Systems. He has just completed a second textbook on rhetoric and is on sabbatical leave to complete a novel about life in Pakistan.

Often he was referred to as "a born teacher." By his students, he was affectionately called "Pop Hanson." Professor Hanson held many degrees, both earned and honorary. He served as Trustee of Suffolk University, was a member of the Massachusetts Bar Association, and an author of authoritative text books on accounting. He was Vice President and Director of the West Roxbury Cooperative Bank. He was the author of Auditing, Theory and Application, Problems of Auditing, Problems of Accounting, and one book entitled Theoria y Fiscalization de Contrab.

Report Shows METCO Program In Good Light

An interim report entitled "METCO—Its Past, Its Present, Its Future," has been issued by the New England Region, American Jewish Congress.

Termed a "lucid account of METCO," it dispels many misconceptions and brings up to date this pacemaking busing program.

Research for the report was done by co-chairmen Mrs. Harvey Handel, Mrs. Lawrence Dallin, Mrs. Norman Jacobs and Mrs. William Lerner, all of Newton.

To study the present operation of the program, which involves 220 boys and girls, a five-woman committee of the Emma Lazarus Chapter, A.J.C., conducted a survey to determine the program's effectiveness. They interviewed parents in seven communities, Newton, Wellesley, Brookline, Arlington, Lexington, Lincoln and Braintree.

The report contains the results of those interviews and evaluation by not only those involved but the METCO staff.

Karate Classes For Both Sexes Given At Clinic

Karate is not breaking boards nor is it just a method of fighting. It is considered by many to be a way of life incorporating Zen philosophy into its training.

This is the view expressed by Stephen Fagan of East Side Pkwy., Newton.

Mr. Fagan is the director of the Karate Clinic at the Academy of Physical and Social Development, 1240 Boylston St., Brookline. He holds a B.S., LL.B., and is currently studying philosophy at Harvard University.

He has been in the field of karate for eight years having studied both in this country and overseas.

He points out that in karate obe must combine both technique and principle. The punch as a mere movement of the arm is just that; however, when combined with softness, concentration, breath control, etc., then one is nearer to the true method of punching. Mr. Fagan points out that the internal as well as the external must be brought into play.

As such, this oriental art uses diaphragmatic breathing as an introspective device, and meditation as an essential part of the training.

Mr. Fagan states that this is where one must keep in mind the basic principle of concentration where the mind directs the energy, and the energy in turn exercises the body.

This is a key factor in attaining energy without tension, strength without hardness, pliability without stiffness, and tranquility.

People are attracted to karate for many reasons, said Mr. Fagan. However, the most prevalent is conditioning and self defense. Pliability, coordination and reflex synchronization are stressed. Mr. Fagan further pointed out that women as well as men can greatly benefit from this method of training.

Women Of 3 Churches Unite In Hospital Benefit

Tri-church day next Wednesday, February 1st, will unite the women of three Waban churches in a traditional work day for their community hospital.

The event has been held for over more than 35 years. In 1967 it occurs during the 85th year since the founding of Newton-Wellesley Hospital, and in the 80th year since the teaching hospital, an affiliate of Tufts University School of Medicine, admitted its first patient.

Involved are women's groups from the Church of Good Shepherd (Episcopal), St. Philip Neri Roman Catholic Church, and the Union Church in Waban.

A NATIONWIDE CALL TO WOMEN OF CONSCIENCE:

The barbarous nature of the war in Vietnam has recently been revealed in the Ladies' Home Journal, Redbook, Ramparts and the New York Times. Millions of American women have learned that most of the victims of this war are civilians and children. STILL, the Pentagon bombers fly. Each day more children burn, more children die.

STILL, Congress is silent, refusing to assume its role in formulating foreign policy.

WILL YOU BE SILENT, TOO?

If you believe that no cause, no country, no reason can justify this war... Then... take one day from work, take one day from your children... and

Stand up with thousands of women from all parts of the U.S.A. in WASHINGTON, D.C. this Feb. 8... when

WOMEN CONFRONT THE PENTAGON AND CONGRESS:

1. We will say to the Pentagon "STOP!"
2. Not the Generals — but the people through Congress, must make our policy.
3. Stop Drafting our sons to bomb and destroy.
4. We will lobby in Congress for:

AN UNCONDITIONAL HALT TO BOMBING
NO APPROPRIATIONS FOR BURNING VILLAGES
OPEN HEARINGS ON THE CONDUCT OF THIS WAR

We will meet to hear Congressmen and hear eyewitness reports from Vietnam.

Join us in front of the Pentagon at 12:30. Posters and lobby materials will be supplied. Bring signs designating your city and bring lunch. We'll have buses to the Capitol.

Please start collecting letters to your Congressmen. We hope to bring hundreds of letters to our Congressmen to show that their constituents oppose taxes for this war. We want to show them the growing moral outrage over the cruelty of this war.

THE CHILDREN'S WOUNDS ARE BEING INFLICTED IN OUR NAME. WE CANNOT REMAIN SILENT.
